

GERMAN INDUSTRY IS BEING REVIVED

People of Country Again Are Tilling Ground and Great Mantle of Green Covers Terrain.

By Julius B. Wood
(Exclusive Cable by Universal Service and the London Daily Express)

Berlin, March 21.—(Delayed).—Regardless of the fact that a certain proportion of Germany's metropolises would rather fight and kill than work, the people of the country are industrious. Today I rode 10 hours through a former unbroken country of freshly plowed fields. Garden patches were being spaded by women and children and the fertile pastures were turning green for the first time in the spring. There the slums of Germany's cities run red with blood other portions of the country are being clothed in a mantle of verdure. Being an abundant crop this year seems to be at the moment the uppermost thought in the minds of the sober citizens, whether they are national leaders of humble farmers.

Cultivation Is Intensive
Every effort is being turned in that direction. Through many miles of country I saw hardly a spot which was not being prepared for cultivation. Another striking characteristic of the country with France is the large number of men one sees working in the fields, though women and children are much more conspicuous than in similar scenes in America. While the country is not in a superficial glance seems to be well supplied with men, it is equally apparent that she lacks livestock, such as horses, cattle, sheep and pigs. It will not be possible to supply the source of food in a single season. Only one flock of sheep was seen and that consisted of not more than 30. The only other cattle seen were oxen used in pulling carts and plows and not a single dairy cow was visible.

Everywhere the few Americans coming into Germany are greeted with the same plea, "You must send us food or our babies will starve." This plea comes from the prosperous business man, conditions on the other side of the water in the hotels and clerks in the shops.

Industry Is Moving South
Coming through on the railroad from Coblenz, the headquarters of the American Third Army, by way of Cologne, where I boarded the through Spa train with the comfortable sleepers direct to Berlin, it was difficult to believe that this was a country which had endured war for four years. Industry seemed to be moving with unimpeded routine, though occasionally along the tracks are seen rusty cannon, barracks and different war industries. This unusual trip was arranged through the expedition headquarters, enabling me to take the first trip any correspondent had made over official routes. The same courtesy was shown to two officers and myself in American uniform who were taken to the German officers on the same train. "You are Americans and we don't dislike the Americans," said the man. "It was a mistake for Germany to have any submarines. They lost us the war by bringing in America."

I. W. W. Prisoners Throw Away Food

Topeka, Kan., March 21.—The 12 I. W. W. in the Shawnee county jail on trial last week in Wichita and which was postponed until September, are on a hunger strike, jail officials declared today. When food was brought to them, Sheriff Larimer said, they threw the food through the bars of the cells and destroyed the tin dishes. They threaten to complain to Washington, saying the food is unfit to eat. They told the jailer they were on a strike for 20 hours.

Postmasters for State Unconfirmed

Mobs in Petrograd Attack Red Leader

Washington, March 21.—(I. N. S.).—The social revolutionists are becoming very active in Moscow and Petrograd, and in the latter city the Bolshevik commissioner was mobbed when he attempted to address the people, according to advices reaching the state department from Finland Thursday afternoon.

Road Vote Almost Unanimous

Kimberly, Idaho, March 21.—(U. P.).—The vote in Kimberly for road bonds was 472 for the bonds to seven against. It is thought that some of the seven were cast against by mistake, as it seemed almost unanimous for good roads in this community.

That's nature calling for relief. Assist her in her daily duties with Dr. King's New Life Pills. Not a purgative in the usual dose, but a mild, effective, corrective laxative that tones the bowels into action and chases "blues." 25c.—Adv.

Worries Over War Increase Insanity

Baltimore, March 21.—(U. P.).—Prohibition, war worries and the income tax are held responsible by most persons here for the alarming increase in insanity. Statistics compiled by the state lunacy commission show a five per cent increase for the number of insane persons in the last two years.

Spiritualism Called Chicanery and Folly

Boston, March 21.—(I. N. S.).—Spiritualism and all forms of mediumistic apparatus to the dead were denounced as "utter folly, chicanery, trickery and sinful deceptions," by Cardinal O'Connell in a sermon of consolidation addressed to his friends and relatives of the heroes of Chateau-Thierry Thursday at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

INTERURBAN OFFICIALS JUSTIFY PASSES FOR FAMILY OF WORKERS

Complaint of Abuse of Free Transportation Privileges Declared Groundless.

Patrons of the Oregon Electric and other interurban lines running out of Portland have been complaining recently of the number of passes in use by employees of these roads and members of their families. The belief that passes are given as special favors or that their distribution is not in strict compliance with the laws of the state and rules of the United States railroad administration is erroneous, according to officials of the lines.

Section 286 of the constitutional and statutory provisions of the state of Oregon relating to permissible free transportation on railroads, provides that the roads may give free transportation or reduced rates to officials and employees and to their families. The same privilege is extended to the families of deceased railroad employees and to persons who have been disabled while in the service of a road and members of their families. Amended section 1 of the interstate commerce law makes almost identical provisions for the free transportation of employees and their families. According to officials of the Oregon Electric line free transportation to employees and their families is practically a portion of their pay in the sense that it is given to offset expense and inconvenience resulting from shifting employees from one location to another on the lines. Children of railroad employees wishing to continue school work at a distance from the present residence of their parents are given free transportation in many instances, say railway officials.

GEN. MAURICE SAYS LEAGUE OF NATIONS ONE HOPE FOR PEACE

British Staff Member Says His Nation Fought to Make War Impossible.

New York, March 21.—"The one thing that Great Britain fought for was to make war impossible; I think there is some hope of achieving that ideal through the League of Nations and no hope of achieving it in any other way." Major General Sir Frederick E. Maurice, director of military operations for the Imperial general staff of Great Britain from 1916 to 1918, so declared himself upon arriving from Halifax Wednesday. "In every country of Europe there is a division of opinion on the league," he continued. "It is wrong to say that Great Britain is unanimous for it, but I am quite convinced that the great majority is enthusiastically for it. It has been suggested ever here that the holding back of that enthusiasm is a Machiavellian policy historically attributed to Great Britain in that England is trying to seize the world and get the United States to share our possessions in the world. I am sure that nothing of the kind is influencing opinion in England. "If there had been a League of Nations in 1914 I think that a war would have been improbable. It is wholly impossible to devise a scheme to forbid war, but war can be made as difficult as possible. Once you have Germany reduced in armament to a definite minimum everyone else will reduce accordingly. I have great hope that if Germany and France get an interval of years in which there is no conscription and reduce armament a sure way to lose the habit of conscription. They will realize that more can be obtained through voluntary service without imposing a drain on the country. "The feeling in England is almost unanimous in being opposed to conscription, in fact conscription in England at the present time is a political impossibility." General Maurice was asked his opinion of why the German army cracked. "It was the yellow streak," he declared. "The Germans do not have the staying qualities of the French or the Anglo-Saxon."

Doing His Duty

"For two years I suffered agonizing pains in my stomach, belching up sour and bitter fluids and gas. Tongue always coated. Doctors were unable to help me. The first dose of May's Wonderful Remedy made me feel 100 per cent better, and I am now feeling better than at any time in my life. I deem it my duty to advise other sufferers. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Druggists everywhere.—Adv.
