

GERMAN ARMY ORDER DEALS WITH REMOVAL OF MEN IN RETREAT

Male Civilians, It Says, Are to Be Gathered Together at Concentration Camps.

By Bert Ford
With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Nov. 1.—(L. N. S.)—A significant German army order, which was seized by the Americans, deals with the treatment and evacuation of civilian population by retreating German armies. In part it follows:
"The evacuation of a male population capable of bearing arms can only partially be carried out because of passive resistance. Cooperation is necessary. Divisions will issue orders for all units to search each district systematically and deliver under guard at the kommandantur all men from 14 to 60 and all cattle for transportation. Concentration camps are established near each kommandantur for the civilians to be evacuated and stockades are provided for the cattle, which must be taken to the nearest slaughter house. All cattle fit for food will be seized.
"The horses will be used for collecting provisions. No horse is to be left in the country."

Protest of Voters Causes Removal of Woman From Board

Mrs. Ida Steinmetz, judge of election precinct No. 172, was removed by order of the board of county commissioners this morning, on complaint of Mrs. A. M. Wing, who declared Mrs. Steinmetz to be of strong "pro-Hun" proclivities.
"If this woman is left on the board, myself, husband and boy will be disfranchised for I will not allow a pro-Hun to handle my ballot," Mrs. Wing wrote in her letter of complaint. That she constantly upheld German ideals, employed only German domestics and sent her small son weekly to a German speaking Sunday school, Mrs. Wing declared further.
Mrs. Steinmetz had an American flag on her front porch and a service flag in her window, Mrs. Wing admitted, but declared the service flag represented the son of a half-brother.
Mrs. Wing's complaint was referred to County Clerk Beveridge who reported that it was well-grounded. Several other people had phoned him to the same effect, he said.

SPIES LEFT BY HUNS IN EVACUATED TOWNS ON FLANDERS COAST

Mob Threatens Restaurant and Shopkeepers Who Catered to Germans; Women Ducked.

By John T. Parkerson
With the British Army on the Western Battlefront, Oct. 31.—(Delayed.)—(L. N. S.)—When the Germans evacuated the Flanders coast numerous spies were left behind in the towns and cities. One was caught in a church tower giving signals and was immediately shot.
It has been disclosed that the Germans were constructing a series of enormous concrete defenses on the Belgian coast. There was a huge concrete cross, which was afterwards painted red.
During the past few days the authorities have been compelled to post sentries in front of restaurants that had catered to the Germans to prevent them from being wrecked.
There was one instance where a crowd in a restaurant compelled the owner to sing patriotic French, Belgian and English songs.
At Bruges an old German sergeant had charge of the famous belfry. On five days he hung out strings of flags the Germans had captured from the Belgians. When the Germans evacuated Bruges a civilian gave doped liquor to the sergeant, who was captured. Now the Belgians are hanging out their own flags.
In another town a number of women who had associated with the Germans, were mobbed in public and given a ducking in the canal.

GERMANS RETREAT BEFORE AMERICANS AND PIVOT ON METZ

Enemy Divisions Reach German Soil Between Meuse and Switzerland, Taking Their Cannon.

With the American Army Northwest of Verdun, Nov. 1.—(L. N. S.)—Reports from the second American army indicate a new German retreat from the west of the Meuse river towards the German frontier. Metz is the pivot on which the retreat rests.
Enemy divisions are already reported to have reached German soil between the Meuse and Switzerland hinting at an early abandonment of all territory west of the Meuse.
In connection with this reported withdrawal enemy artillery is being echeloned to great depth and divisional and corps headquarters are being shifted to the rear. Outposts are being drawn in and regiments are being placed in closer reserve for rear guard defense.
The enemy is apprehensive of an attack.
Some prisoners say that they saw giant guns loaded on trains at Metz for quick transfer into Germany, although this is denied by other prisoners.
Many narrow gauge railways have been torn up and artillery is being shipped from the front opposite St. Quentin to the Metz and Vosges regions, according to still other prisoners.
The artillery firing increased on the American front today and airmen and patrols attached to the second American army are active.

American Aviators Active

Washington, Nov. 1.—(L. N. S.)—Aviators on the front of the first army continue to visit havoc upon important railway centers behind the enemy's lines, according to General Pershing's communique for the evening of October 31, made public by the war department this afternoon.
"This morning," says the communique, "our aviators dropped three tons of bombs on the roads and dumps in the vicinity of Tilly, Saurcourt and Villers-Devant-Dun, and machine gunned enemy troops and convoys. In the course of the day seven enemy airplanes were shot down. All of our machines returned."
On the previous night French bombing units attached to the first army successfully raided Mezieres and Poix-Terron. General Pershing reports, dropping 12 tons of explosives on the important railroads in that region.
"North of Verdun," the communique continues, "our troops drove the enemy from the village of Eriville on the west bank of the Meuse. Artillery fighting continued lively on the whole front throughout the day, reaching particular intensity between Aincreville and the Bois De Bantheville."

FORD SAYS EMPLOYEE MENTIONED BY HUGHES IS DOING FINE WORK

Motor Company Chief Comes to Defense of Carl Embie and His Work at Detroit.

Detroit, Nov. 1.—(U. P.)—Henry Ford today issued a statement defending Carl Embie, head of the draughting department in the Ford Motor company plant, who was the subject of comment in the aircraft investigation report made by Charles E. Hughes. Mr. Ford said:
"The Ford Motor company has manufactured 1842 Liberty motors during the past month. That was about 300 more than were manufactured by the next highest factory. I do not know what better answer could be made to the criticisms. We started later than the others and have passed all the production standing up to the most rigid inspection in every particular.
"Our policy is to make men, not to break them. In times of panic great injury and injustice are often done to innocent persons, and we try to keep our heads."
"We would not allow injustice to be done to an old trusted and valued employee, even though he was born in Germany. The result speaks for itself. Mr. Embie, referred to as the special example in the Hughes report, has been with us a little over 12 years and he is a most able and excellent engineer and has always given perfect satisfaction. We, in the plant, know that he gave valuable assistance and man suggestions with regard to the development of the Liberty motor cylinder which are being furnished to all of the manufacturers, with a saving of $345,000 a month to the government over former prices."

Germany Now Finds Herself Alone With Enemies Closing In

London, Nov. 1.—(By British Wireless Press.)—(L. N. S.)—Colonel Reppington, writing in the Morning Post on "The Closing Book of the War With the Turks," says:
"It closes also the book of German Eastern ambitions. It releases two great British armies for other enterprises, if the war goes on, and opens up to us the Black sea and its resources. It also provides us with better means of aiding Roumania."
"We shall once more be in close touch with Southern Russia when the German-Bolshevik Black sea fleet is disposed of. Germany now finds herself alone, liable to be attacked on several fronts by a host of enemies and with no alternative but surrender or death on the field of battle."

At Corbett and Thomas streets a Fulton car ran into a soaped rail and skidded down the hill into an automobile, which was badly damaged.
Benches from Columbia park were dragged into the street and laid across the car tracks on the St. Johns line at intervals, and many switches were plugged, which caused car men trouble, labor and delay.
