BRITAIN IS WILLING ANTIQUATED LAWS OF SEA BE REVISED

Changes, It Is Pointed Out, However, Must Be Consistent With Insular Position of Country.

ERRONEOUS IDEAS FEARED

Delay in Conference Between Wilson and Lloyd George Wor-

By Ed L. Keen

Paris, Dec. 21 .- (U. P.) - Great Britain is willing to go as far as possible to meet President Wilson's point of view regarding "freedom of the seas," according to the advance skirmishers of the British peace dele-

They say that Great Britain is fully cognizant of the necessity for revising antiquated sea laws. But they point out that any such revision must be consistent with Great Britain's insular position which they believe Wilson himself will agree, requires special consideration and safeguards.

Belay of Conference Worries These Britishers, who, while not ofempire, who are giving the impression that Anglo-American differences re-garding "freedom of the seas" and other Wilsonian principles are not fundamental and most likely will be reconciled when the President and Premier Lloyd George have the op-portunity for a direct exchange of opinions about the details. The greatest regret is expressed by George's conferences with Wilson have other trophies from French soldiers. been delayed, inasmuch as the French are busily utilizing every opportunity to cultivate the president and the American delegation. They express some apprehension, that Wilson, because of his lack of direct knowledge, will require erroneous impressions regarding the British attitude.

Delays Embarrass Wilson George's closest friends admit he went much further in the heat of election campaigning than he himself intended. He is said to be prepared to advocate the other hand it is known that Wilson to do so. himself is getting into immediate touch with the British leaders. He conferences with them and the French together, for the purpose of a proper omparison and coordination of views. He is also extremely anxious to complete all this preliminary work as soon as possible and be ready for the informal inter-allied conference, which is expected to begin the first week in January. He wants to give the conference his undivided attention when if once starts.

SESSION BY FEBRUARY PREDICTED IN PARIS

British Criticise Address The president's afternoon program included the receiving of a delegation of students after the degree of doctor is conferred upon him by the Sorbonne. Officials cannot understand criticism that has been coming from certain British sources concerning that portion of the president's address to the American congress on December 2 in which he said he "took fro granted that con-gress would carry out the naval program undertaken before the United States entered the war." The part of the president's speech referring to the naval program fol-

"I take it for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken before we ennavy has submitted to your committees for authorization that part of the profor authorization that part of the program that covers the building plans of the next three years. These plans have been prepared along the clines while President Wilson will go to Chauand in accordance with the policy which the congress established-not under the exceptional conditions of the war, but with the intention of adhering to a definite method of development for the navy. I earnestly recommend the uninterrupted pursuit of that policy. It would clearly be unwise for us to attempt to adjust our program to a future world policy as yet undetermined."

Position Clearly Explained It is learned on the highest authority that President Wilson did not look for any criticism in this connection, as he had evidently intended the final sentence of the paragraph just quoted to make clear his opinion. The terms of the original congressional act of 1916 authorizing the American naval policy contained an exrlanatory clause calculated to prevent any misconception of the United States' policy. The act defined that the money appropriated for naval expansion was to be returned to the government when an international tribunal was estabished to enforce peace without the use of armaments.

Officials point out that the inclusion of this language in the act as long ago as 1916 proved the sincerity of President Wilson and Secretary of the Navy Daniels. The qualifying clause, it is understood, was suggested by former Assistant Secretary of the American Treasury Crosby, who is now in Paris as head of the financial commission. He refused to make any comment on the naval situation today. Going in With Open Mind

Expressions of President Wilson's ppinion, which have become public, make it more and more evident that he is going into the peace conference with any arguments the representatives of the associated powers may present. This is pleasing to the conservatives, while the Socialists and Liberals are strong in support of Mr. Wilson's program for a league of nations.

One interesting sidelight on the conference was the authoritative statement today that Russia will be unofficially KEMMERER and represented at the round table. The Russian situation will be placed in the hands of a special committee and it is THE understood that representatives of the anti-Bolsheviki will present their case. Lord Northeliffe, famous English publiciat, has sent an invitation to all the American correspondents to meet him today at the Hotel Ritz. It was re-garded as possible that Lord Northcliffe desires a closer entents between the British and the American press. Spain Wants to Get Into League Premier Romanones of Spain, the first neutral statesman to meet President

Wilson, has come out for a league of "There is a unanimous desire on the part of Spain to participate in any such society of nations," the Spanish premier said today. "If the conference should decide upon universal disarmament and the suppression of obligatory military training, Spain would adhere to this measure with happiness." Persons in close touch with Mr. Wilson hold the opinion that President Wilson intends to follow his early methods while at Trenton as governor of New Jersey and later as president in Washington by appealing directly to the people.

There is no secret of the fact that the president is disappointed over the delay n getting down to the preliminary con-Officials close to the president hold that when the American executive traveled over 2000 miles, foregoing the chance of spending Christmas at home, in order to confer with all parties, Premier Lloyd George and A. J. ries Diplomats of England. Balfour, the British foreign minister, should have been willing to postpone their vacation in order to expedite Mr. Wilson's speedy return to America because of the congressional exigencies. Socialists Criticise Clemenceau President Wilson will not discuss business nor official matters while in England next week, deferring that until his return to Paris. The Socialist newspaper L'Humanite today printed a critical article on the attitude of Premier Clemenceau, say ing: "The first result of President Wilson" visit is that Premier Clemenceau re nounces his views on the society of

Mrs. Wilson was greatly pleased with her visit to the hospital for blind soldiers organized by Miss Winifred Holt of New York. She talked with ficials, are high in the councils of the some of the patients and was the recipient of numerous souvenirs. She was

British Warships Escort London, Dec. 21 .- (1. N. S.)-A British warship and an American seaplane will escort the ship on which President Wilson crosses the English channel from otDover. President and Mrs will be accompanied by Secretary of State Lansing and Colonel E. M. House, it was learned today. The party is expected to arrive at Calais on Christmas night and will cross the chanmylife President Wilson will go to Chaumont, General Pershing's headquarters for Christmas and the most important speech he has yet made since his arrival in Europe is looked for when he addresses the soldiers.

All France and Britain, in fact, the whole of Europe are looking forward to this address. It is unlikely that any definite plans for the conference will be made until after its delivery.

No Exètiement Over King's Arrival

Most Americans now in Paris, including 100 reporters and 300 government representatives, are trying to go along with the president to the front to make a dramatic American rally on French soil.

The visit of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is attracting little attention if compared with the arrival of President Wilson. Only a part of yesterday was declared a holiday. No huge crowds if filled the streets.
