

WOMEN PRISONERS HANG MISTLETOE IN CELL IN CITY JAIL

Feminine inmates decorate the barren walls for Christmas celebration behind the bars.

FRUIT AND DAINTIES SENT

Judge Rossman, accepting spirit of occasion, lets many offenders spend day at home.

Maybe the significance of the mistletoe was treasured simply in the memory of other and more happy days for the eight women who found themselves behind the bars of the city jail on the eve of Yuletide. Maybe it was in a spirit of grim humor that the privileged sprays were hung where none could exercise the privilege.

Regardless, the women spent Tuesday bedecking their barren quarters with evergreens, holly and the white-berried parasite of the oak. They were determined to make the day as happy as the circumstances of their incarceration would permit.

Judge Extends Clemency
The Christmas spirit permeated the municipal court Tuesday, and the majority of offenders who appeared before Judge Rossman were allowed to return to their homes. Three youths, Cecil Baldwin, Howard Sheets and Percy Pearson, convicted of vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons, were sentenced to spend 15, 10 and 30 days in jail respectively. The others were let off with fines or with suspended sentences.

Four city offenders, confined for various minor infractions of the law, were released by Judge Rossman to return to their homes for the holidays. Seven prisoners, serving sentences in the city jail petitioned the judge for a remission of the unexecuted portions of their sentences. The request of four was granted, but the other three, whose names appeared on the paper, received no clemency.

Dainties Sent to Prisoners
Lewis Brown, arrested by Police Sergeant Van Overn for a violation of the prohibition law, was fined $35 in the municipal court. Henry Achille, a young Italian, convicted of striking a 6-year-old boy, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, and Mrs. Helen Wright, who forgot her marriage vows, and was caught in a police raid on a downtown rooming house, paid $15 for her transgression of the law. Frank Maloney, a vagrant, arrested for the theft of a watch and chain from a rooming house, was held to await the action of the grand jury.

Through the leniency of Judge Rossman three dusky prisoners who were serving 60-day sentences for vagrancy were released and allowed to return to their homes. The other eight women were forced to remain and made their quarters as homelike as possible. A phonograph, furnished by a local music store, a box of oranges, sent by members of the Apostolic Faith mission and fruit and candies donated by a lawyer added cheer to the jail, and the evening was spent by the unfortunates much as did thousands of their happier sisters. A Christmas dinner, with all the usual luxuries enjoyed in the average home, was served to all the inmates of the women, confined in the city jail today.

Bounty Claims Received
Salem, Dec. 25.—Secretary of State Olcott today received claims from Harney and Malheur counties against the appropriation of $45,000 made by the last legislature for bounty on wild animals, and as the appropriation is exhausted the claims will be referred to the legislature for payment. The claim from Harney county was $27,250 and Malheur's claim was for $12,750. The state paid one half of the bounties, the counties paying the other half, as long as the appropriation lasted.
