MAY CHANGE ORDINANCE

aw Regarding Meat in Need of Being Altered.

As a result of the discovery of meat alleged to be unfit for human consumption at a market in Alder street, a change in the city ordinance relating t the inspection of meat is promised. is proposed to make it unlawful to remove the lungs and liver of cattle before inspection.

Tuberculosis cannot be discovered except through the "innards," according to Dr. E. E. Chase, city meat inspector, and under the present law the removal of lungs and liver before inspection is permitted. Dr. Chase said it is impossible to discover tuberculosis by inspec tion of the carcass alone, and therefore dealers are in a position to sell tainted meat even though it has been thoroughly examined.

The meat will spoil, dealers maintain if the lungs and liver are left in during meat would become almost impossible.
