OPPING an excellent bill at the Pantages this week is the headline at-ction, "Miss 1920," an array of elabate scenery with an interspersion of tractive women and men, who have the and songs popping in rapid sucon. With little Miss Eva Warden ing graceful dances, assisted by a rus clad in various costumes, the it would go alone. It has in addition, wever, several other persons in the who enliven the presentation. Roller skating in all the approved tyles and also in styles that are enrely novel, McLallen and Carson prent some clever and remarkable stunts, xed with sparkling wit. Their offerincludes some very difficult steps dancing on skates. The Weston sisters, with their musical ctions, won a round of applause, and urry and Voelk have an entertaining ue and pleasing songs. Miss Irene revette presents a group of high class ngs in French, English and Italian, in pleasant and expert manner.

Singer Sells Kiss At Million Per

New York, May 6 .- (I. N. S.) -- Someone down at Washington blundered when they didn't get the luscious lips of Mme. Meanor De Cisneros, opera star, into the Victory loan campaign earlier. They call Brooklyn, "the city of churches," but Brooklynites feil over emselves taking kisses from Mme. Cisneros at a $1,000,000,000 Victory band apiece, The opera star sold 23 at that price, including one to an 85-year-old to Rev. Sparkes Cadman, who said it was a shame the bankers got all the kisses while the preachers had to go to Heaven for their reward. Her sales nut Brooklyn "over the top."

And the villagers standing about nodded their heads in affirmation. LEGEND IS OLD

The story of the Wandering Jew is one of the oldest legends of the Christian world. It has been told and retold in many different forms. In the Middle Ages it was believed implicitly and numerous persons told of encountering the doomed wanderer. In the later centuries the Wandering Jew has furnished material for numerous writers. But when they same to the surface, to get a breath of air, the big hailstones hit them on the noses, and hurt them terribly. And the ittle people were all yelling and scampering for their houses, to get away from the cutting htailstones.

And the storm continued for many hours; and after the hailstorm, the rain escended in bucketsful. The little peoole had been working, or hunting, or playing all night, and they were very tired and sleepy. So all went to bed, to get some sleep during the big rain As the rain fell in torrents, Murmuring Brook got full of water, and poured its rushing waters into Mirror Pond. The new and higher dam, which the Beavers had built, held the waters, until Mirror Pond grew bigger and bigger, and it looked like a big lake. The high water began to run into the front doors of Dick and Betsy Otter's new house, into the front hall of the houses of Benny Mink and Sammy Muskrat, and into the bedrooms of all the little peowaters of Mirror Pond. It did certainly look as if the little people would be drowned in their little houses. You see, Sammy Muskrat was to blame for their danger, as he had forgotten his promise to tell all the little people of the Beavers' higher dam, and of their plan to have a bigger and the bedrooms, where the little people deeper Mirror, Pond.
