OREGON AGGIES HERE THANKSGIVING DAY TO PLAY MULTNOMAH TEAM

Game Thursday Will Mark First Appearance of Aggies in Portland in Two Years and Students Will Accompany Team to Root Against Supporters of the Red and White.

PORTLAND gridiron lovers will have their first opportunity of seeing a college team in action Thursday afternoon on the Multnomah field, when the Oregon Aggies line up against the "Winged M" team in the annual Thanksgiving day contest. There is a great deal of interest in the contest, judging from the big advance sale.

Hundreds of O. A. C. students will reach Portland Thursday morning to root for their team, which is confident of giving the clubmen a hard tussle for the long end of the score. Coach Hargiss is drilling the Aggies with all the hopes in the world of beating the "Winged M" aggregation.

Included in the line-up of the O. A. C. team are a number of former Portland interscholastic league stars: Joy Badley, Tucker, Thompson and Powell of the Franklin High school team, Lippman of Lincoln, and Knapp and Hodler of the Columbians.

Coach George Dewey of the club men put his players through two hard practices Monday and Tuesday nights and they are now ready for the whistle. Just how the club will line up against the Aggies has not been announced by Coach Dewey, but it is expected that the same players who started against Camp Lewis will be in the game at the opening whistle.

First Game in Two Years
Thursday's contest will mark the first appearance of the O. A. C. team in Portland in two years. The club members plan to turn out in great numbers to root for the club team. This year's aggregation is looked upon as one of the best that has represented the club in recent seasons. There is more teamwork to the aggregation and the players take a great deal of interest in the game.

The disappointment caused by the cancellation of last Saturday's contest by the marines seems to gradually disappear as the date for the Aggie contest approaches.

Captain Tom Louttit of the club team today issued the following statement regarding his interview which appeared in Sunday's Journal:

FOOTBALL

THE 105-106th football Squadron team will play the Sixth Squadron team of the Vancouver barracks Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club field. The 105th-106th squadron team is hanging up a good record this season, having defeated in but one contest.

Manager Drewery of the headquarters team is very anxious to play a return game with the military police eleven, but there seems to be little likelihood of the game being staged as the M. P.'s want to rest on their present laurels, says Drewery.

The Franklin-Jefferson contest scheduled to have been played this afternoon on Multnomah field, has been postponed on account of the Walla Walla-Franklin game, to be played in the Washington city Thanksgiving day. The postponed game will be played December 2. The Jefferson-James John game will be played December 6 instead of December 5.

The Columbia-James John team will tangle on the club field Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. The Columbians have been coached by Hughie McKenna during the past week and expect to make a great showing against the James John team.

Washington Defies California
Seattle, Nov. 27.—(I. N. S.)—To decide the intercollegiate football championship of the Pacific Coast, the University of Washington has issued a challenge to the University of California for a game at Berkeley December 7. Although California has not yet replied, it is believed acceptance of the proposition depends on the outcome of the Washington-Oregon contest here on Saturday.

Farmers Welcome Snow at The Dalles
The Dalles, Nov. 27.—A heavy snowfall opened the winter season in The Dalles Tuesday, completely covering the surrounding hills. The snow started to fall at noon following a sleetstorm in the morning and a heavy frost Monday night. Local farmers looked upon the snow as a benefit towards next year's crops.

NEW BOXING PLAN GIVEN FIGHT GOER

Smokeless Smoker Will Be Inaugurated When Heilig Is Taken for Boxing.

By R. A. Crona
PORTLAND is about to give to the world of sports the "smokeless smoker" but not the flightless night, or knight, as the case may be. It will be an experiment in boxing in these parts and to do with the casing of the nice, big Heilig theatre for the boxing bouts this winter. If you want your boxing fan to give up the golden egg, make it nice and warm for him. Ask any chicken fancier and he'll tell you that the biddy that is kept nice and warm, will lay twice as much as the Minora that has to shiver to keep body heat going.

But things will go even further than heat. The boxing fan will be requested to leave his cigars and cigarettes and the old pipe warm, because the theatre is used for things other than boxing and can't afford to have a smell of stale smoke clinging to the lace curtains. Also, the boxing fan will be requested to bring along his own sputum receptacle, as expectorating, or in the lexicon of the ordinary fight fan, spitting, will not be allowed in the way they spell "cut it out" in Honolulu talk.

Old Staff Is "Tabu"
Bill Pangle, manager of the theatre, sees the dawn of the millennium for the anti-smoke legions. He says that smoking cuts down the speed of the boxers, so lets out the smoking and have the boys show us some regular airplane fleetness," said Bill this morning. "The boxing fan will have a chance to come into a nice new playhouse and the place can't be left stale with tobacco smoke. Also, there is the ordinance against spitting during the time, so the boys will be asked to be careful."

He Grows Enthusiastic
"Usually, in his enthusiasm, the boxing fan may pick up a bench in the gallery and toss it through the proscenium arch, during the time, so let us take kindly to the new regulations. Let us make Portland 'first over the top' when it comes to having 'smokeless smokers.' I'm sure we will all pull to that end."

Thursday, December 11, is settled as the date for the first smoker of the boxing commission in the Heilig. The change from the Ice Palace was made because it was thought the big arena would be too cold for the boxing fans, although admitting that it is an ideal place for the smoker.

Matchmaker Tracey has four of his bouts signed and is now looking for an opponent for Morris Lux. He is thinking of bringing Billy Wright from Tacoma to meet Lux, and this ought to be a good fight.

MULTNOMAH TO START BASKETS GOING ON DEC. 1

College and School Stars Make Up Players in Annual House League.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club House Basketball league will open its season December 1 with a doubleheader. The league this season is composed of six teams and all of them appear to be evenly matched.

George Dewey, chairman of the basketball committee at the club, is looking forward to one of the most successful seasons in the popular indoor sport.

Sunday, December 15—Dewey vs. Thompson; Lewis vs. Reisch.
Monday, December 16—Barton vs. Reisch; Dewey vs. Holmes.
Thursday, December 19—Dewey vs. Barton.

Anderson Beats Miller Again
Seattle, Nov. 27.—(I. N. S.)—Joe Miller, former California crack lightweight, was given a hard time last night by Harry Anderson of Seattle, who won the decision. Billy Wright took a hairline decision from Johnny Wolgast. Leo Hook popularly walked over to the jaw of Billy Williams in the fourth round and ended the match.

"Cy" Noble Killed by Shell Hurlburt Death Is Confirmed

IN A story sent home from the Forest of Argonne by Joseph Timmons, correspondent of the San Francisco Examiner, who is with the 91st division, we ran across these paragraphs concerning a former football star of the Pacific Coast, who was killed by a German shell:

"Here in front of the wire lay stark tragedy. In the horribly grotesque attitudes of battlefield death were figures in olive drab, each covered by a raincoat which had become a shroud of olive drab. One shell had struck them down at the same instant. Their comrades had paused only to cover them, and then had gone on like veterans through that wire and across that field while shrapnel crackled in the air and high explosive shells gyrated the earth about them and machine gun bullets sang past their ears.

Finds His Friend
"Beneath one of those thin coats lay the torn body of a lieutenant I had known, not a Californian; a fine football star, a splendid, big upstanding officer, idolized by his men. His magnificent body had been no stronger to resist the shell than had the weakest body there. A splendid thing was done for, smashed instantly into a frightful thing.

"The big, homely face of this man was always lighted with a singularly winning smile. Almost at our first meeting he had called me 'Joe,' and in a short time I had come to admire and love the man as a rare product of the western slope. A great, genuine loss was inflicted by the bursting shell that blotted out that smile. I had seen many Americans dead on the field before, but not the bodies of men that I had known and loved. As I stood there shaken with grief and horror, a great revolting detestation of war came over me and a bitter, choking anger at the conquest-mad Germans who had forced this most horrible thing in history upon mankind.

Picture of "Cy"
Timmons has pictured a perfect word picture of one of the greatest backfield players in the history of football in the Northwest, the big, homely, lovable Elmer "Cy" Noble, University of Washington hero, whose death was recently reported.

The war department has confirmed the report of the death of Lieutenant Ralph J. "Spec" Hurlburt in action with the 91st division in the Argonne forest, where he, like "Cy" Noble, lies buried beneath the autumn leaves.

Department Sends Word
Mrs. Katherine W. Hurlburt, wife of the Multnomah club and University of Michigan football star, who was practicing law in Portland when he joined up, received word from the adjutant general's office in Washington, as follows:

"Deeply regret to inform you that Lieutenant Ralph J. Hurlburt, infantry, is officially reported as killed in action, September 29."

"Spec" was a son of Sheriff Hurlburt of Multnomah county.

PASS WINS GRID GAME FOR W. H. S.

Haak Tosses Ball to Dolp in Final Quarter and That Wins the Game.

A WELL executed forward pass—Haak to Dolp—in the final quarter gave Coach Virgil Earl's Washington high school football team a 6 to 0 victory over the High School of Commerce eleven Tuesday afternoon on Multnomah field. The play took the Commerce defense off its feet and happened so quick that the Southenders had no chance to break up the play.

Washington took possession of the ball following the recovery of a punt and on the first down Quarterback Otto called for the pass. It was a long one and Dolp grabbed it while running at top speed.

Tossed in a Scare
Commerce threw a scare into Washington before the end of the period, however, when Gridler recovered a fumble and ran to Washington's 10-yard line before he was downed. The Washington line tightened after Person had gained six yards and after carrying the ball for little gains in three downs punted out to midfield.

The game was hard fought from beginning to end. Both teams played up clean games. Dolp came within an ace of scoring on a forward pass in the second period when he raced 30 yards for a pass, the ball landing in his arms and bounding out at the same moment.

Commerce showed a variety of plays, but was unable to gain consistently against the Washington line.

The line-up and summary:
Commerce (0)—Washington (6)—
Officer Washington (6)—
Johnson L. T. Sorby
Van Buren L. T. Sorby
Bastian L. T. Sorby
Masters R. G. Dolp
Stringham R. G. Dolp
Chesley R. T. Dolp
Anderson Q. Dolp
Gridler R. T. Dolp
Person F. Hurlburt
Paulbach R. Hurlburt
Haak R. Hurlburt
Score by quarters:
Washington 0 0 0 6—6
Commerce 0 0 0 0—0
Substitutions: Washington, Dipper, Edlund, Edlund for Dipper, Cogges for Haak, Commerce: Livoff for Anderson, Heriz, J. H. Dudley, referee; George Heriz, umpire; R. R. Sharp, head linesman.

Portland Hunt Club Will Ride Thursday

The Portland Hunt club will hold its annual Thanksgiving paper chase Thursday as usual near the Hunt club grounds at Garden Home.

Riders should leave the Portland Riding academy not later than 9:30 a. m. The horses are Mrs. W. H. Warrens and James Nicol and they have planned the start of their trail near the club grounds at 11 o'clock.

This year for the first time the women will be allowed to ride in the race, owing to depletion in the club's riders due to the war. President Nait McDougall has invited all army officers to ride in the chase.
