

AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION IS OF HIGH QUALITY

Fine Types of Manhood Are Represented by the Officers and Men Now in the Ranks.

HONORS ARE CONFERRED

Doughboys Make Friends Everywhere, Declares Writer Who Visited the Third Army.

By Charles H. Dennis
Special Cable to The Journal and the Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright, 1919, by Chicago Daily News Co.)
With the American Army of Occupation, Feb. 12—Visits made in the last few days to a considerable number of battalions, regimental, brigade division and corps headquarters of the American Third Army now in occupation of German territory. Immediately before the high quality of the officers and men chosen to deal with the delicate problems arising from a most peculiar past.

They are no holiday soldiers since they belong to an organization that fought with honor and most of them many times in bitterly contested engagements. Practically all of the officers and men each received one or more promotions following effective service in battle. Consequently the army to a considerable degree is officered by all ranks of soldiers of real renown—young colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors who have accomplished notable things since they landed in France.

Many Honors Conferred
Thanks to the insight and wisdom of General Pershing and the intelligent cooperation of the authorities in Washington, general stars have been bestowed upon numerous former regimental commanders and occasionally upon battalion commanders for brilliant service in the field.

It would be deplorable if the return of peace should restore the old seniority rule, thus relegating to subordinate positions the fighting generals who won their present commands by the supreme test of achievement in the field. Staff officers, with the regimental commanders, lieutenant colonels and majors form a body of skilled soldiers that should be of exceptional pride to the American people.

One who meets and converses with these men amid their daily tasks cannot escape the conviction that peculiar fitness brought them to the front. I speak thus specifically of the Third Army because I have had no opportunity to meet more than a few officers of the other armies. Since all have been selected and to the same method of selection I have no doubt that the standard of excellence is high throughout the service.

What should be said of the non-commissioned officers and privates of the Third Army? They have proved themselves in battle fearless and efficient fighters. As a class they are self-respecting, orderly, hard working and clean. Amid peaceful surroundings they win their way by their very human qualities. A major of the Third Army in the intelligence service said:

"The doughboy is certainly a great institution. He gains the devotion of every dog, every child and every old woman he meets. All lavish their attentions on him. It is forbidden under severe penalties to fraternize with the enemy, but who can punish him for becoming an object of adoration to enemy dogs? Why to the children of the enemy and to old women? Now that the fighting is finished, he longs to go home, of course, but while he remains over here he continues to conduct himself in a manner to make his mother proud of him."

Both officers and men are eager to return to America when they are no longer needed in Europe. They hope for an early peace and strongly deprecated the suggestion that it might be well to retain the American forces for patrol duty in Europe and Asia after the signing of the peace treaty.

METHODIST PASTORS WILL CHANGE PLACES

Rev. William F. Ineson

The first Sunday in April Rev. R. Elmer Smith, pastor of Sunnyside Methodist church for the past six years, and Rev. William F. Ineson, pastor of the Yakima Methodist church for the same number of years, expect to exchange their pulpits. Rev. Mr. Smith said this morning he thought it would take that long to adjust business matters in both churches. Bishop M. S. Hughes announced last Friday morning that he had transferred Mr. Smith into the Columbia River conference and Mr. Ineson into the Oregon conference. The change of pastors is said to be agreeable to the clergy here and in Yakima.

Burning Oil Fires Government Vessel
New York, Feb. 20.—(I. N. S.)—Pier 5, at the foot of Columbia street, Brooklyn, and a vessel owned by the United States shipping board caught fire Wednesday, when oil on the waters of the Erie basin became ignited. A score of other craft anchored near the Robinson Drydock company's yard caught fire also. More than 30 additional vessels were threatened.

The British ministry of labor announced that the national industrial conference will be convened on February 27 at Westminster.

COMMISSIONER ESTILL OF SALVATION ARMY IS PORTLAND GUEST

Annual Visit of Head of Humanitarian Body Signal for Conference.

Commissioner T. Estill of the Salvation Army was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Hotel Portland Wednesday. Commissioner Estill, whose headquarters are in Chicago, is making his annual tour of inspection of the territory west of the Missouri river. Lieutenant Colonel T. W. Scott, who has charge of the Salvation Army activities in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and other officers in the Northwest were in attendance at the banquet, as well as a number of Portland guests. Commissioner Estill has been in the Salvation Army work 42 years, having had charge of the work in Japan, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Holland and in the United States.

O. C. Bortzmyer, chairman of the local committee, who raised the funds for the Salvation Army, was toastmaster. He introduced L. G. Clarke, chairman of the flying squadron, who told what a splendid reception the Portland public had given the flying squadron in their appeal for funds.

Mayor Bids Welcome
Mayor George Baker, in his address of welcome said: "It is a privilege to welcome to the city of Portland members of the Salvation Army. The word that is coming back from our boys at the front of what the Salvation Army has done for them makes us all proud of the work of this splendid organization."

"In fact, there is no other organization that stands higher in the estimation of the public except the Red Cross. When we made the last drive for funds for the various war organizations, the men in the shipyards and other industrial plants were always glad to subscribe. If they were sure the money would go to the Salvation Army."

"The Salvation Army put in years of hard and strenuous work in the slums of the city. It has gradually, by its hard work, won a place where it is now recognized as 100 per cent efficient."

Commissioner Estill, responding to the toast, said:

"In the early days of my experience, brickbats were more common than bouquets. I am glad we have come to a time when bouquets are more common than brickbats.

Portland's Support Pleases

"I want to express the appreciation of our organization for the splendid work done by Portland in rallying to our aid in contributing more funds than we asked for. We asked Oregon for $50,000. We got $150,000. Portland far exceeded its quota. In fact, Portland led the way and for a long time no other city in the west gave as large a sum as had Portland."

"We used this fact as a lever to influence other cities to give more generously. In our drive we raised $2,750,000 in the country west of Chicago. The west has treated the Salvation Army most generously. We started our work without funds, but the public came to our assistance."

"The work of our organization is divided into two parts: The work near the training camps, and the work overseas. The work near the training camps consists of the erection of huts or social halls for the soldiers, where magazines, writing paper, games and refreshments are furnished."

"We also hold religious services and entertainments."

Home Touch at Huts
"Usually we have a man and his wife in charge of the hut so as to give the home touch and the personal interest so needed in work among the soldier boys. We also try to provide accommodations for the mothers and women relatives of the boys."

"Our work overseas is divided into three kinds: Work at the base camps, work with portable huts, where our hut and those who operate it are attached to a division and move with the division, and third, the huts just back of the firing line, where, in dugouts or other temporary buildings, we serve coffee and doughnuts to the boys. We also carry on work in the hospitals. Some of the officers have been appointed as chaplains and are with the troops, being members of the army navy roll."

"The Salvation Army will stay in France as long as the boys are there."

At the close of the luncheon, Commissioner Estill was introduced to the luncheon guests and expressed his pleasure at being able to meet Portland residents who had contributed so generously to the success of their campaign.

Alleged Agitators Held

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 20.—(I. N. S.)—Fred Arndt and Ernest E. Heintzler, both Germans, are under detention here at the request of C. L. Reames, special assistant attorney general, who expects to have them deported after the peace treaty is signed. Reames charges both are J. W. W. organizers and have been active agitators against the government.

STOCK SHOW PLANS MEET INTERESTING SUPPORT GENERALLY

Headquarters Receives Spontaneous Expressions From Livestock Centers of State.

From the reports already received at headquarters of the Pacific International Livestock exposition in the Northwestern Bank building, the livestock men will make a quick job of it in raising $150,000 next week for the erection of a stadium and exhibition building for the 1919 exposition to be held in November.

W. J. Townley of Union county, the home of high grade cattle and horses, wires:

"No doubt about Union county doing its full part. Surprised because our quota is not larger. We request reservation of one half of space in new building for Union county exhibit."

Leslie Butler of Hood River was the first to respond to the call to take shares in the permanent exposition and home of the big show. Mr. Butler called at headquarters last evening and said $1000 would be forthcoming as quickly as wanted. This expression from the representative of a famous fruit producing section demonstrates how well it is understood that livestock exhibitions are a good thing for the Pacific Northwest.

Others Who Are Interested
Grant Dimick of Oregon City has telephoned that Clackamas county stockmen will loyally support the exposition enterprise.

Colonel F. P. Light of Lakeview has responded for Lake county and will secure a proper proportion of the stock interests of Lake county. The livestock valuation of Lake county is $1,500,000.

A. H. Barnum of More wires that Sherman county will take $2000 worth of stock in the show.

C. S. Hudson, a banker of Bend, says that Deschutes county will do its share as it has always done in all other enterprises for the betterment of the country.

C. C. Clark of Arlington informs General Manager Plummer that Gilliam county directors are ready to take subscriptions for their share.

A. J. Johnson, a director for Benton county, comments as follows on the value of the livestock show to the Northwest:

"This means putting over in a big way the proposition of the making of a real livestock market in Portland, putting us in a class with Omaha, Kansas City and Chicago.

Klamath County in Line

J. W. Siemens, a banker of Klamath Falls, advised E. G. Crawford of the United States National bank that he will see that Klamath county does its share.

In answer to the request that he secure the subscriptions of stockmen in Washington county, Thomas Carmichael of Gaston says that Washington county will raise about from $1500 to $2000.

J. N. Burgess, president of the Cunningham Sheep & Land company in Umatilla county, is enthusiastic for the big show and has advised he will round up the range and other stockmen of that section.

The cheesemakers of Tillamook county, while in conference Monday, strongly endorsed the movement for a livestock show and an adequate home for it. The association, reports President Ben Kuppenbender, will back the show and take stock.

The Wasco County Livestock association, at Dufur, through Frank B. Ingele, the president, stands solidly for an all-Northwest show here.

80 Tons of Whale Meat Find Buyers

Aberdeen, Wash., Feb. 20.—About 80 tons of whale meat was marketed last year by the Pacific Whaling company of Bay City. Shipments were made as far east as Chicago. The whaling season is expected to open about April 1.

OLD FASHIONED TEA FOR CONSTIPATION

Brew it yourself at home.

Probably the best remedy you can take for clogged up bowels and sluggish liver is one that costs very little and accomplishes much.

For many years Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea has been used by tens of thousands to keep the bowels regular and the whole system in fine condition.

Why not get a small package of this gentle, yet sure acting, bowel regulator and system tonic, and brew a cupful for yourself every night for a week or two?

You'll surely be gratefully surprised at the benefit you get and will praise Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea to your friends. It's fine for the little folks and they like it. All druggists sell it. Adv.

Riding in Auto, Albany Pioneer Hit and Killed

Albany, Feb. 20.—Austin Bond, Linn county pioneer, about 55 years of age, was instantly killed Wednesday evening by Southern Pacific train No. 47 at the Ninth street crossing, a short distance from the Albany station. Mr. Bond, with his wife had come to Albany from their home southwest of town, and after leaving Mrs. Bond with friends he had gone to the creamery on an errand. Returning toward town he attempted to cross the track ahead of the train. The street and the track are practically parallel for some distance, and he evidently did not discover the train until it was almost upon him.

The engineer of the train had observed the car, and after slowing his train until he thought the auto would clear the track allowed the train to pick up speed, but the motor apparently stalled, according to eye witnesses, and the engine struck the car, throwing Mr. Bond out and dragging the car about 70 feet. Mr. Bond was badly mangled about the head and shoulders, was found under the rear of the first baggage car. Coroner Fisher took charge of the body. Mr. Bond is survived by his wife and five children, three of whom are married.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain multifid coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
