

PORTLAND RING FANS GIVE AROUND $6,000 AND SEE GREAT SHOW

Kayo Kruvosky and Jimmy Darcy Fight Draw Before Biggest House in Portland in Years; McCarthy Knocks Lux Out and Bramer Shows Fighting Spirit of the Marines.

By R. A. Cronin

PORTLAND saw its greatest boxing carnival Friday night at the Ice Palace and pooled between $5500 and $6000 into the athletic fund for the Oregon soldiers in France, at Camp Lewis, at Camp Fremont, at Mare Island and at Vancouver barracks.

It was a good natured, patriotic crowd and it gave the referees the encouragement their excellent work demanded. Every bout was a star bout.

The Rival Assassins

Knockoutist Kruvosky and Battling Darcy fought like a couple of wild cats in the first round of their fight. They flailed away from going to go, sometimes in the ring and sometimes out of it singly and in pairs.

Portland Fans Donate $1200 to Swell Receipts

Gate receipts at the benefit boxing smoker Friday night will total in the neighborhood of $5500, according to estimates of those who handle the tickets.

The Portland fans dug down into their pockets and made a free-will offering of $1200 in cash, which will be added to the gate receipts. This is just another act of generosity on the part of the fans, who have contributed freely every time they have been asked to do so.

Frank Lonergan asked the fans if they thought any Hun could knock out Harry Bramer, and that started the ball rolling on the cash, five, tens, twenties, and up to Jack Barde's $100.

Then He Comes Back In the third Bramer's head cleared and he spent his time ducking and regaining his strength, while Gorman swung his left like a farmer's daughter hanging out a wash.

SENATOR LEWIS IS BACK FROM EUROPE

Growing Power of America on Battlefield Shattering Spirit of Hun Monarchs, Is Word.

New York, Sept. 21.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois returned here today after a week's absence following his visit to allied nations abroad. "It was the United States whose counter offensive led the war by driving the Germans 10 miles to the rear," said Senator Lewis. "This humiliation of the German military by the fresh troops of America has filled Germany with a sensation of wonder and terror."

"The spirit of German monarchs and the German military captains has been shattered by the knowledge that the people of Germany have awakened to Germany the weight and power of America, which means the end of German domination and the construction of what was the hope of the German people—a great commercial and scientific people in what was a peaceful German."

In these words, Senator Lewis, personal envoy of the president to Great Britain, France and the battlefield, summed up his impressions on his return in Germany's morale wrought by "America's answer" through the crusader under Pershing. One of the things he learned in Germany was the confidence and confidence of the German people are crumbling through the fear inspired by the indomitable spirit of the American fighting men.

Senator Lewis said: "Three important things are now established. The submarines have failed in their purpose of starving England, and of preventing America from landing her soldiers and supplies at the battlefields. The German general's boast that 300,000 would be the limit of men we could ever land has been answered by the landing of 400,000 American soldiers a month and, as I saw in one port, 50,000 in one day."

Government Needs Much Fir Lumber Says Van Duzer "Statements in the press in the past few days to the effect that Western pine and white pine would not be used in aircraft construction have given rise to the erroneous impression that the government has all the aircraft material it desires," says H. Van Duzer, chairman of the fir producers' board of the Emergency Fleet corporation. "Our office is being flooded with inquiries as to whether fir is still needed in the production of aircraft. The government needs fir in greater quantities than now being manufactured."

"Fir production in the last three months has materially increased, but it nowhere near represents the volume that must be had if the needs of the government for aircraft stock are to be met. No reason is assigned for the elimination of pine, but it is announced that fir and spruce production will be kept at top speed to meet the demand."

Political Crisis Discussion Fills Press in Germany Amsterdam, Sept. 21.—(U. P.)—German newspapers are voluntarily discussing the assertion of the Leipzig Tageblatt that a government crisis is approaching, due to the majority party's firm refusal to support a purely parliamentary government that will be independent of domination by military headquarters. Even the Progressives believe he is unfit to make peace. Developments of the situation depend upon the attitude of the center, which it is understood will be decided Monday.

PATRIOTISM FEATURE OF SECOND DAY OF BIG PENDLETON ROUND-UP

Pendleton, Sept. 21.—Patriotism was the distinguishing feature of the second day of the ninth annual Round-Up. It was reflected in the flags, the military band, military maneuvers of the guard and the little variations introduced by the cowboys. The fundamental purpose of the show itself is to bring funds for the Red Cross and the success of this purpose is assured. In every respect it is a wartime Round-Up and no one forgets the fact.

The big grandstand and bleachers filled early. There was a crowd that showed no unmistakable terms that those at home, though their hearts are yearning, believe in turning the "dark cloud" inside out.

Colonel John Leader who served in the battle of the Somme, was one of the Liberty loan speakers. While the colonel was speaking in front of the grandstand, J. D. Zercher, field manager for the loan and Max Mills of the spruce division, from other parts of the arena, urged the purchase of bonds.

A. Neylor, riding a McCarty string, again attracted attention by his relay, but Chester Parsons and Max Gunt made a race of it. Neylor's changing of saddles gave him a margin. In the bucking contests the horses seemed to get the spirit of the crowd and did better bucking than yesterday. Likewise were better exhibitions of riding.

Champion Canutt Wins Ovation Colonel John Leader who served in the battle of the Somme, was one of the Liberty loan speakers. While the colonel was speaking in front of the grandstand, J. D. Zercher, field manager for the loan and Max Mills of the spruce division, from other parts of the arena, urged the purchase of bonds.

Rapid Work Done In Mailing Out the Questionnaires Volunteer helpers working with the exemption boards are aiding in mailing out questionnaires to registrants and doing other clerical work in connection with registration.

Local board No. 2, with the largest registration, more than 6000, will have completed the mailing of its questionnaires by evening, doing in just four days what they were allowed 10 days to accomplish.

A vast amount of clerical work has been involved by changes of address. Since September 12, about 250 registrants in division No. 2 have moved, and this means a great deal of address on a half dozen or more forms on file in the board's office.

Exemption boards today issued a request to proprietors of hotels and rooming houses to make special effort to see that questionnaires are delivered to tenants. Being sent out in manila envelopes, the first impression is that they probably contain advertising matter and several reports reached Board No. 2 that such envelopes were not handed to registrants at all. Inasmuch as failure to return questionnaires promptly subjects a man to serious inconveniences, cooperation is asked.
