The Social Side of City Life

Save Ships by Food Supply
If North America could next year provide the whole of allied (food) necessities, we could save 1,000,000 tons of shipping. The measure of ships saved by food supplied directly from North America is, until our shipping expands, the measure of ships for our own soldiers.—Herbert Hoover.

Bed Time Tales

Stuffing a Possum Skin

I WISH you could have seen Teddy "Play Possum," on the porch of the Jones farmhouse. He kept his eyes shut tight, until he knew the family was eating breakfast. And then that sly rascal looked out of the tail of his left eye, and he saw that the big dog, Ranger, was in the woodshed gnawing a bone; and with a cunning grin in his rough face, and a twinkle in his eye, Teddy Possum made for the tall timber, chuckling to himself every step of the way.
