Opponents of Bill Say Ill Health Of Governor Is Poor Excuse to Push Constitution Change.

vious question in order to shut off debate. This raised Senator Banks and Senator Patterson. Senator Banks declared that the action was in line with the other unfair tactics employed by Moser. He told them to go ahead with their unfair tactics and they would have to answer to the people.

Senator Patterson pointed an accusing finger at Moser and reminded him that a day or two ago a bill of Moser's was indefinitely postponed and when Moser asked for recognition of it, Patterson, although stating he was opposed to the bill, voted for the reconsideration in order to give Moser a chance to bring it up. Moser was attempting to resort to unfair tactics to shut off consideration of this resolution, he said.

Danger Ahead for Republicans Moser made the point of order that the motion was not in order. The motion was put and was voted down.

Senator Huston opened the debate then. He said he was in favor of the principle of having a lieutenant governor, but he considered it very poor politics on the part of the Republican party at this time, and was merely putting ammunition in the hands of Democrats. He opposed the resolution.

He was followed by Senator Banks, who said he agreed with Senator Huston that it would be better to have a lieutenant governor, but he wanted to know why it would not be wise for the Republican senators to do the thing which will bring success to the lieutenant governor at the general election in 1920, instead of the special election.

He called upon the members to consider the interests of the Republican party and rise above pledges and trades that may have been made on this question. He said he was not speaking from any personal interest in Secretary of State Olcott, as he did not vote for Olcott in the Republican primary election, but rather supported Simpson, but since Olcott was secretary of state by a constitutional right, which should be recognized.

Predicts Early Defeat He predicted that if the resolution is passed it will disrupt the Republican party, and declared it was not right.

He further predicted that the resolution will be defeated if it is submitted as a special election. He said he submitted the resolutions and sets, while if it is submitted at the general election it will have a chance of passage.

"When you hear this at the governor's request," he said, "I see the men on the floor of the senate supporting it who have been friends of the governor I want to tell you their motive is not in the interest of the governor."

He said he knew what the game was when adjournment was taken last night. "I knew that all the power of the executive office would be exercised to change the votes of those who voted against them yesterday," he said. "They are changing the honest opinion of senators in order to carry out their pet scheme. It is not right. It is not good politics. It will not do."

People Know What They Want Senator Eddy said the resolution spoken by the opponents of the resolution was illogical as they say they favor creating the office of lieutenant governor, but think that if it is submitted as a special election it would interfere with the secretary of state. He insisted that the secretary of state should stand upon the governorship and it was good politics.

What Makes Men of Blood and Iron? Men of Stamina, Force and Success—Men Who Lead the Way

Physician Explains Secret of Strong Nerves, Keen Active Brains and Great Physical Energy—says Nuxated Iron Helps Put Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men.

It is the men of blood and iron—on a par with the war-hardened fellows returning from camp and field—who will forge ahead in the business and political life of the country today.

Living in the open, eating coarse foods and leading regular lives have made blood rich in iron for these strong, healthy, vigorous specimens of manhood. But no such opportunity for building up their health is open to thousands of men and women in civil life, whose wearing tasks and iron-poor diets rob them of their energy and make them weak, anemic and run-down, and often cause their blood to literally starve for want of iron.

In commenting upon the probability of building up a stronger race of people by increasing the supply of iron in their blood, Dr. George W. Peck, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says: "Iron is absolutely necessary to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Without iron there can be no strong, red-blooded men or healthy, rosy-cheeked women, and unless this strength-giving iron is obtained from the foods we eat, it must be supplied in some other form that is easily absorbed and assimilated. Refined foods and modern methods of cooking have robbed us of much of the iron which Nature intended we should receive. For supplying this deficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles, I know of nothing more effective than our Nuxated Iron. From a careful examination of the formula and my own tests of Nuxated Iron, I am convinced that it is a preparation which any physician can take himself or prescribe for his patients with the utmost confidence of obtaining highly beneficial and satisfactory results. The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over business to provide for a lieutenant governor. He said if the resolution goes on the ballot and the secretary of state is big enough and patriotic enough to come to the aid of the people's poor business proposition, nothing will keep him from being elected governor at the next gubernatorial election.

Senator Hurley said he could see no haste in the matter and predicted that if the resolution is submitted to the special election it will be voted down, and declared that every senator knew it. He said some of the senators think the people of Oregon did not have sense enough to know what they wanted when they voted down the proposition of creating the office of lieutenant governor.

Senator Patterson said that the people of Oregon know what they want, and they know what they didn't want when they voted down the question of creating the office of lieutenant governor," he said.

Asserts It's Poor Politics He declared it was politics behind the resolution, brought into the senate by persons who thought they were politicians, but he said it was the poorest piece of politics he ever saw, coming from a man who said he wanted to know enough to know what good politics is.

We wanted to know if these politicians could not see farther ahead than the end of their nose, as their proposition is based on the theory that the people are a bunch of fools who did not know what they were doing in the past. "The people will next want to know what is behind this," he said.

Senator Patterson said he had thought yesterday and had hoped that the members of the senate were in favor of the lieutenant governor, but he said it was shown here this morning that a majority are not in favor of a lieutenant governor or else they are not much interested in the matter.

Salary Question Yezes He cited the uncertainty relative to the salary to be paid the lieutenant governor. As the resolution reads the lieutenant governor will draw a salary of $10 a day while president of the senate and it is contended that he is as much president of the senate when the legislature is not in session as when it is in session and therefore the lieutenant governor would draw a salary of $10 a year for doing nothing more than presiding over the session once every two years.

Senator Patterson said the people of the state will object to that uncertainty, because who thought they were politicians, but he said it was shown here this morning that a majority are not in favor of a lieutenant governor or else they are not much interested in the matter.

Steam Roller Tactics Seen Referring to the statement made by Senator Thomas that the people of the state had turned down woman suffrage several times before they finally adopted it, Senator Handley pointed out that the people themselves had initiated the woman suffrage amendment and had worked for it until they got it.

"This legislature never referred that question to the people," he pointed out, "but it has overworked itself in referring the question of creating the office of lieutenant governor."

He again cited the salary provision and the fact that the steam roller had worked out of the hands of the people by Smith of Coos to correct the uncertainty. He charged steam roller and unfair tactics all through the effort to put through the resolution.

At this time Senator Banks moved to go into committee of the whole to consider the Smith amendment. This motion was carried and Senator Banks offered the amendment. Senator Thomas opposed the amendment, as he said it would be a bad precedent for killing the amendment as it would not again get by the house if it was sent back.

Afraid of House Action He said the issue was not whether Ben Olcott was going to be governor as he had been elected, but whether he was going to be governor as he had been elected and endorsed himself to the hearts of the people for

He said a situation which would occur if the governor should die before the amendment was passed, and the secretary of state should become governor and then should be called upon to appoint a lieutenant governor, and he said that the legal department of the state could not do either the secretary of state would continue as governor or whether the lieutenant governor could step into the governor's chair and govern.

I suppose some one will raise the objection that if the secretary of state becomes governor he would have two votes on the board of control, as he is the only person who would have an increase being made in his salary. "I am not afraid to speak in favor of the amendment," said Senator Thomas, "but I am not afraid to speak in its favor as he wanted to answer them. "I am not playing politics," he pointed out.

A confusion of "chicken" words was indulged in by the speaker, who was interrupted by those who are aware of Senator Thomas' ambitions to go to congress interrupted him.

Should Eliminate Trading Continuing his argument, Senator Thomas said a lieutenant governor was desired as a means of eliminating the biennial contest for the presidency of the state, which has become a mere committee place. He also insisted that it would be a fine thing if the state now had a lieutenant governor who could step into the governor's chair and govern.

Senator Banks made reply, declaring that the real reason for the proposed amendment is political. "I want to say right now this is the biggest mistake the Republican senators have made," he said, "and that is to only to keep Secretary of State Olcott from becoming governor in the event of possible contingencies."

He pointed out a statement that had been made that Governor Withycombe favored the amendment and expressed the opinion that under his present condition of health the governor was yielding to poor advisers, and giving expression to opinions which he would not hold if he were in the vigor of health. He said that the last time he was in primary election, Olcott ran second highest in the list of candidates for governor, thus showing that he was the man to ask for the office.

He called the amendment unfair, unjust, unwise, and said it was not good sense to try to force through a resolution which would give the lieutenant governor two votes on the board of control.

Senator Moser wanted to know why the objection to the amendment, if the lieutenant governor was to have only one vote, would be raised. He repeated the argument about the two votes on the board of control. He argued that the sacrifices he made by sticking by his duties during the great strain when his governor was in Washington. He said the governor's present condition of health was the only reason why the resolution remained at his desk and did not shield his health. When the soldier boys were in the field, the governor was in the field, and when the boys think have been playing politics in this thing.

Senator Moser said that while Senator Hurley is talking about politics, he knew that over in the house there is an organization waiting to indefinitely postpone the resolution if it is sent over there.

"They are just waiting for this resolution to come over there with any sort of amendment in order to give it decent burial," he said. He urged the senators who had earlier voted to disregard the action of yesterday to stand by their guns and not allow any amendment to be made.

He argued that the proposed amendment offered by Banks was unnecessary. Legal Light Is Sought Senator Huston asked Moser if he did not serve on the emergency board during the past two years, and if that was not so, he said he was the poorest piece of politics he ever saw, coming from a man who said he wanted to know enough to know what good politics is.

Senator Patterson said he had thought yesterday and had hoped that the members of the senate were in favor of the lieutenant governor, but he said it was shown here this morning that a majority are not in favor of a lieutenant governor or else they are not much interested in the matter.

Senator Norblad then backed up and he would allow a division if the senators would allow a division was made and the Patterson amendment was carried with 16 votes.

Senator Smith made an amendment to clarify the language to make it certain that the lieutenant governor would not draw a salary of $10 a day while in session, but before the motion could be put to a vote, Senator Moser moved to rise and report progress. This last motion carried.

There were indications that the miners, at their conference today, would override the extremists and follow the counsels of Robert Smillie, a moderate, who is in favor of postponing the strike until the government commission of inquiry makes its report at the end of next month.

Deep national interest centers upon the industrial conference. One of the questions before it was a minimum wage for workmen and a maximum work day. The labor minister, in opening the conference, said: "The government is making all possible speed with the housing problem and the reduction of the price of food."

"As for shorter hours, already 3,000,000 workmen have had their work day shortened."

Premier Not Present Sir Robert asked the conference to take up first the problem of unemployment, then to discuss the question of wages, and to take part in the discussions. However, he was not present.

Sir Robert referred to present conditions as "the most serious since the war." He pointed out that the industrial unrest. Whatever merit the grievances might have, he said, they were being used as a pretext for a menace to the country.

Announcement was made that the government was making all possible speed to reduce the unemployment situation. J. B. Brownlee of the Engineers' union declared that Sir Robert had "skimmed only the surface in his speech." He was applauded.

nearly every state in the Union has a lieutenant governor and Oregon should have one to preside over the senate. "I never saw a lieutenant governor where there has been so much legislation introduced to cast reflection upon some official, as here," said Senator Hurley.

He said he could see nothing in the amendment at this time except a desire to ease a resolution of Secretary of State Olcott for fear he will become governor because of the serious condition of the governor's health.

Senator Hurley said he did not believe the people of Oregon wanted any official to name his successor, and that the people would not approve the amendment as it now reads. A motion was made, and carried, to go into committee of the whole to consider amendments.

In committee of the whole, Senator Patterson offered an amendment providing that the constitutional amendment be submitted to the people at the general election in 1920, rather than at the special election to be held June 2.

Senator Moser opposed the amendment and said that the resolution should be left just as it passed the house. The same position was taken by Senator Wood, who said he was afraid if the resolution was amended at this late hour the house would not pass it, and the resolution would be killed.

Senator Thomas declared the change offered by Patterson was a gentle, ladylike method of administration. He declared that the house would not accept the change at this late hour.

When the question of the amendment was put to a viva voce vote, Senator Norblad, who was in the president's chair, refused to accept the amendment and declared the motion was lost. This brought a statement from Senator Banks that such unfair tactics was another reason why the resolution should be voted down.

Senator Norblad then backed up and he would allow a division if the senators would allow a division was made and the Patterson amendment was carried with 16 votes.

Senator Smith made an amendment to clarify the language to make it certain that the lieutenant governor would not draw a salary of $10 a day while in session, but before the motion could be put to a vote, Senator Moser moved to rise and report progress. This last motion carried.

ARMENIAN MESSAGE RECALLS SUFFERING OF STRICKEN PEOPLE

Mrs. Otis Larson, Native of Armenia and Authoress, Speaks in Behalf of Local Drive. "My heart bleeds for the Armenians. Their sufferings are so terrible, and they are my own people. And the little merriest children, hungry and homeless—I can hear them crying all the time."

These were the words of Mrs. Otis Larson, native of Armenia, society and club woman, and authoress of several books on conditions in her native land, who arrived from Seattle this morning to join the speaker's bureau for the Armenian Relief drive which will begin next Monday morning.

Mrs. Larson will speak Friday afternoon at the Portland Woman's club meeting at the Hotel Multnomah, and at night will address all the workers at the Y. W. C. A. at the Unitarian church, Yamhill and Broadway. Several hundred invitations have also been sent out for this meeting, and the general public invited. Dr. Frederick Coan, native of Persia, for many years a relief worker and missionary in Armenia and Persia, will also address this meeting.

Saturday Mrs. Larson will speak at the Civic League meeting at the Benson hotel at 12:30, and the College Alumnae luncheon at the University club at 1:30 p. m. Sunday she will speak from the pulpit of the Marshall Street Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. vesper at 5:15, and at the Rose City Park Methodist church at 7:30 in the evening.

The German government is reported to be divided as to what steps shall be taken to suppress the revolution. Some members demand the employment of force, while others counsel compromise. Military Governor Noeke demands that the reichstag (national assembly) immediately authorize 500,000 additional militia. On the other hand, President Ebert is understood to favor establishment of a national soviet as the legislative branch of the government, probably replacing the bundestag.

Power of Soviets Recognized This remarkable situation—the first time the constitutional head of any government has offered recognition to the soviet—is the result, it is said, of Ebert's belief that the Spartacists cannot be crushed and that they must be recognized, else the country will be overwhelmed with disorder.

The new revolution has reached a point where decline action must be taken immediately, one way or the other, and announcement of a definite government policy is expected hourly.

General Strike Threatened Berlin, Feb. 26. Via London, Feb. 27. (L. N. S.)—A general strike is expected hourly in Germany as a result of the communists' disorders. The people of Saxony are in strong sympathy with the Bavarians. Operation of the principal railway lines has been suspended. The Saxon parliament will meet Thursday.

The strikers at Halle are demanding the retirement of the president of the German government and the dissolution of the national assembly.

The railway employes are rapidly joining the coal miners in their strike. The soldiers' and workmen's council at Leipzig has decided upon a strike. All of southwestern Germany is in chaos.

Dark Picture Presented By Charles Edward Russell London, Feb. 27.—(L. N. S.)—Food or chaos! That, in plain terms, is the situation in practically all of Europe east of the Rhine.

Help must come with organized relief on a scale unknown heretofore, with bread, meat and clothes for millions and then more—or the world will face the certainty of terrible distress over vast areas where 1,000,000 Russian prisoners are still confined in Germany and Bohemia are of a nature not printable. The aviator is said to have attempted to alight at friends at the Percy home and misjudged his height.

the crime, Karhu surrendered to the police through his brother-in-law. He killed his wife, Alice Karhu, employed as a maid in the home of Ernest A. Wasmaker, by slashing her throat. Karhu, according to the police, said the couple had lived apart for about a month.

Without an Operation Wonderful Healing of Ruptures How a New Jersey Man Got Rid of a Severe, Obstinate, Right Inguinal Hernia Without the Slightest Trouble. Below is a picture of Eugene M. Pullen, a well-known carpenter of Manassas, New Jersey. If you could see him at work, particularly when he handles heavy timber, jumps and climbs around like a youth, you would scarcely imagine that he had formerly been afflicted with a rupture.

When one of the kiddies has a white tongue, a tainted breath, sour stomach or a cold; when bilious, constipated, feverish, remember, a Cascaret to quickly "work" away the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poisons should always be the first treatment given. Children really like to take Candy Cascarets and they never gripe the tender bowels, never injure, and never disappoint the worried mother. Give Cascarets to children one year old and upwards. Each 10 cent box contains full directions for children and adults.

Ruptured in Right Side At an early age, Eugene Pullen was an expert driver. He handled railroad baggage. One day after delivering a heavy trunk on an upper floor he felt a pain in the right groin. The suffering increased until it was not long before the young man noticed the swelling.

The doctor told young Pullen that he was ruptured, and that he must either wear a truss throughout life or submit to a drastic operation. After surgery he knew that hernia operations, with anaesthetics, etc., are dangerous; they may end fatally. Moreover, it is a well established fact that many rupture operations are not successful; the bowel soon breaks through the sewed-up opening and protrudes worse than ever.

Afraid of Operation Like most others, Mr. Pullen declined to take the risk of an operation, the expense and loss of time had to be considered, too. Hoping he might get a little better encouragement he went to another physician, who advised him to wear a truss. He even less hope. It was pointed out to the young man that unless the rupture were perfectly healed at the time of the operation, the surgeon's knife successfully might expect an increase or doubling in the rupture with further complication of the dreaded strangulated hernia which kills so many ruptured people.

Victim of Trusses The victim bought a truss, a hard, spring-like affair, the best he could get. It tortured him. He tried another—still no relief. He was compelled to give up his expensive business. This hard task ordinary men were forbidden him. He became an insurance agent in which position he did not need to do bodily work.

Discarded His Truss For six years Mr. Pullen dragged around using various trusses, hard, elastic, etc., with never any contentment. One day his mother told him something she had just found out. It was a simple and easy thing for him to do. He lost no time.

Relief came at once; he almost forgot that he had any rupture. Afterward came a cure—a complete healing—although years ago he was told that he was an energetic carpenter, working on buildings, climbing over roofs, lifting lumber and such like, he absolutely became an insurance agent in which position he did not need to do bodily work.

Valuable Information Free The valuable information which Mrs. Pullen read in a newspaper many years ago and gave to her son, together with further important facts, will be sent free to any reader of this who writes to the publisher, Mr. Pullen, 1275-E Massachusetts Avenue, Manassas, N. J., enclosing a stamp for reply. Mention the kind of a rupture you have, whether on right or left side, and what you have already done in your effort to cure it. A legion of cases of all kinds of rupture in men and women, including inguinal, femoral, femoral, navel, scrotal, etc., have been reported completely healed. Age seems to make no difference.—Adv.

they really are in Europe will seem to the uninitiated to be an alms-giver or a beggar. They have never before faced such a situation and has nothing in its experience to base a comparison on. I can only assure you that no one in these past few weeks who has been in Paris and heard the reports there from Eastern Europe will think this forecast of coming trouble so extravagant because the world is likely that 300,000,000 people in Europe it is likely that 300,000,000 are now approaching the line of acute destitution or already are in it.

In some parts of Austria-Hungary, Silesia and Bohemia starvation has either begun or is close at hand. In many parts of Germany the present supply of foodstuffs will be exhausted in four weeks.

Most Optimistic Are Fearful The most optimistic in Germany look with the gravest misgivings upon that fatal day. "If there is neither peace nor security in Germany with Germany fed, what will be the condition in Germany with Germany starving?"

It is much the same in Turkey, although in plain terms there are described as appalling. In Constantinople there is acute famine among the poor. Reports from camps where 1,000,000 Russian prisoners are still confined in Germany and Bohemia are of a nature not printable. I can only hint them by saying no such good results from its use that they have no desire to take anything else. Give it to the children freely—they like it and it will do them good.—Adv.
