other commodifies marketed here were lower to-day, following the sensational break of yesterday in the grain market. On the Chicago Board of Trade corn futures opened from 2c to & lower than the close of Tuesday. The drop yesterday was from 10c to 11c. The break in grains, taken by food experts to mean a general loosening all along the line, was charged to an announcement from the food administration that the government will resell administration that the government will resemsome of its flour holdings to prevent further advances in flour prices.

Julius Barnes, president of the Grain corporation, later issued a statement to the effect that advances in flour prices had been unjustified and that export purchases would be disconfied and that export purchases would be discon-sinued for so long a period as necessary. Grain men expected their market to rally after some further losses today. Leaders on the board of trade said, however, they believe the peak was reached in the 63c gain corn had made since January 1. They predicted a gen-cral lowering of food prices as a result of the grain break.

Fruit and Grain Crops Favorable, Says Weather Man

Edward L. Wells of the Portland office of the weather bureau advises:

The weather of the wex was generally favorable for farm work and for the growth of crops. The temperature averaged slightly above normal, but there were several cold nights, and some frost occurred. There was considerable cloudiness, particularly in the western counties, and some rain fell, but the soil was generally in better condition to be worked than at any previous time this season, and farm work made rapid progress. Farming operations are still backward over most of Western Oregon, but are fairly well up to date in the central and eastern counties. There is still some complaint of shortage of farm labor.

Winter wheat, rye and oats continue to make good progress. Some low fields in the Williamette valley are showing pellow but the condition is not serious. Winter wheat is in the boot in Douglas county and rye is headed in the milder parts of the state. Seeding of spring wheat, barley and cats continues. The soil is generally in good condition and germination is satisfactory, though growth is rather slow, Plowing for corn is in progress and some corn has been planted. An increased acreage of corn is expected.

The general outlook for fruit is excellent. been planted. An increased acreage of corn is expected.

The general outlook for fruit is excellent. Some local damage has been done to all kinds of fruit by frost, and cold rain has interfered with pollenation in some cases, but this applies to a very limited acreage. Peaches, plums, cherries, and pears are well set. Prunes are setting well. Apples are in full bloom in most of the commercial districts. Spraying is well in hand. Extensive plantings of strawberries and logan. Conditions have been particularly favorable for grass and hay crops. Alfalfa is 12 inches high in Umatilla county. Vetch is doing well. Stock continues to make good gains. The percentage of lambs is highly satisfactory. Sheering of sheep and gouts is nearing completion in Douglas county.

Planting of potatoes and garden vegetables is becoming general as the soil dries. Early gar-dun vegetables are growing fairly well. Some early potatoes are up.

Nebraska Wheat Hurt Lincoln, Neb., April 30.—(U. P.)—Reports of a rather serious condition of winter wheat in some parts of Nebraska are being received at the agronomy department of the Nebraska college of agriculture, due to a week of cloudy, damp weather. Rapid growth of the grain has caused it to fall to the ground and mat. In such cases the department advises mowing to insure a new growth.
