SEATTLE INTERESTS BUY COPPER MINES IN BAKER DISTRICT

Extensive Development Work Arranged For; Operations to Be Resumed.

Baker, March 6.—As a forerunner to the mining activity that seems certain in Baker county this year, an important copper deal was closed in this city Monday.

Charles Flanagan and Harry Quinn of the Flanagan & Quinn corporation of Seattle, acting for the corporation, purchased the Poorman group of copper mines situated on Balm creek, about 25 miles northeast of Baker...

The purchasers have incorporated under the name of the Hercules Copper Mines company. Extensive development by tunnel and shaft is planned and a force of miners is to start operations at once.

Quinn said the company had definitely arranged for the installation of the Jancy flotation system of ore treatment at the Highland. This system has a capacity of 200 tons of ore a day.

It is expected to have the flotation system installed by April. The present Dodge mill and Colorado rolls now on the property will be used in crushing the ore.

DATA COMPLETED ON UNFIT SOLDIERS

Figures Show How Development Battalion at Camp Lewis Worked Out Good Men.

Washington, March 6.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—The war department has completed data on men handled through the so-called development battalions, which were designed to receive men at the camps who were pronounced unfit for service, the most of whom could be returned to useful service if given time for "building up."

The figures of disqualification of men taken into the development battalions at Camp Lewis, Wash., show 210 held for foot conditions, 212 for mental troubles, 26 for functional heart conditions, 50 for venereal diseases, 628 for other physical defects, eight for non-speaking English, five illiterates, six morally unfit, 266 conscientious objectors, 869 enemy aliens, 498 other aliens—a total of 2788.

There were transferred out of development battalions at Camp Lewis 785 men, and 1825 men remained in them on November 30, to which date figures have been completed.

Stewart Funeral Held. Ilwaco, Wash., March 6.—Funeral services for Charles Ernest Stewart of Portland and Long Beach were held Wednesday, Rev. E. M. Landis officiating. Mr. Stewart died Monday from influenza. He was a son of the late Captain Stewart, for many years in charge of the coast guard station at Fort Canby, and was born in Ilwaco in 1902.

It is definitely known that a new plot is hatching in Germany to overthrow the republic and restore the monarchy.

Riddle State Bank Changes Owners; Officers Elected

Roseburg, March 6.—The Riddle State bank has been purchased by D. S. Beals and associates from F. W. Beyers and associates. At a meeting of the stockholders the following officers were elected: G. L. Grant, president; D. S. Beals, cashier, and Mary Riddle and D. F. Everett, directors, all residents of Riddle, and T. W. Johnson of Aumsville, Or., vice president. Those retiring from the bank are: F. W. Beyer, H. F. Beyer, F. D. Beyer and T. J. Ampsoker. Mr. Ampsoker was president, and F. W. Beyer cashier of the old company.

Men Who Set Pole Blamed

Roseburg, March 6.—Coroner M. E. Ritter investigated the death of B. F. Luleck, a Southern Pacific fireman, who met death at Cushman when a pole on which he was working fell into Booth lake. Luleck was strapped to the pole and was drowned, being unable to extricate himself. The coroner's jury decided that the pole was improperly set by inexperienced men. Luleck leaves a wife and seven children.

Dee Wright, Noted Ranger, Quits Forest Service for the Ranch

Dee Wright, one of the best-known forest rangers in the Northwest, has left the service to become a rancher. Mr. Wright notified the forest service of his resignation upon his return from Eugene, near where he recently leased a ranch. For a number of years he has been in charge of the Wapinitia, but he was transferred last fall to Cascade Locks, where he has been spending the winter in excavation and road repairing.

In Oregon's copper-mining days Dee Wright was a conspicuous figure and could lasso with the best of them. When the state became more civilized Dee Wright continued to be a conspicuous figure in outdoor life through his various feats. He became an expert packer, and in all other forms of woodcraft is equally proficient. Among his accomplishments of the last year was removing the surplus elk from the City park to Etowah last summer, and the riding to the summit of Mount Adams on horseback, accompanied by Mrs. Wright, on Labor day.

Naval Machinist Gives Cigarette to Albert of Belgium

New York, March 6.—To have King Albert of Belgium ask one for a cigarette is an honor that most men would appreciate. Byron Stowe, a warrant machinist in the naval air service, who arrived home Wednesday on the Sierra, achieved that distinction and is duly proud of it.

"I was in a captured German airplane at Knesselaere," said Stowe, "when a big plane landed and a tall, good looking chap stepped out. 'Got a cigarette?' he asked. I produced. Then he asked for a light and I handed him a match. He asked if I was an American. He told me he was a Belgian. I had heard about Albert, so took a chance and said, 'You're King Albert.' 'He grinned at that, and said, 'I'm Albert.'"
