Local Attorney WinsCharming Bride

Miss Ella Sturgis Is Married to Elton Watkins by Bishop Sumner.

CHARMING in all its details was the wedding of Miss Ella Sturgis who became the bride of Elton Watkins, a well known attorney of this city, last evening. The ceremony was read by the Right Rev. Walter T. Sumner in the chapel of the Ascension in the presence of about 50 friends of the young The bride was given in marcouple. riage by her brother, I. B. Sturgis, and there were no attendants. The ceremony, preceded by a wedding hymn sung by Miss Elleen Yerex. was most impressive, lavender chrysanthemums and greenery forming an effective background for the bridal party before the altar. The bride was levely in a simple fashioned gown of snowy net and filet lace with filmy veil falling to the hem of her skirt. An informal wedding reception immediately followed the ceremony at the home of the bride on 540 Elizabeth street. There was music for dancing and a dainty supper served from a table decked with Ophelia roses. The Misses Elleen Yerex, Esther Maegley, Marguerite Schanz, Virene Finley, Mrs. Leila Metcalf and Mrs. George Hawley assisted about the rooms. After a brief wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Portland.

An event of Saturday evening will be the dance given at the club house of the Oregon State Motor association. These dancing parties are always anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by the members of the club and their Reservations Made for More friends. Good music is assured, and dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. An interesting feature of all the winter parties of the club is the pleasant informality of the affairs. Those who do not care to dance often drive out and spend an hour or two before the huge fireplace and enjoy the hospitality of the house.

Astoria to Get Chapter of Opportunities Along Lines of Americanization Pointed Out at Meeting.

By Vella Winner THE great opportunities along lines of Americanization which are now open to the Daughters of the American Revolution, were fully discussed at the meeting of the state board held Tuesday at Central library, the state regent, Mrs. F. M. Wilkins of Eugene, presiding. Mrs. Esther Allen Jobes, chairman of the American citizenship education committee, outined her plans showing an extensive program along constructive lines. A call has come for the establishment of a chapter at Astoria and it is expected hat it will be organized, the opportunity among aliens there being unusually large. The chapters will now take up the making of refugee garments instead of Red Cross garments and dressings as they have been doing. Those attending the conference were Mrs. F. M. Wilkins, state regent, of Eugene: Mrs. Walter F. Burrell, state vice regent: Mrs. S. L. ### Big Bill' Hart Seen in Khaki

In "The Border Wireless," the new William S. Hart photoplay, to be seen at the Liberty Sunday, "Big Bill" appears in khaki. It is only near the close of the picture that he is so attired, however, because it takes him right up until the denoument of the story to outwit the Hun plotters who work against his interests throughout the action of the plot. The story has to do with German spies along the border, a hidden wireless and attempts of the Huns to notify their leaders of the time of transport sailings.

A beautiful telegraph operator played by Wanda Hawley, is the heroine.

until suddenly a sound was heard in the Great Forest like a pistol shot. It was Mother Beaver in the canal, close to the poplars. Her keen ears heard a soft footfall of some enemy and she gave the water a terrific whack with her long and flat tail, and the echoes rang through the Great Forest like a pistol shot. And at that signal of danger, all the Beavers dived into the canal and swam very fast, very fast indeed, for home-that is, all except Tom and Jerry's little brother, who was a naughty disobedient child. This little brother gave his mother much trouble, because he would not mind her, and so, now, in stead of diving into the canal, he stayed where he was, and said to himself Mother doesn't know what she is talking about.
