QUESTIONS ASKED BY RECRUITS FOR ARMY ANSWERED Representative List Prepared by Recruiting Officer for Information of Fighting Men. LIST IS COMPREHENSIVE Pay, Chances of Foreign Travel, Retirement and All Other Phases Thoroughly Covered. In the drive just inaugurated by the army to get 10,000 recruits to take the places of men overseas many questions are asked by men who are considering enlistment. They want to know how much pay they can get, what chances are offered for seeing the world, what chances they may have for schooling, etc. The local recruiting office, with headquarters in the Worcester building at Third and Oak streets, in charge of Colonel Samuel A. Kephart, has prepared a list of representative questions and answers for the guidance of prospective recruits, as follows: Q. Will I get overseas? A. Fifty thousand volunteers are being enlisted for immediate service abroad to relieve the army of occupation. Q. Can previous service men enlist for one year? A. They are the only ones who may enlist for one year. Q. Do I get examined here? A. Preliminary examinations are given at the recruiting station here. The man then goes to Fort McDowell, Calif. for "acceptance examination." Q. Do I get a month's furlough if I enlist? A. If, upon being discharged, you re-enlist the next day, a month's furlough and travel allowance of 5 cents per mile is given. Q. Do I get the $50 bonus if I re-enlist? A. Yes. Q. Do I get 20 per cent extra for foreign service pay if I go overseas? A. Yes. Q. What pay does a man get on retirement? A. Three-fourths of the pay of the grade held, for the rest of his life, and in addition $15.75 allowance for commutation of clothing, rations, quarters, heat and light for the rest of his life. Q. Can I become an officer? A. Ninety enlisted men are picked annually to go to the United States Military Academy at West Point. Enlisted men, properly qualified, may also become officers right from the ranks. Q. What educational advantages does the army offer? A. Education is a prominent feature of army life. Men who have not had the advantages of any extensive schooling will find in the army facilities for acquiring a good education. At all posts there are schools for the instruction of enlisted men in grammar, arithmetic, geography, history, algebra and trigonometry studies comprised in a common school course. These schools are exclusively for the benefit of enlisted men, affording facilities which a soldier may lay the foundation for a higher or technical and advanced mechanical education, which can be acquired in the special service schools. Attendance at any of these schools is optional with the soldier. Q. Can a man still get life insurance in the army? A. Yes—the army offers to the enlisted man the cheapest and the best life insurance in the world. Q. What branch of the service offers good vocational training? A. The air service needs and trains men for 41 different skilled trades, for example, as radio operators, cabinet makers, electricians, vulcanizers, welders, plumbers, saddlers, etc. The coast artillery corps trains men to become electrical sergeants, telephone repair and line men, etc. The motor transport corps needs and trains men as chauffeurs, auto-mechanics, and for a number of other skilled trades. The signal corps trains men as wireless operators, telegraphers, etc. The cavalry and field artillery train men in blacksmithing, as wheelwrights, saddlers, etc. Q. I am 46; am I too old to enlist? A. No. The enlistment age is from 18 to 66 years. The older men are assigned to the staff corps and departmental duties. Q. How about advancement? A. One fifth of the enlisted men in the army are non-commissioned officers, and there are constantly occurring vacancies due to discharges and promotion to higher grades. Enlisted men who are ambitious and good soldiers get promoted and get more pay. The auxiliary recruiting stations for the Oregon district are: Second and Burnside streets, Portland; Corporal Clyde G. Hall, G. S. I., in charge. Aberdeen, 218 1/2 Heron street; Sergeant William H. Schuster, G. S. I., in charge. Astoria, 543 Commercial street; Private Walter W. Siles, G. S. I., in charge. Grants Pass, 202 1/2 Sixth street; Corporal Paul Bauer, G. S. I., in charge. Eugene, 717 Williams street; Sergeant Frank Harvey, G. S. I., in charge. Baker, 2055 Main street; Corporal Michael S. Washonak, G. S. I., in charge. The Dalles, 205 1/2 Second street; Sergeant Elbert L. French, G. S. I., in charge. Salem, Corporal Arthur T. Toy, G. S. I., in charge. Fishes Above Ladder; Youth Is Fined $25 Stewart Taylor of Douglas county was arrested last week by P. H. Harrington, deputy game warden, while fishing above the 200-foot line at the fish ladder on Winchester dam in Rogue river. Taylor was taken to Roseburg and fined $25 for this offense and for having salmon under size in his possession. Taylor had a box partly filled with salmon, many of them under four inches. When the warden approached him he threw the box in the river in an attempt to destroy the evidence. He is under 21 years of age and was allowed to keep his fishing tackle. Irish to Become Gobs Cork, April 19.—(I. N. S.)—Thousands of Irish youths along the south coast are talking of going to America and joining the United States navy. As sailors they should be unequalled. For generations their fathers have lived and got their daily bread by the sea. They would be adaptable to the navy with little training, for they have been drilling for months.
