

IRISH LANGUAGE USED AT MEETING

Principal Address Also Read in French and English; Ulster Unionists Absent.

By William H. Brayden
Special Cable to the Journal and Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright, 1919, by Chicago Daily News Co.)
Dublin, Jan. 28 (Delayed).—Four score journalists from England and abroad came to the opening of the Gaelic congress, or Irish national assembly, held here today. They were disappointed. It was quiet, orderly and serious, and the fact that its proceedings were conducted entirely in the Irish language prevented strangers from finding excitement in the speeches. There were, in fact, no incidents, and the chief business was reading and adopting an address to the free nations of the world.

This address asserted that Ireland was a separate nationality, and claimed that Ireland's independence was a necessary condition of the freedom of the seas. Ireland, according to this address, is used as a protecting shield for England, and use is made of the favorable situation of Ireland to keep the whole world under the power of England alone. As a separate nation, the address claimed for Ireland a separate place at the peace conference.

The address was first read in Irish, then in French, and then in English, the only English heard in the proceedings.

Ireland Claims Independence

Twenty-nine of the recently elected Sinn Fein members were present. Thirty-four were in jail and three were in the United States. Invitations were sent to all the members of the Sinn Fein, but no reply was received either from the Ulster Unionists or from the few survivors of the old Nationalist party.

Peace Delegates Selected

The adoption of the address, the ratification of the establishment of an Irish republic, the approval of the temporary constitution and the nomination of De Valera, Arthur Griffith and Count Plunkett as Ireland's representatives at the peace conference constituted the sole business, which was completed in about an hour.

Moderate Party Looked For

London, Jan. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Despite the apparent crisis in Irish affairs it is believed by Irishmen of all shades of opinion that the Sinn Fein has reached its high water mark and that the time is not far distant, perhaps a year, when out of the apparent chaos will come a moderate party with the support of the majority of the Irish and able to deal with the British government," said the Daily Express today.

South Tipperary Under Martial Law

London, Jan. 28.—(By the I. N. S. and the London Daily Express)—Martial law was proclaimed at Clonmel, in South Tipperary, and the garrison, in that town and at Oahel have been strengthened, said a Dublin dispatch today.

Debates on Domestic Court Issue Held than a year of study and observation. Representative Lofgren was called upon to explain his bill, which takes the jurisdiction over probate matters out of the county and puts it in the circuit courts. His bill, he explained, was not in opposition to the Huston bill.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at 316 Fourth street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave in all probability entailed an additional expense of not less than $10,000. He did not see where the bill would get far from the present situation. It might be entitled a bill to transfer the duties of the juvenile judge from the county to the circuit court and creating a new judge. Under all ordinary conditions the county judge could perform all of his probate business in half of his time and have plenty of time to take care of the business of the juvenile court.

Swett Favors Bill

Isaac Sweet spoke in favor of the bill. It was true that a new $4000 office would be created, he said, and he contended that the legislature should not hesitate over such a sum when the future of children was at stake. The purpose of the bill, he said, was to remedy the present unsatisfactory situation and put the handling of the problems coming before the juvenile court into the hands of an expert in such subjects.

George Thatcher said that he was confident that the bill would pass. If not through the action of this legislature, then through that of some subsequent assembly, when a children's court would be created for Multnomah county. Such act would save the salary and expenses of the court many times in the human salvage work it would accomplish.

QUEST OF ALBERS JURY CONTINUES

ward was rejected by the defense peremptorily.

He said that he had formed an impression on reading of the train incident. This impression was one of a man in this country so long and prospered so well, should make the remarks alleged to have been made. If true, he thought he should be punished severely.

He said he did not want to serve on the jury but he would do his duty if he qualified.

F. L. Gates went out on the peremptory challenge of the government. His challenge was taken place. F. S. Armstrong, who had no sooner warned his seat after being passed than he was made a victim of a peremptory challenge by the defense.

Early History Recalled

"Let's see," he said. "You came to Oregon in 1853, didn't you? That is the same year Judge Wolverton came. You must have come the same year he did."

"How old were you when you came?" interposed the judge.

"You were a little older than I was." After Scott said he knew Lish Applegate and several other pioneers, he was passed by both the defense and the government.

When recess was taken, George P. Litchfield of Salem, a pioneer, approaching the age of 79, was being examined as to whether his mind was open or already possessed a fixed opinion relative to the cause at bar.

The defense has used six of the ten peremptory challenges allowed and the government two of its six.

John Balkie, a native of Great Britain, was excused Monday from service as a juror. In reply to the hypothetical question of former Judge McGinn for the defense, as to whether, in the event conditions were reversed, he would want to be tried by a juror in the same state of mind as himself, Mr. Balkie said that he would not.

Mr. Balkie was thereupon excused. In place of Balkie, Herbert A. Hinchshaw of Portland was called and passed for cause.

Others who passed the gauntlet were: M. L. Higgins of Portland, J. T. Young of Hillsboro and F. R. Rundall of Portland. This made a full jury box and the process of elimination began. The defense used two of its peremptory challenges on James Bain, who was passed Saturday, and J. T. Young. David Dupree of Portland was called to take the place of Bain. His examination failed to disclose any bias and he was passed.

Carl Fisher was called to fill the chair made vacant by the challenge of Young. His examination was only partly finished when the court adjourned. Whether a jury will be obtained today or not is problematical.

UNIVERSITY TRAINING DRIVE IS PLANNED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Campaign to Be Commenced When General Pershing Returns From Europe.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Believing that universal military training legislation must be enacted shortly, it is to be enacted at all members of the senate military committee will open a drive for universal training when General Pershing returns from Europe. He is expected to come back with President Wilson next month.

The general staff of the army is solidly behind the plan, it was announced today, but other high war department officials are understood to oppose it. Senators who talked with President Wilson on the subject just before he went abroad have intimated that the chief executive is for universal training.

PRESIDENT HAS NEW RUSS PLAN

laws were gone into, it is understood, and the deliberations gradually approached a settlement, which would be left to the league of nations.

This decision was reached, it is said, because the representatives of the great powers are desirous that as much of the work as possible be left for deliberation by the league.

The exchange of views regarding the German colonies in the Pacific included Chinese representations concerning Kiau Chow, Australian claims to the captured islands near Australia, which she holds to be of strategic importance for her safety, and other views.

While the conference has not yet considered the territorial questions in the Balkans, there is a general disposition, constantly growing, to believe that the United States will take an active share either in a protectorate or in an arrangement for the planned for Constantinople and Armenia.

In the view of the American peace commission this is inimical to the American policy, but great pressure is being brought to bear to have us assume colonial obligations.

"Little Five" Bloc Formed

Paris, Jan. 28.—(U. P.)—Establishment of the "big five" bloc for the purpose of opposing the "big stick" on the peace conference has resulted in formation of "a little five" bloc which will seek to swing a "little stick."

The "little five" bloc, comprising France, Italy and Japan constitute the big five. The little five has been organized by Belgium, Serbia, Greece, Poland and China.

These "little five" factions grew out of the fight by the smaller nations for greater representation on the special committees which will work out the details of the peace settlement. The lines thus drawn will be wiped out, it is believed, when the question of representation is amicably adjusted. Work toward this end is progressing rapidly.

Although it would be impossible for the 19 smaller nations to have one representative each among the 20 which can be chosen for a committee, the final list of memberships on the committee so far proposed leaves eight small nations entirely unrepresented.

Fourteen members out of the 20 chosen by the small nations go to the "little five." Belgium, which led the open revolt in Saturday's plenary session, against the "big five" dictating representation, obtained five of these delegates, Serbia three, China two, Greece two and Poland two. The other small nations outside the "little five" which succeeded in landing one membership each are Brazil, Portugal, Roumania, Cuba, Uruguay and the Czechoslovak republic.

News Facilities Assured

Paris, Jan. 28.—(U. P.)—American and other foreign correspondents were working today under the assurance of the French government that everything will be done to speed up transmission of peace conference news and that dispatches will be absolutely free from censorship.

This assurance was given by Andre Tardieu, high commissioner of Franco-American relations, in an address at the opening of the French club for foreign correspondents, 89 Champs Elysees. He also declared that the correspondents will be given every opportunity to obtain the maximum quantity and accuracy of official information.

SPARTACANS BACK SOCIALISTIC PLAN

Pledge Fight Until Revolution Is Assured; Demand Soviets Retain Power.

Berlin, Jan. 28.—(By the I. N. S. and the London Daily Express).—The Spartacan congress of Northwestern Germany adopted a resolution demanding that all power be held by the soviets (German Bolshevists) until "socialism is secured," and pledging the Spartacans not to give up their power until "the revolution is assured," according to information from Brunswick today.

If the national assembly is unable to socialize and democratize the state, the members must resign, the Spartacans declared.

The strike fever in Germany is growing. For the first time in German history the bank clerks have served an ultimatum upon their employers threatening to strike on January 29 unless their demands are granted.

There is less interest shown in the Prussian election than there was in the national election. Bands and placards are missing. Snow kept many people away from the polls but the workmen and women voted solidly.

Many officials of the old regime signed lists of birthday congratulations that were sent to the ex-kaiser in Holland.

Lenin Goes to Yamburg

Copenhagen, Jan. 28.—(I. N. S.)—Nicolai Lenin, Bolshevik premier in Russia, has gone to Yamburg, where he ordered the Reds to recapture Narva and to massacre most of the populace. It was reported from Revel.

The Poles have reached Rieseneggbirge mountain on the Austrian frontier.
