Indispensable to Peace Such a league is now more necessary than ever. A large number of small nations have been reborn in Europe, and these will require a league of nations to protect them against the covetousness of ambitious and grasping neighbors. In my judgment, a league, is absolutely essential to permanent peace.—Lloyd George.

Strange Things On Boards At Heilig .

Carter, the Magician, Entertains With Tricks, Illusions and Sleight of Hand.

"CARTER, the Mysterious," makes you see things that you don't and lemonstrates again and often in his show opening at the Heilig last night, that the quickness of the hand deceives Carter's show is divided into three parts, of which part one is devoted to straight legerdemain and sleight of hand tricks. Part two is in the nature of an old-time spiritual seance, the sort that used to scare the wits out of us a few years ago-where the bells ring and the tamborines dance about, and arms wave and voices wail after the medium has been tied "securely" within the cabinet. Corinne Carter also gives a demonstration of so-called thought transference or mental telepathy, always an interesting performance, and Carter himself under takes to answer questions of the past being the sale at 50 cents per, of tickets entitling the purchaser to personal answers by mail. Business was good among the superstitious and gullible. Part three is styled a "spectacular illusion" in which an ill-smelling lion with a terrific voice, is transferred hence when he is about to take a bite out of the fair maiden who has displeased the grand high Mogul. The illusion was used by Carter during a previous vaudeville engagement in Portland. The attraction runs for the rest of the week, with matinee Saturday.

Maimed Soldier Typifies Undying Spirit of France

Paris, Dec. 19 .- (I. N. S.)-President Wilson today met a maimed soldier who typifies the spirit of France. The hero was Lieutenant Audrey Navin, now attached to the ministry of public works on special service. As the soldier saluted the American statesman, the latter quickly noted that Navin had been decorated with the Legion of Honor and the war cross with five palms. The lieutenant suffered three wounds during the war and one of them resulted in the loss of an arm. "The armies of France are wonderful," said the president to the officer. Lieutenant Navin saluted again.
