WRECK OF ESPADA DESCRIBED

Schooner Hits Reef in Fiji Islands-Back Is Broken.

San Francisco, Feb. 20 .- (I. N. S.)-Details of the wreck of the four-mast American schooner Espada, operated by the Pacific Freighters company of San Francisco, on Mubualau reef, near Suva, Fiji Islands, were received here yesterday by Burns, Philip & Co., who recently purchased the wreck at auction for $3050. The Espada carried 820 tons of copra and a deckload of 68,000 feet of Australian hardwood when she struck the reef bow on about 7 o'clock on the eve-The Espada had left Levuka under Captain J. Sarrins, who had his wife and son aboard. She proceeded to sea under the pilot's charge and her topsails were still visible against the setting sun when the vessel struck. Her back is reported to be broken and there was water in the cabin at the time the first survey was made by customs officers and Lloyds representatives.

The crew reached shore safely and later Captain Sarrins, with his wife and Limited Sarrins, with $150,000. The Espada was built in 1901.

Because of the limited space in the Franciscan monastery, where the celebration was held, only churchmen, members of the Catholic student body and invited guests were admitted, but there were visiting clergy from England Portugal, Alaska, Mexico and Canada, been responsible for deepening the in their impressive robes, who filled water between the shore line and main the building to capacity. Among them were such American prelates as Cardinal O'Connell and many archbishops, including the Very Rev. George Mundelein of Chicago, who preached the sermon which followed the mass which was celebrated at 10 o'clock. In his address Cardinal Gibbons paid tribute to Pope Benedict for his neutrality during the war.

One Majestic Figure Towers

"I thank God," said the cardinal, "that we are assembled today, when the war is over and the blessed sun of peace During the tremendous conflict there was one majestic figure who towered above all others. I refer to Pope Benedict XV. The holy father was blamed by the central powers because he did not espouse their cause. But the pope could not be a partisan. However, he was not an indifferent spectator to the horrors he witnessed. He frequently protested against the outrages perpetrated in France and Belgium. "The sovereign pontiff stands out to day the most exalted personage in Christendom. Kings will die, emperors will goes on forever. The popes have seen the rise and development of all the governments of Europe. It is not improbable they will witness the death of some of them and chant their requiem. They have seen kingdoms changed to republics. They have looked on while the Goths, the Vandals, the Visigoths, invaded the fairest portions of Europe, upsetting thrones. They have seen all this; but the constitution of the church of which they are the guardians remains unchanged."

Gibbons' Efforts Praised

bishops who attended the Vatican council, and the only survivor of 80 who attended the 1884 council. Praise of the untiring labors of Cardinal Gibbons in the interest of the Catholic church was voiced by Cardinal

O'Connell. "You are not merely the type of great churchman, you are the exemplification of a great epoch," said Cardinal O'Connell. "Better than any man living today, your eminence understands the full meaning of the unimaginable transition between the infant church of Maryland and the giant church of America. "From the beginning Baltimore has ever been a sacred center, but you have conferred upon this see something of even greater value than mere historic priority. Both as delegate apostolic and Plant St. Johns municipal then as cardinal, your occupancy has bestowed upon it a lustre unique in all America.

"In every great city of the country there are schools of recent crection which vauntingly guarantee to teach infallibly the quickest way to success. There is a pathos beneath their purpose which no words can express.

Fidelity Secret of Success

"If true success could be reduced to mere formula, no one could be found capable of failure. If all men who are called successful had really achieved success, the science of those schools would be very simple and easy. The simple truth is that not one successful man out of a thousand can tell himself how and why he succeeded, except in the broadest possible terms of fidelity to a task and a determination to see it through.

"It is because men will persist in looking only at the surface of the lives of others that they are constantly misplacing the emphasis, with the result that they accentuate what is really accidental and pass over the real, underlying, substantial causes."
