PRAYER SERVICE WILL DEAL WITH COMING OF PEACE

Episcopal Church Arranging Definite Program of Spiritual Endeavor for Advent.

WOMEN TAKE LEADING PART

Bishop Sumner Commissions One Hundred Messengers to Carry Advent Call Into Homes.

Initial efforts for dealing with postwar conditions are being put forth by the Episcopal church in the diocese of Oregon during the Advent season. Several definite programs of spiritual endeavor are being carried out.

The women of the diocese are taking a leading part. Rallying to the Advent call, the Women's auxiliary has organized a campaign of prayer, and several hundred of the members are engaged in carrying it out. During the present week four hours a day have been spent in prayer by special intercessors in the parish churches. Pledge cards have also been circulated and signed. Many more women have pledged themselves to offer prayers in their homes and to attend sertain church services. The subjects of these prayers are a righteous peace, guidance for the delegates to the peace conference, church unity, the establishment of Christian civilization and a true democracy at home, as well as thanksg ving for peace and victory. At a speclal service at the Pro-Cathedral of St. Stephen the Martyr, Bishop Sumner commissioned a hundred messengers to earry the Advent call into the homes secure pledges for service and Eishop Sumner is also helping in the reorganization of the Portland chapter of the Brothcrhood of St. Andrew that it may be highly instrumental in welcoming back to the church the soldiers returning from overseas and from the camps in the country.

The clergy is doing its part in the campaign by preaching on general missions on the four Advent Sundays, stressing their vital relation to the achievement of Christian democracy the world over. The Thanksgiving offerings and gifts for the Good Samaritan hospital exceeded $2,000. A large amount of proserves and produce was also received.

Rector of St. Davids Has Unusual Subject

Under the general title of "Mankind and the Church" the rector of St. Davids Episcopal church will preach Sunday morning on the claims of Ethiopa and the black man's contribution to the enrighment of human life. Rev. Thomas Jenkins asks: "Shall the colored race be treated as an equal in the kingdom of God and in the new age of freedom and is the white citizen and Christian really ready to admit him?" The evening service will be based on the sixth commandment, "Thou shalt do no mur

It has been found necessary to change the location of the branch school on East Fiftieth street. A room on the corner of Fiftieth and Division streets has been secured and will be used jointly by the school and the Red Cross unit of the community. The school meets at 3 p. m. Sundays.

Wilbur Methodists

Plans have been perfected with the Multnomah hotel management by the Wilbur Methodist church to hold all committee meetings as well as all religious services in the hotel. The prayer meeting will be held in the Gray parlors every Thursday night. Last Sunday morning 10 new members were added to the church roll. The quartette is improving each Sunday in its work, and the singing of the congregation is a most interesting feature.

Red Cross Circle Meets in Piedmont

Piedmont Presbyterian church is the center of an industrious Red Cross circle which meets at 10 o'clock each Friday. The workers enjoy a noon looking after the interests of the Meth-luncheon in the church parlors. Sun- odist church in the war-stricken counseph is being studied in the Thursday planning reconstruction work in Europe evening service.

Planning and Belgium.

Because the Friends church has set its hand to a task so great and difficult that a part of the church cannot accomplish it, an "Every Member Movement" has been organized throughout the nation in which it is planned to enlist the aid of every Friend, whether old or young.

The work undertaken is a gigantic reconstruction plan in devastated France and Belgium and missionary work throughout the world. This work is threatened with partial failure, according to the central committee, through lack of support from Friends. The time between now and Christmas has been set apart as a period when in each meetworld shall receive consideration. The financial end of the movement calls for the raising of between $70,000 complete the $150,000 fund needed for the support of the 65 Friends missionaries and their work during the past year and a half. Uuless this fund is raised in full, the work on each field will suffer, according to the committee's report. The financial obligations can be met if each member in the denomination gives a dollar. In an effort to carry this plan to a successful culmination leading members and the clergy are presenting different angles of the work from the pulpit each Sunday. An offering for this work is to be taken on Christmas Sunday in
