

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE SECURED FOR THE I. N. S.

Important News Alliance for Exclusive Use of Patrons in the United States and Canada.

EUROPEAN SERVICE LEADS Express Has "Inside" on All Big Doings in Europe; Its Work Is Supreme.

New York, Jan. 17.—(I. N. S.)—One of the biggest news alliances perfected in years was consummated Thursday, when the International News Service began to receive exclusively the complete service of the London Daily Express, which for a long time has stood out in front of all London newspapers for enterprise and information.

By the terms of the contract entered into with the Express, the International News Service is entitled to exclusive right for republication in the United States and Canada of the complete news gathered by the London Daily Express and the London Sunday Express. This includes all telegrams and cables from the correspondents of the Daily Express all over Europe, with the single exception of the correspondents of the Express at British headquarters in France.

Service Is Unequaled

The London Express is covering Europe as no other London paper does, and special dispatches from its correspondents in Berlin, in Holland and in Russia have supplied practically all the sensations from these countries for months.

As a part of the alliance entered into between the Express and the International News Service, the latter organization places at the disposal of the London Express for simultaneous publication all special news received from the correspondents of the I. N. S. in Europe, while, to protect the exclusive rights of the International News Service, the London Daily Express and the London Sunday Express will carry standing in their columns a notice to the effect that all its dispatches have been acquired by the International News Service for use in the United States and Canada and that all special American news printed in the London Express is to be derived from the International News Service through the special correspondent in New York of the London Daily Express.

Alliance Most Important

There never has been a more important news alliance made for American publishers than this. It is a well known fact that the London Daily Express has been consistently "on the inside" in all matters relating to British and continental politics. It has been distinctly "in the know" but has nevertheless been a perfectly free agent and has not hesitated to print all the news as it developed. The London Express has been quoted more in American newspapers than any other London paper.

The clients of the International News Service hereafter may be assured that they have the exclusive right to publish all such matters and that the London Express special will not be available to any other American news service, except the Universal Service, which, operating in the morning field, will be permitted by arrangement with the International News Service, to publish the London Express special.

Many Teachers Ask To Be Transferred To Other Schools

Consideration of the petitions of city teachers to be transferred to other schools is occupying the attention of the city school superintendents at present.

Between 30 and 40 applications are received each term, according to Superintendent Whitney, from teachers wishing to change schools. Reasons given are various. Some want to be closer home, some want change of atmosphere, some want to be in the same building with a friend of theirs—many are the reasons assigned.

So far as the teachers can be transferred without inconveniencing the school, their requests are granted, but in all cases the welfare of the school is given first consideration.

Lists of the transfers will be completed within a week, according to Superintendent Rice.

Social Science to Be Theme of Club

Organization of the Reed College Social Science club was completed Wednesday evening when an executive committee was elected, and plans for the semester's activity outlined. Marjorie Fulton, Adelaide Morey, Walter Peterson and Otto Schults were chosen to direct the affairs of the club with the advice of Professors Charles McKinley and Joseph Hart. Papers were read by Miss Fulton and Mr. Peterson upon the questions considered in the city's recent labor and reconstruction conventions. A discussion of Bolshevism and the problem of work for the returned soldier concluded the evening's program.

Riggs Elected New President of Club By Business Men

Ira L. Riggs, Portland manager of the Underwood Typewriter company, was elected president of the Progressive Business Men's club Thursday; D. C. Burntrager, first vice president; Wilfrid P. Jones, second vice president; K. C. Eldridge, secretary; F. H. Kneeland, treasurer; Frank H. Hilton, A. M. Grille, B. F. Boynton, L. R. Bailey and H. G. Effinger, trustees.

The new officers will be formally installed January 20. The club adopted and telegraphed to Washington resolutions urging that soldiers upon discharge be better equipped with money and transportation. Lieutenant E. Croft, of the Allied War Veterans' band, that is playing at the Heilig, was the speaker of the day in the absence of Captain Bion of the French general staff, who is ill with influenza in Seattle.

Excellent rendered numbers by Percy Campbell's band were enthusiastically received by the club men.

Apoplexy Is Fatal to Woodburn Woman

Woodburn, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Margaret Beck, wife of Frank X. Beck, a prominent merchant of Woodburn, died at her home in this city of apoplexy Thursday. She was a member of the St. Luke's church, women's clubs and active in all social affairs and Red Cross work. She leaves a husband, three daughters, Mrs. George Lenox of Oregon City, Mrs. J. C. Scollard of West Woodburn, and Margaret Beck at home; also two sons, Corporal A. J. Beck and Oscar Beck, both serving in France.

As an aid to recovery from influenza, grippe, colds, pneumonia, PUROLA Medicated Plaster is being used widely because it tends to draw out inflammation and relieve congestion. Get it at your druggists. 35c and 65c cans.—Adv.
