

port seek the indorsement of organized or or the Employers' association or the Chamber of Commerce, but why do they ignore the attitude of the Christian churches? It is because," says Chaplain Frederic, K. Howard of Good Samaritan hospital, "the Christian churches are not in position to act together on great social and public questions."

A committee, of which Chaplain Howard is chairman, has called for a conference of representatives of all Christian churches in Portland at the Y. W. C. A. next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The representation will consist of two women, two men and two clergymen from each denomination. Plans for concerted consideration of large issues will be disissed, and Miss Dorothy E. Wysor, director of the home service section of the Red Cross, will tell what is being done by the Red Cross for returning soldiers and their families. Thus will be introduced more general consideration of the problems of the reconstruction period.

Meetings in April and May are to be devoted to review of penal administration and social hygiene. During the summer vacation a committee will be asked to work out a complete program for class study. Chaplain Howard's committee associates are: Dr. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the First Methodist church f Dr. William A. Waldo, pastor of the White Temple Baptist church; Dr. Robert H. Milligan, pastor of the Rose City Park Community church, and Rev. W. G. Ellot, Jr., pastor of the Church of Our Father, Unitarian.

COUNTY COURT NOTES

A petition to the board of county commissioners from L. J. LaMasters, asking permission to install a gasoline filling station on the Foster road, having been referred to the roadmaster's office for investigation. Roadmaster Eatchel reported that the installation had already been made. Seeing, however, no objection to the tank, he recommended that the formal permission be granted.
