

PENROSE TAXATION PLAN REPUDIATED

Progressives of Republican Party Will Fight Attempt to Make Keystone Senator Leader.

By I. C. Martis
Washington, Nov. 21.—(U. P.)—So disturbing is the progressive stand against Republican "old guard" control of the senate that Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, will come to Washington today. It is said Hays will find a situation comparable to the fight on Cannonism. The fight today is on "Penrosism," as applied to the taxation policy of the government during reconstruction and afterwards. Before he comes here, it is said, Hays will have received a letter written by a leading progressive, insisting that Penrose be eliminated as possible chairman of the finance committee after the Republicans take control on March 4.

No Reply From Chairman
This letter, it is said, was mailed this week to New York, but as Hays has been in the Middle West he probably has not received it. At any rate no answer has come.

A prominent senate progressive today outlined the present status of the fight against the Penrose idea. He said progress has not been made in the organized. They have simply found themselves in accord on this point—that they would rather leave the Republican party in a vote for Penrose as chairman of the finance committee. They believe, said this senator, that election of Penrose would constitute adoption by the Republican party as one of its policies the Penrose idea of taxation, which is the raising of most of the revenue through a protective tariff, while big incomes and profits go practically untaxed. They do not demand election of a so-called progressive as chairman. They will be satisfied with anyone who does not agree with Penrose.

Rule of Merit Is Favored
They are not particularly concerned with the rule of seniority against which a fight is to be waged in both house and senate. They thoroughly favor, however, substitution of the rule of merit for the rule of seniority in choosing senate chairman.

The progressives have not mapped out any definite program of attack, but they believe that six of them, pledged to knife Penrose, can do it with the help of Democrats, and still not surrender Republican control of the senate organization.

More than six have already identified themselves more or less actively with the anti-Penrose movement. They have no hope that Penrose will voluntarily step aside and be content with the chairmanship of the naval affairs committee. They are not daunted by warnings of "regular" Republicans that they are endangering party success just at the moment of entering on control.

"We believe we will do the party a service," said this western progressive today. "If the Penrose taxation policy is adopted by the Republican party, not a Republican candidate can be elected in 1920 west of Chicago."

Vinton's Election As Senate Head Is Sure, Says Moser

Salem, Nov. 21.—Senator Gus C. Moser of Portland and Senator W. T. Vinton of Yamhill county were in Salem Wednesday conferring with Senator-elect Louis Lachmund and other Marion county Republican leaders on matters relating to Senator Vinton's candidacy for the presidency of the senate.

"There is nothing to it," Senator Vinton will be the president of the senate," predicted Gus Moser. "He has enough votes in sight now."

Senator Moser said that Senator Robert S. Farrell of Portland was considered Vinton's strongest opponent, while Senator Huston, who is a receptive candidate, is not making much of a campaign. Senator Eddy of Douglas county, the Southern Oregon candidate, will not have enough votes to make a very big splash, insisted Moser.

Just who the members are who are lined up for Vinton is to be revealed by later developments, as Senator Moser said it was too early in the game to mention names.

No wonder they stand in line sometimes!

This pulsating story tells of how happiness vanishes from the lives of Leneau (Mitchell Lewis), a trapper, and his wife when their baby dies. The woman's grief is unconsolable, but the sun shines again when a little boy kidnaped by "Red" Adair escapes from him and finds the Leneau hut. AWAR of MOTION
For the first time war transit by road is being conducted to a very great degree by mechanical power. This power is being used for moving artillery, machine guns and supplies, serving generals and their staffs, conveying orders and dispatches, and everywhere speeding up the work of executing the armistice. Never was the need of roads so apparent, and none would qualify for military necessities as well as those paved with
