Your Confidence

means so much to us that the desire to obtain and retain it directly influences every business transaction we take part in.

When we buy merchandise, our one thought is "Will this quality and style measure up to our customers' expectations? Will it prove so satisfactory that she will make future purchases with the confidence that she is getting all she is entitled to?"

This same thought is uppermost when we plan a special event; when we write an ad; when we plan any change in our service equipment; when we engage the services of a salesperson—and, unless the answer is an affirmative one, we reject the proposition, no matter what it is.
