

COUNCIL TO FAVOR LOCAL PRODUCTS IS WORD FROM BARBUR

Home Industry League Gratified by Action of City in Aid of Industry.

A. G. Clark, manager of the Home Industry League, is gratified with the action of the city council in voting preference to local products, price and quality being reasonable. He has received a letter from A. L. Barbur, commissioner of public works, stating that all contractors engaged on municipal work had been notified of the city's intention to encourage the use of home products in construction, including Portland-made cement.

"The action of the council," according to Mr. Barbur, "places the city administration as fully in support of home industry as can be done, provided the local concerns will produce goods of equal value and quality to those offered by foreign concerns at prices which are reasonably close to those offered by outside concerns. In such a case, I believe absolutely that the commodity in question should be purchased from the home concern. Our improvement work is picking up since the war and we will have an opportunity to find out shortly how our local contractors are disposed in this matter."

Mr. Barbur's letter to contractors stated: "There is great need of stimulating local improvement work and industry in general to provide work for our soldier boys and citizens. Any encouragement of home industry will tend to promote

Senator McNary Plans European Trip of Inquiry

Washington, March 6.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—If the time after the congressional adjournment before an extra session of congress appears to be sufficient, Senator McNary expects to make a trip to Europe. The difficulty is to decide how much time will be available.

Mr. McNary says he wants to look over the camps and see the situation of the American forces overseas at first hand, as an aid to his understanding of the problems connected with demobilization, and expects also to see some of the famous battlefields.

If time permits the Oregon senator hopes to be able to visit the region of the proposed extension of Crater Lake National Park. Under a bill he has introduced, which has the strong endorsement of the national park service and Secretary Lane, the limits of the park would be enlarged to include Diamond lake.

Director Mather of the park service has invited Mr. McNary to look over the proposed extension with officials of the park, and the senator hopes to be able to do so.

FRENCH ARMY BAND GREETED IS HEARTILY ON REACHING CITY

Heroes Expect to Play to Big Audience Tonight; Victory Celebration Is On.

Portland today gave a hearty welcome to the hero-musicians of the famous French army band who arrived in the city this forenoon for their concert at the Auditorium tonight. Not only is their presence here counted as one of the big musical events of the year, but among the French and Belgian residents their visit has been made the pivot of a victory celebration.

The bandmen arrived in their worn army uniforms this forenoon and were greeted by a committee of Progressive Business Men's club members headed by President Ira Riggs. They were immediately taken in autos to their hotels by the motor squad girls for breakfast.

Shortly before noon they formed in parade, which ended at Liberty Temple where the welcome of the city was extended by Edgar B. Piper in behalf of the club, under whose auspices the band is appearing tonight. A large crowd gave them an enthusiastic greeting.

The bandmen were luncheon guests of the club this forenoon immediately after the ceremonies at the Temple had ended and this afternoon they are enjoying themselves as the honored guests of the Franco-Belgian society at the Chamber of Commerce.

Indications are that fully 5000 people will hear tonight's concert, and will at the same time honor the men who have numbered among the most celebrated musicians of France. Every member of the band is a soldier, and some of them bear as many as 11 wound stripes.

Coffman Against Senatorial Fight On World League

Chehalis, Wash., March 6.—N. E. Coffman, state chairman of the Washington branch, League to Enforce Peace, does not agree with United States senators who are opposing a League of Nations. He has given out the following statement:

"I speak from a personal standpoint and not officially for the league. I have been a Republican all my life. I have never gone off on any of the unsound side movements which have come up from time to time, but when it comes to this great fundamental question of a League of Nations, to choose between supporting it or disagreeing with those in the party whom I count reactionary, I will continue to support the League of Nations principle and believe in so doing my Republicanism will continue unimpaired.

"The common people composing the great voting strength of the Republican party are not in sympathy with the formation at this time of a League of Nations. The rank and file of the party will insist that the aims of the war, the welfare of mankind and the future safety and prosperity of the United States be put above party and partisan advantage. They will refuse to abandon the fundamental principles of world justice, to the enactment of which into a form of binding treaty we, with all other free nations of the world, have been committed by our united victory over autocracy. The party as a whole has more than once before asserted its independence of blind leadership. The temper of its members is being sorely tried just now by those who are assuming the right to set aside the declaration of its last national platform which declared for a world court."

Legislature Made Record in Passage Of New Measures

Salem, March 6.—More laws were enacted by the 1918 legislature than by any preceding legislature probably in the history of the state, and for a certainty more than by any legislature as far back as 1909.

This is shown by a comparison of figures compiled by Secretary of State Olcott, based on the number of bills filed in his office.

The record for the last session of the lawmaking body is 436 bills passed and filed with the secretary of state. A little more than one-half of the bills introduced were enacted into law.

During the session there were 229 senate bills and 522 house bills introduced, or a total of 821.

The next highest record for laws enacted was made by the 1917 session, when 427 bills were passed, of a total of 888 introduced.

In 1915 there were 349 bills passed, of a total of 830 introduced. In 1913 there were 289 bills passed, of a total of 971 introduced. That session saw the high record for the number of bills introduced.

In 1911 375 bills were passed, of a total of 725 introduced, while in 1909 233 bills were passed, of a total of 627 introduced.

ing by C. H. Preston, secretary of the Portland local of the Telegraphers' union.

Secretary Preston said he received a message from the union's international president, S. J. Konenkamp, that officials are arranging final details to go out with the telephone operators and linemen.

"We may expect nothing from the national labor board. I have been virtually assured of this. There is but one thing to do now."

This is a message received from L. I. Marshall, vice president of the Telegraphers' union. Linemen of the electrical union in Portland, about 200 in number, are 100 per cent organized and are ready to walk out in case a strike is called, officials of the union said. Switchboard operators, who officials say are well organized, number approximately twice as many as linemen, and will leave their boards at first strike orders, they declare.

There are about 250 telegraphers in and adjacent to Portland who will be affected if a strike is called.

SERVICES HELD FOR GOVERNOR

The services, Professor Roberts played softly on the church pipe organ. Dr. R. N. Avison, pastor of the church, delivered the funeral sermon, while Judge Wallace McCamant, who was appointed to the supreme court bench by the late governor, gave a short eulogy. Mrs. Hallie Parrish Durdall sang "One Sweetly Spleen Thought," accompanied on the piano by Miss Bernice Clark.

Cadet Band Plays
As the caasket was being removed from the church and the funeral procession wound its way to the cemetery the cadet band played softly. Services at the mausoleum were private.

The honorary pall bearers were Justice Wallace McCamant, Adjutant General Charles F. Beebe, Thomas H. Tongue, W. B. Ayer, Ben W. Olcott and Ralph W. Hoyt.

The active pallbearers were Harvey Wells, insurance commissioner; Chester Moores, private secretary to the late governor; H. J. Schullerman, corporation commissioner; Carl D. Shoemaker, state game warden; A. H. Lea, secretary of the state fair board, and Mark D. McCallister, employe in the corporation department.

By order of President Judge Stapleton, the circuit court took a recess from noon to 3 p. m. today in honor of the late Governor Withycombe, whose funeral services were held at Salem this afternoon. Judge Robert Tucker was designated as the court's representative to attend the funeral. County Clerk Beveridge and Sheriff Hurlburt each expressed a desire to close their offices, but couldn't do so because the day is not a legal holiday.

Special Train From Corvallis
Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, March 6.—A special train will convey a large delegation of townspeople, college faculty members and students and a military detail from the college to Salem for the funeral of Governor James Withycombe. The military detail will consist of the field staff, color guard, one company of men and the military band. Our R. O. T. C. men will leave for Salem on an early train to act in the capacity of guards while the body lies in state. President W. J. Kerr and a large number of faculty members will attend the funeral. A floral offering was sent to Salem by the faculty members.
