

2390 GALLONS OF WINE SEIZED AND 12 ITALIANS HELD

Wine Presses, Vats and Grapes Gathered in by Police in an Early Morning Raid in City.

FEDERAL FINES ARE FACED

Revenue Officers Will Demand Toll After Prosecution of Cases in the Municipal Court.

Walls rent the air early this morning when Officers Rex and Wright made visits to the homes of 12 Italians and seized 2390 gallons of Italian grape wine.

Besides this, they seized several wine presses, vats, 60 quarts of home-made beer and about a carload of grapes.

At one place the officers found a concrete vat built in the basement, capable of holding several hundred gallons. At another home an old-fashioned screw press was found, around which was worn a hard path, showing that someone had walked about the press many, many times to squeeze the juice from the grapes.

Following is the report of the officers: Andrew Lawrence, 6410 Fifty-ninth street, 100 gallons; John Monaco, 5515 Fifty-ninth avenue, 250 gallons and vat; Sam Martino, 5609 Sixty-third avenue, 200 gallons wine and 100 gallons pulp; M. Gasper, 6324 Fifty-eighth street, 200 gallons wine; Vick Carlick, 6328 Fifty-eighth street, 150 gallons; Edward Glo-nett, 5504 Woodstock avenue, 250 gallons, wine press, vat and 60 quarts home-made beer; Pete Perick, 5515 Sixty-third street, 140 gallons; Sam Cimolo, 5726 Sixty-third street, 200 gallons; Raffaeli Marcone, 5724 Fifty-ninth avenue, 200 gallons; Flore Damico, 5735 Sixty-third street, 200 gallons, press, 50 boxes wild grapes; Matt Rovich, 6424 Fifty-seventh street, 100 gallons; Dominic Cabiato, 5515 Sixty-fifth avenue, 400 gallons.

All have been charged with violation of the prohibition law. After the police department and municipal court have prosecuted these cases, the internal revenue collector then has the power to collect revenue taxes and penalties.

Besides losing 1324 gallons of wine, S Pieretti, 405 East Market street, and D. Barbagli, 407 East Market street, may have to pay fines amounting to $1000 each. Thursday afternoon each was fined $50 in the municipal court on a charge of violation of the prohibition law. Pieretti was assessed a revenue tax of $400 Thursday, and it is understood that later may be fined in addition to the tax for violation of the federal law. Barbagli is to have his trial in the federal court later.

CRISIS IN GERMANY GATHERING HEADWAY

unable to agree on a program. They are said to admit that the army can do nothing to save the situation, although they are still claiming that the Hindenburg program will prevent any invasion of Germany by the allied forces. And they are said to be doing everything possible to prevent movement toward an armistice on the military terms which President Wilson has said were the only ones on which a cessation of hostilities was possible.

The degree of their success, however, will depend on whether the commanders in the field are able to continue to withdraw their forces with the comparatively small losses that have marked the retreat to date. And military experts here today said that they saw indications that this will be impossible and that the German military losses from now on will continue to increase at a very rapid rate.

The entire situation is developing so rapidly that officials believe that a few more days at the most will show just what is to be expected. If the liberals win in the Reichstag it is expected that peace leaders will take over control of the German foreign policy. Then immediate action to comply with the demands of President Wilson can be looked for.

Even if the liberals are not able to get their entire program across they will have succeeded in so increasing the powers of the Reichstag with a corresponding limitation of the crown's power, that a democratic Germany cannot long be delayed.

Bolsheviki Are Feared
The liberals are having the aid for the first time of many of the German millionaires who heretofore have sided with the junkers. These men are extremely fearful, reports received here say, that a German Bolsheviki movement is impending. Consequently they are urging reforms and peace at any cost for purely selfish reasons. Throughout all of the industrial regions of Germany intense nervousness is reported to prevail and some leaders say that the government really is faced with the alternative of "peace or a revolution."

President Wilson, it is officially stated, is ready for any development that may come. He has taken steps to safeguard the interests of the United States in every way. He will not countenance any exchange of notes designed by the German dealers merely to "keep the peace issue alive." But the moment that Germany shows she is ready to meet the terms recited for her benefit, in good faith, then the president will take the steps required to carry out his publicly announced program.

Ke Let-Up in War Program
In the meantime he has given orders that there shall be no let-up in the war preparations. The troops will continue to hurry overseas and every energy will be devoted to keep the supplies going to Pershing.

"There is no question that the war is won, but the actual end may yet be a long way off" is the way one of the high administration officials described the situation this afternoon.

But whether the end comes at once or is delayed for a month or so, it is inevitable. And every day that the war continues means that Germany will have just that much more to answer for, officials say.

Up to the present time there has been no indication that the German submarines have been ordered to return to port or that the retreating German armies are refraining from destroying everything in territory abandoned by them. That they did not do so, said by military experts to be due more to the fact that they did not have time to do it than to any desire to at least conform to the usages of warfare.

Take It or Leave It, Says U. S.
The report via Berlin that Germany was sending a further communication dealing with President Wilson's peace terms to Washington was cited in official quarters as evidence of operations of the German mind.
President Wilson's reply to the Germans' appeal was a decision. He set forth certain things that were necessary if Germany was to get a negotiated peace. The reported amendment of the German constitution so that the power to make war or peace is taken from the kaiser is a step forward.

But if the newly promised German note predicated its appeal for peace on this single step it will be decided dis-appointment in Berlin. The president's position is positive. He will not enter into any prolonged negotiations with Berlin. The terms he has set are to be peace. They can either take it or leave it. But they cannot initiate a series of communications and count upon misleading the American people into adopting their terms through a series of rumors that Germany has learned her lesson, is beaten down and realizes it and wants the interests of the German people looked out for.

Push German Propaganda
Officials here who know the president's mind and what they can do that they are convinced that is the present German program and they were outspoken in declaring that it has failed before it has even got well started.

In adopting this position, however, officials do not say that an early peace will not come. They are very hopeful that when Germany realizes that her military machine everywhere is on the defensive, and that its main aggressive powers have been destroyed, then the leaders also will realize that President Wilson meant just what he said when he pointed out the way to peace, and his advice then will be followed.

Officials again today pointed out that the moral and political factors rather than military policies loom very large in the present situation.

Conducting Able Retreat
The German army still is strong and it is conducting a well-organized retreat, sacrificing only such men and supplies as have to be thrown overboard to save the bulk of the army. There are few signs of complete collapse or of a widespread rout, so that the enemy army must remain a force to be reckoned with at all times. It is the morale behind the army, at home in Germany, that has been violently shattered and it is the force of pressure there that officials here say may result in compelling the downfall of the Hohenzollern dynasty and the creation of conditions which will allow peace that would save much to the German people.

All of these reports and many additional ones of a stronger sort are before President Wilson. He is expected to take every possible advantage of this situation when he frames his reply to the Austrian peace note. And there are many officials and diplomats here who believe that the president will be able to make a reply that will result in the defection of Austria from the alliance with Germany.
