

DRIVE FOR FOOD CONSERVATION IS TO OPEN NOV. 26

Herbert Hoover Will Have a Special Message That Is to Be Delivered From Pulpits.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO ASSIST

Granges, Lodges and Women's Clubs to Help in Campaign to Be Conducted in Oregon.

World relief week was replaced conservation week, previously scheduled for the food administration for the week of December 1 to 7 inclusive, an elaborate program for which is being prepared by food administration officials in Oregon.

The campaign will open up November 26, according to W. B. Ayer, Oregon food administrator, when a preparatory meeting will be held in Portland of all county administrators and one leading woman from each county, to receive instructions for the campaign and the special message from Herbert Hoover, brought by a member of the Washington, D. C., staff. During the remainder of the week meetings will be held in every county to instruct speakers on the message to be carried campaign week.

Hoover to Have Message. Herbert Hoover's message, which is at present a secret on the part of the food administration, will be revealed Sunday, December 1, from the pulpits of all the churches in the state. At this time the public will learn just what Hoover wishes them to conserve in particular and how he wishes them to do it, in order to feed the hungry peoples of Europe, and our own soldiers stationed overseas.

This same message is to be delivered throughout campaign week at meetings of all the fraternal organizations, granges, women's clubs and other groups.

On Tuesday, December 3, a large public meeting will be held in every county, at which a speaker will convey Hoover's message, smaller meetings will be held at more distant points in the county.

Public Schools to Assist. Women's clubs will have special exercises on Wednesday based on a program to be furnished by Mr. Ayer.

Friday will be public school day; each school to have special exercises based on a program to be published in the National School Service and sent to the schools. The school exercises will be in charge of the state school superintendent.

Orders Are Cancelled At Munition Plants

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 16.—(L. N. S.)—Industries in the Calumet region of Indiana, where 100 factories employing 150,000 men and women have been making munitions, received their first word from Washington today to ease up in the production of war materials. French munition orders at the Aetna Explosives plant were cancelled and a number of men were laid off. Munitions for the United States are still being made. It is expected that the man laid off will be idle only for the time it will take to convert the plant into a factory to manufacture acids and dyes for commercial purposes.

A Talk by Rosenthal's on Government Regulation and the Shoe Business

Every line of business is asked to cooperate with the Government. The shoe trade has been asked to curtail the number of styles in order that capital, labor, materials and transportation may be released. The Government has asked us to in turn seek the public's co-operation in making these regulations effective.

Unfortunately, false rumors, detrimental to the wearers of shoes, have appeared in the newspapers and we feel it our duty to state the facts as they are.

Shoe manufacturers have been asked by the Government to limit the class of materials and amount of labor expended in the making of shoes in order that shoes of good value and assuring a fair profit to maker and retailer may continue to be sold. Of necessity, however, this will eliminate, after present stocks are sold, all shoes of the very highest grades, which necessarily must retail at prices higher than will be charged for shoes restricted in style but which will not be on sale until some time in the future.

We have been asked by patrons if it is not "unpatriotic" to wear certain types of shoes. We answer that all shoes are patriotic shoes, for the Government expressly desires us and all shoe retailers to sell all shoes on hand at prices now prevailing.

After present stocks are exhausted certain beautiful and daintily colored shoes, now extremely popular, will not be obtainable. These were made in exact conformity with Government restrictions. When they are gone you cannot obtain them, however, at any price. Included in these numbers are the beautiful gray kid, two-tone and medium brown boots with French heels and turned sole boots. If you prefer these shoes of distinctive character and at present moderate prices you should take advantage of this opportunity.

Price and style restriction will affect all shoes—men's, women's, misses' and children's alike. And prices will be higher, quality considered, after present stocks are exhausted.

We have pledged ourselves to the Government patriotically to conform with the shoe restrictions, and have applied for a PLEDGE CARD which we will show in our window upon its arrival from Washington.

All shoe stores—wherever shoes are sold—have been asked to co-operate and to seek your co-operation, as we are doing.

German Troops Now In Camp in Belgium Reported in Mutiny

Amsterdam, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—A serious revolutionary outbreak is believed to be in progress at Beverloo camp, Belgium. Heavy gunfire was heard today from that direction.

Beverloo is a German camp in Belgium. Dispatches recently stated that German troops had mutinied there and shot one of their officers.

RUSSIAN REVOLUTION FOUNDERED UPON FOOD PROBLEM, SAYS PAPER

Manchester Guardian Points Out Necessity of Assisting Defeated Nations.

London, Nov. 16.—(U. P.)—(By British Admiralty Wireless.)—The Manchester Guardian, discussing the reconstruction of Europe today, said:

"The first Russian revolution failed because the nation could not get peace. Now Europe has peace, or the beginning of peace, and the one great obstacle to the success of a popular movement is thus removed."

"But the second Russian revolution fountered upon the food problem and it is the food problem which is the most urgent now, not only in Berlin and Vienna, but in every great town in Europe."

"Now in this matter there is clear solidarity of interest throughout the world. It is our business to do everything we can to help the infant democracies to stand on their feet, no matter whether they are neutrals or enemies of yesterday."

"It is our affair because there can be no assured stability in any one country as long as there is anarchy among its neighbors."

"Armed intervention is a remedy worse than the disease. But fortunately the assistance required of us is of a peaceful nature. What has to be done is to put the world's supply of necessities into a single pool and ration all the countries according to their needs."

"Naturally the allies' peoples come first, but so far as bare necessities go, there is to be no further distinction between ally, neutral and enemy. The only distinction will be between the country which can show an organized government to participate in the pooling and to undertake to distribute its share and the country which is too far advanced in anarchy for such participation."

gold, Koenig Albert and Friedrich der Grosse, all dreadnaughts of the Kaiser class, completed in 1912-13.

Five battle cruisers, the Derflinger, Hindenburg, Seydlitz, Moltke and Von Der Tann, are apparently all that Germany has available so far as so-called dreadnaughts are concerned.

Germany has available so far as so-called dreadnaughts are concerned. Bremen, Karlsruhe, Pillau, Frankfurt, Nuremberg, Koeln and Dresden.

Allied Ports to Receive Them. It is only if neutral ports are not available that German warships are to be brought for surrender to allied ports. But there is reason to believe that since the armistice was signed, neutral powers have made it perfectly clear that their ports are not likely to be available for this very irksome purpose and there is no doubt whatever that surrendered German warships will be brought into allied ports.

Surface warships, which are left to Germany, will be concentrated in one or more German ports, will be paid off and completely disarmed, and will be under supervision of a commission of surveillance appointed for the purpose by the associated powers.

Regarding German submarines which fled before the revolutionist, and took refuge in Swedish waters, there is no doubt they will have to be surrendered.

Regarding the Black sea, arrangements are now being made for the surrender of all ships in German hands. It is now practically certain these will be surrendered, without trouble.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The German revolution had its inception at the refusal of the high seas fleet to go forth for battle with the English and American navies.

This information was made public by the Wolff Agency and transmitted to Washington today in an official dispatch from Berlin.

The Wolff Agency, the dispatch adds, publishes an article entitled "How it happened," and this sheds light on the origin of the revolution. It says: "It is generally believed that the revolution broke out on November 5 after the victory of the sailors at Kiel. This is not exact. In fact, it had begun the week before. Kiel was only the scene of the second uprising; the high seas fleet was the scene of the first."

"The Pan-Germans wished to sacrifice their fleet in a last combat against England. The sailors, however, intercepted the letters the officers had written before taking leave of their families. These letters did not conceal the fact that the officers would die rather than deliver the fleet to England. But the crews, numbering 90,000, revolted, the sailors opposing the departure of the fleet. Negotiators engaged with the high command but these were of no avail. The high seas fleet received on October 28 the formal command to sail, but the officers were unable to execute it."

"Sailors by the thousands were incarcerated at Wilhelmshaven, but this action had only the effect of increasing the spirit of revolt. And finally the Kiel events took place."

"In connection with the mobilization of the high seas fleet, it is now an open secret to say that the allies and the United States who were fully informed of the moves within Germany, prepared the greatest concentration of naval craft in the history of the world to meet the German armada. Naval men in this country believe the complete destruction of the enemy fleet was averted only because of the revolt of its men."

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 16.—(L. N. S.)—Because of the shortage of male labor here on account of the war, women have been employed to clean the arc lights of the city and are making good at the work.

CONCERNING MURTAGH AND THE GIANT ORGAN

They are the color, the speech and the expression of our photoplays. They give joy to the happy scene, romanticism to the lover's theme, sadness to the death-farewell, impetuosity and dash to the cavalry charge; fury, rage and frenzy to the big dramatic scene; calm to a summer night, cold to an arctic scene.

Spruce Contracts Up To Nov. 12 to Stand

Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 16.—Some of the anxiety which came with the telegraphic order of the war department cancelling all spruce and air contracts, shutting off shipments, even the movement of cars already loaded with spruce, was dispelled by messages from the government which conveyed the decision to purchase material cut previous to November 12. This rift in the clouds has caused loggers and lumbermen to believe the whole spruce business will be satisfactorily adjusted later on.
