

WOMEN'S DIVISION DOING GOOD WORK IN LOAN CAMPAIGN

Excellent Progress and Growing Enthusiasm Reported in Canvass of Residential Sections. WEST SIDE WELL COVERED Lack of Workers Hampers Progress in East Side Districts; Volunteers Are Called For.

The women's division of the Victory loan campaign reports excellent progress and growing enthusiasm in the city-wide canvass of the residential sections who are serving in the 15 districts into which this big territory on both sides of the river has been divided. On Thursday a team of six women, working from an automobile in a west side district, was out three hours and brought in a total of $100. They reported a splendid response, many of the homes visited having checks already made out for their subscriptions and eagerly awaiting the arrival of the collectors. Throughout the west side section, which is divided into five general districts, the canvass is in full swing, but on the east side, where the big territory has been divided into 10 districts, the canvass is not so far under way, owing to a shortage of workers. More workers are being added to the canvassing forces as fast as they can be secured, and Mrs. Charles E. Curry, city chairman, is making an earnest appeal for women to assist in their own precincts. Mrs. Curry also asks anyone who knows of any precinct not being canvassed to report the precinct number to her at Marshall 1400, or at the rooms of the Maama club, on the second floor of the Northwestern Bank building.

ADDRESSES SWISS AND SWEDES Mrs. Sarah A. Evans Thursday night addressed an enthusiastic audience of Swiss and Swedish patriots in Swines hall at the request of a committee of this contingent, who wished the details of the Victory loan bonds explained. The hall was crowded and an enthusiastic patriotic spirit was shown by the assemblage. The committee in charge of the women's division has received a telegram from Mrs. A. S. Baldwin, women's chairman for the twelfth federal reserve district at San Francisco, congratulating them upon the splendid organization and excellent progress of the work in Portland. Through frequent letters and programs, Mrs. Baldwin has kept in touch with the organization work of the local committee, and the telegram was an appreciation of the splendid work being done.

BRINGS IN BIG SUBSCRIPTION Three young soldiers, one of them in Portland on sick leave, are assisting in the office work of the women's division. A bright spot in the progress of the women's division's drive was the appearance of a young man, a member of an east side citizen with an $18,000 subscription, which he wished credited to the precinct workers in his district. He was just leaving the city for a two-week absence, and said that he wished to save the collector the trouble of repeated calls at his residence, and to see that she was credited with the subscription.

Section Hand Finds Wife and Baby Dead in Box Car Home

Spokane, April 25.—(U. P.)—"My husband no longer loves me," read a note found lying beside a bed on which Massareno Cleci, Italian section laborer, found the dead body of his wife, Myrtle, 48, and their six-month-old baby, in a converted box car home, 21 miles east of Spokane, on the Milwaukee railroad, last night. The baby had been shot just back of the right ear. The mother was shot through the mouth into the brain. A .32 revolver lay between the pair. The mother was still clasping the baby to her when found. There was a blood-stained Bible on the bed. Mrs. Cleci was a Spokane high school girl, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Leonard of this city. She eloped with Cleci and 17, much against the wishes of her mother. "I have lived to see all my alicreasts topple to the dust," read the note.

SMALL BOYS HELPING TO PUT VICTORY LOAN FUND 'OVER THE TOP'

Newsies, Messengers and Delivery Boys Buying Bonds From Own Earnings.

Noticeable among the steady stream of bond purchasers at Victory loan headquarters is the large number of small boys, each of whom quietly walks in and deposits $5 in small, hard earned coins as the first payment on a $50 bond. These youngsters are from the ranks of the city's newsboys, messengers and delivery boys, and they are all thoroughly imbued with the spirit of helping to "finish the job."

Among yesterday's bond purchasers was 12-year-old Max Robin of 240 Yamhill street, a manly little chap who proposes to earn every cent of the $50 price of the bond he pledged himself to buy. Because Max has suffered losses through holes in his pockets, by thoughtlessly turning handkerchiefs and in many other ways peculiar to small boys, he has learned caution, so he now keeps his savings at home in a toy bank. Max made two trips to headquarters, the first one to find out all the details involved in doing business with Uncle Sam and the second to actually deposit the first 10 per cent payment on his bond. Max earned his money by selling Sunday papers and by delivering groceries after school during the week.

WOMEN WILL MEET TO PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR TEACHERS' BILL

Portland Federation Favors Initiative Measure for Increase in Salaries.

One hundred representative women from the committee of education of the Portland Federation of Women's Organizations will meet at Portland hotel at noon Saturday at a luncheon to plan participation in the campaign in support of the teachers' salary measure which will be voted upon at the school election May 16. Mrs. S. M. Blumauer will preside at the luncheon and among the speakers will be Mrs. Alexander Thompson, representative in the legislature, from Hood River, and D. A. Groat, superintendent of schools, and other prominent speakers from out of town.

This meeting will be followed by a series of neighborhood meetings of women, in which the grounds for the request for an increase in salary will be made clear to as many voting women as possible, and support of all women's organizations in the city will be enlisted. The point that the Citizens' Educational league, which is handling the campaign, is trying to bring before the people is the fact that while the measure apparently calls for 30 per cent increase in wages for teachers, as a matter of fact teachers' salaries have not been increased in the two years past, while the actual purchasing power of a dollar has fallen off 30 per cent and more. On this basis the plea the league holds, is not for increase of salary, but for protection to the teachers against

Hospital Unit 167 Will Make Stop at Home City, La Grande

The part of field hospital No. 167 assigned to Camp Lewis for demobilization will be halted on its western journey at La Grande, the home of many of its members, for a public reception at the request of Congressman N. J. Sinnott. In response to his efforts the war department Thursday morning wired Congressman Sinnott that a commanding officer will notify the mayor of La Grande by wire the definite date of arrival as soon as the routing is determined.
