CONSIDER WOMEN

Cigar Dealers to Keep Stores Open Until Industrial Welfare Commission Makes Ruling.

Pending decision, by the Industrial Welfare commission of the question of allowing women to work in stores during the evening cigar merchants and other small storekeepers announced today that they would continue to keep their places open, in spite of the appeal of the State Council of Defense. Relief from the situation that face them in the loss of their men clerks in the next draft was asked of the commission Monday. The problem will be formally presented Wednesday afternoon. The dealers seek to have the ruling preventing employment of women in the evening, except in confectionery and hotel cigar stands, modified or rescinded as a war

E. B. McNaughton, chairman of the commission, said there was an element of unfairness in the ruling.

Julius Louisson, speaking for the cigar men, said: "It does not seem right or just that a man doing an exclusive business should be penalized. Other men in the neighborhood may operate because they carry other lines, but if we release the manpower and cannot hire women, we shall suffer great financial loss. We would be pleased to have an age restriction and employ women of mature age and business judgment, and we would conduct our business in a dignified way. Those who do not so conduct their business should not be allowed to keep open."

"To close the stores at night would mean a great financial loss to many dependent families, and if they are open we will have to ask for a change in the ruling which prohibits women to work after 6 p. m. Our committee is not anxious to retard the progress of the war prosecution, but it is anxious to keep the small dealers from being hurt financially."

PRESIDENT INQURES WHETHER MOTIVES OF BEST

On the reply to this one question much will hinge. If Germany is willing to congress last January, then she voluntarily concedes defeat from the military standpoint, officials say. If she does not desire to do so, why then does not desire to do so, why then there is absolutely nothing to be done but for the allied armies to continue their operations until the German mile. ir operations until the German military machine is wiped out of existence.

Officials generally expressed their complete satisfaction this afternoon over the course that the president has taken. All along, they have pointed out, he has left the door to peace ajar. Today he has thrown it wide open if there is a sincere desire to end the war while at the same time he has snapped a trap which had been set in plain sight if the desire was for further intrigue.

Germany Alone Addressed Today's reply was sent only to Germany, the administration recognizing that after all that nation is the leader in the war and that her decision must of necessity be the decision of Austro-Hungary and Turkey.

Until a reply has been received from Germany the Austrian note and the Turkish, which is reported an route, will be retained by Mr. Lansing and will not be answered.

President Wilson's reply to the appeal of the Teutonic powers for an immediate armistice and a peace conference was completed just before most remarkable statements yet pubnoon today. At that time the prest-dent, who had been secluded in his study during the entire morning with for four or five years," said Mrs. Scott. Colonel E. M. House, sent for Secre-

with London, Paris and Rome. The general outline of what he planned was communicated to the governments there.

The one outstanding feature of the entire exchange has been the unanimity with which the entire United States accepted, from the moment it was known that a new peace offer was coming, the view that it would be rejected. One year ago, even six months ago, there was al-ways in evidence a considerable minority throughout the country who, when peace was suggested, came to the front with

FOR CIGAR STORES

All United for Decision

Today all this is changed. For 72 hours telegrams and letters have been pouring in on the leaders of official life and to the White House and state department. All are couched in the same general language. They demand that the war continue until Germany's military power is crushed and the great majority demand that the fighting conditionally.

Many of the messages received urged the president to demand a change in governments of Germany and Austria-Hungary. Others, many of which reached the senate and house leaders, favored complete indemnifications for ill peoples who have suffered from Germany's ruthless policy of destruction. Not a single message received in offi-cial quarters carried the slightest sentiment in favor of accepting the Teutonic suggestions.

Austrian Leaders Are Divided Officials also commented on the apparent effort of the Austro-Hungarian paders to make it appear that the present peace move was not forced by military necessity. The Vienna version that peace offer was "the last link of 1916 policy" caused much amusement here when it was contrasted with the address of Count Tisza at the reform congress at Budapest, when he boldly declared that "Bulgaria's treachry and the situation on the western front led us to decide, together with Germany, to undertake the peace step, Officials pointed out that this indicated rather conclusively that the Austrian leaders are badly divided at the present time.

Her Physician Said He Never Saw Such a Big Improvement

"I can hardly find words to express the gratitude I really feel over my wonstrength," said Mrs. W. B. Scott, who resides at 911 Normandie street, Spokane, Wash., recently in one of the lished in connection with Tanlac.
"I had suffered with my right side

It is getting worse, and until finally I was understood that he passed upon the advised that an operation was my only phrasing of the reply from the stand hope of recovery. When I went to the hospital I weighed 150 pounds, and left All of the information dealing with after a two weeks stay there weighing the situation within the central powers only 130 pounds, This operation was for gathered by the state department was an adhesion of the stomach, intestines and appendix, and for a while I seemed to get along nicely. But it was not long pains over my right kidney, and it was impossible for me to lay on that side. Then I was told I would never have a peaceful moment until I was operated on for this trouble also, and I just couldn't bear the thoughts of it.
"I had been reading about Tanlac but my husband would not hear of me taking it. At last I sent and got a bottle without this knowledge, as I was so anxious to avoid another operation, and that was one of the lucklest days of my life. Tanks soon gave me an enormous appetite and I have gained in strength and weight with every bottle. I am on my ninth bottle now, and have actually gained twenty-five pounds, which is all I lost. When my physician saw me about two weeks ago he said he never saw two weeks ago he said he never saw such an improvement in anyone and that the operation would not be necessary. You can imagine how delighted I was to escape the second operation. I have all my strength back now and I don't even feel it a task to do all my housework including my cooking. I have suffered since childhood with constipation and since taking Tanlac I notice a big improvement in this respect, too. I am glad indeed to tell my friends about Tanlac and several of my neighbors are now taking it on account of what it has done for me."
