WILSON ASKS DEFECTIVE BRAKES FAIL; GIRL KILLED

Car Cannot Be Stopped by Bank Clerk and Little Child Is Carried Under Wheel.

Defective brakes on a 5-year-old second-hand automobile caused the death, Sunday afternoon, of Ruth Alice Lenon, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lenon, of 1242 East Harrison street, who was knocked down and run over by a car driven by D. H. Beck, a clerk employed in the United States National bank. Beck was arrested by Patrolman Schad, and was formally charged with driving a car with defective brakes. He was released on his wn recognizance. The child, accompanied by her mother, had stepped from the curb to board a Sunnyside car at East Forty-eighth and Belmont streets. Beck, driving east on Belmont, explains that he sounded his horn, and attempted to call to the mother and child to get out of his way. They failed to hear or respond to his warnings, the car struck the child, knocked her down, and one wheel passed over her head. She was taken to the Portland sanitarium, which was nearby, but died soon after reaching the hospi-

Police who arrived on the scene placed Beck under arrest, and took his car as vidence against him. Tests of the working of the machine brought out the fact that the brakes were defective and failed to grip properly. Beck, who was discharged from the navy recently, declares that he bought the second-hand machine several weeks ago, and has been putting in all his spare time overhauling it. He did not repair the brakes, he said, and realized that they were not working properly. With Beck in the car at the time of the accident were Philip and Virginia Hill of 181 East Twelfth street. Beck was on his way from his home to the Portland sanitarium, where his mother is dangerously sick. According to the police, he was not driving at an excessive rate of speed when the accident occurred.

DESPITE HIGH COST PRICES, CITY GETTING MORE PROFIT ON FINES

Marshall Hooper, from the state bank Judge Rossman Figures City Is Netting 90 Cents Out of Each Dollar Assessed.

> The present sort of "crime" committed by those who frequent the city of Portland, or who live within its borders, is less expensive to handle in the municipal court than the old sort which occurred in the days when John Barleycorn lived unbridled within the city limits. At least Judge Rossman says it is 69 cents cheaper now, even with the increased cost of living and other expenses, to send a man to jail or to abstract a Judge Rossman entered upon his pres> ent duties in August, 1917. During the year following he handled 13,092 cases and imposed $86,223 in fines. The salaries of the judge, two court clerks, stenographers and city attorney and the expenses of the court for the year totaled $8900, leaving a profit balance of $77,323. This means that out of every dollar taken in by the court, 90 cents was profit for the city and 10 cents was used to defray the court expenses. Dividing the total court expense, $8900, by the number of cases, 13,092, the cost per case to the city during the year was 68 cents. Under the administration preceding, the court says the cost per case was $1.37. "Efficiency and economy," says Judge Rossman, "are my watchwords."

Rev. Mr. Simpson's death he immediately cancelled a series of Sunday en-gagements and hastened to the Simpson home at Estacada.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 at St. Marks church and will be the inspiration for a notable concourse of churchmen and others. Requiems will be sung at 7 and again at 7:30 Tuesday morning. It is expected that the body will be at the church this evening. Buriel will be made at Riverview cemetery. Plans to delay funeral arrangements for the arrival of the son, John E., Jr., who is with the navy in the east, were withdrawn.

Californians will vote July 1 on a constitutional amendment providing for $40,000,000 state highway bond issue.
