

OREGON PROPOSED AS TRAINING SHIP FOR YOUNG MEN OF STATE

J. A. Hill Suggests That Famous Fighting Craft Be Under Academy's Supervision.

With the idea of bringing the battleship Oregon to Portland harbor as a permanent relic of the state for use as a naval training ship under the direction of the Hill Military Academy, J. A. Hill, vice president of the academy, has wired the most recent suggestion for disposition of the famous fighting craft to Governor Daniels, secretary of the navy, and to Senator McNary.

Under the supervision of the academy, according to Mr. Hill's plan, navy training would be provided for the greatest good to the greatest number of Oregon boys.

Plans for a naval establishment in America will require the training of a large number of young men, Mr. Hill points out, and such training can best be provided by a disinterested agency equipped especially for the tasks at hand.

"The proposal to junk the Oregon is not countenanced here, I believe, in spite of the desire in some quarters to have the name of the state emblazoned on a super-dreadnaught," Mr. Hill said. "The Oregon has had a notable history and the finest super-dreadnaught the world could provide at the time it was built could no more be the real Oregon than could a dreadnaught be the Maine.

"There is apt to be politics in the management of the ship if it is turned over as a training ship under state control, and it is to obviate this possibility that I have suggested to Washington the selection of the academy to take charge of the ship and to direct the courses of training that will be centered about the craft. It would not be the idea to profit in any way from our direction of the work, but to act as a responsible directing agency and to maintain the Oregon as a permanent memorial for the state.

"It is not probable that the navy will build a dreadnaught in the near future entitled to carry the name of the state, and even if such a ship is built it cannot take the place of the Oregon. We need a training ship here, and this is our chance."

Secretary Daniels is still in Europe, and until his return nothing will be done toward disposing of the Oregon. In the meantime Senator McNary will do everything possible to prepare the way for bringing the Oregon to Portland.

Bomb Exploded at Chicago Residence

Chicago, May 12.—(U. P.)—Police hunted persons responsible for the explosion of a bomb on the steps of the home of Michael Reedy, president of the Chicago Central Laborers' union association, here today. The bomb was a "home made" affair and did little damage. Police believe there is some reason to believe that the bomb was the work of William Marchand, a teaming union worker, Sunday.

For professional entertainers, a portable dressing room, made of fabric stretched over a folding frame, has been patented.

A REMEDY FOR DIZZY SPELLS AND HEADACHE Weakness Following Attack of Grip Relieved by Building Up the Blood

There are many people who cannot plan a day's work or a few hours' pleasure ahead, for they never know at what hour they will be seized by sick headache and forced to go to bed. Sometimes the pain can be deadened by powerful drugs, but this treatment does not correct the cause. Sick and nervous headaches are frequently caused by weak blood and treatment which enriches the blood, enabling it to carry nourishment to the nerves, will give relief.

This is demonstrated by the experience of Mrs. F. L. Leach of No. 823 Missouri avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

"A year ago I had my third attack of pneumonia and recently I suffered from an attack of grip," she says. "I was very weak and nervous and subject to terrible headaches. I was unable to sleep and was subject to dizzy spells that became so severe at times that I would be forced to take hold of something to keep from fainting. My appetite was poor and what I ate didn't seem to give me any relief.

"A relative had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit and he recommended them to me. In a few days I felt so much better than I continued the treatment. My appetite is excellent now and I have gained strength. I no longer have headaches or dizzy spells and feel better than I have for years. I can confidently recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for six bottles. Write today for the free booklet on nervous disorders.—Adv.

Get Back Your Grip On Health NUXATED IRON MASTER STRENGTH-BUILDER OF THE BLOOD Helps Make Strong, Sturdy Men and Healthy, Beautiful Women 2,500,000 People Use It Annually

Ton Per Mile Rate To Be Explained to Farmers of Montana Frank J. Randall, assistant secretary of the stock commission, will represent Portland at a meeting of Montana farmers in Great Falls Thursday. He will leave for Montana tonight in response to a message pleading the support of Montana to the Columbia river case, which reads as follows: "Thursday this week state convention farmers to unite all farmers' organizations in the United Farmers of Mon-

AMERICANS DECORATE EDITH CAVELL'S GRAVE

American Red Cross delegates are shown in the act of placing wreaths of flowers on the grave of Edith Cavell, the martyred British nurse. From left to right in the group are Lieutenant C. E. Kelly, Lieutenant C. A. Frazer, Lieutenant John Chaffee, C. A. Vance and Lieutenant H. E. Dubois.

MRS. UNA H. JAMES DIES AFTER ILLNESS OF SEVERAL MONTHS

Funeral for Portland Woman Will Be Held on Thursday Afternoon.

Mrs. Una H. James, wife of A. W. James, of 846 Glenn avenue, died this morning at the Portland Medical hospital after an illness of several months. Mrs. James was 55 years of age, a native of Missouri and had resided in Portland for the past 10 years. She is survived by her husband and her father, George T. Hunter, of St. Joseph, Mo. Funeral services will be at the Finley chapel, Thursday at 2:30, and final services will be held in Riverview cemetery.

Henry Hill, aged 84, a native of Indiana, and a veteran of the First Oregon Volunteer Infantry during the Civil War, died Sunday at the Soldiers' home in Orting, Wash. Henry Hill came to Portland with his father, Elijah Hill, in 1847, and was the first "printer's devil" in Portland, entering the employment of T. J. Dryer of the Oregonian with his first issue in 1850. He followed printing until typesetting machines were introduced. About 10 years ago Mr. Hill retired from active life.

William L. Vaughn, a well known stock man of Lane county, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Monday at the age of 60. He was born at Coburg, Ore., and came to Portland for medical treatment from his residence in Eugene. He has a son, Wally Vaughn, at Honolulu. His father, Floyd Vaughn, resides in Eugene. The body had been forwarded to Eugene for funeral services.

William L. Vaughn, a well known stock man of Lane county, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Monday at the age of 60. He was born at Coburg, Ore., and came to Portland for medical treatment from his residence in Eugene. He has a son, Wally Vaughn, at Honolulu. His father, Floyd Vaughn, resides in Eugene. The body had been forwarded to Eugene for funeral services.

William L. Vaughn, a well known stock man of Lane county, died at the Good Samaritan hospital Monday at the age of 60. He was born at Coburg, Ore., and came to Portland for medical treatment from his residence in Eugene. He has a son, Wally Vaughn, at Honolulu. His father, Floyd Vaughn, resides in Eugene. The body had been forwarded to Eugene for funeral services.

Alien Slackers, Now War's Over, Seeking Citizenship Papers

"Alien slackers who refused to take out naturalization papers during the war are taking them out now in order to hold their jobs," says V. W. Tomlinson, of the naturalization bureau. "These aliens are holding a great many desirable positions. And many returned soldiers are without jobs while these slackers who consider America not good enough to fight for, are enjoying the fruits of the sacrifices."

"A number of these aliens have lived here for years and have families. Even as citizens they could have secured exemption from military service. But only when there is a possibility of deportation will they take out their naturalization papers."

"Employers can do great service by examining the records of their employees and where aliens are found replace them with returned soldiers."

Poster Painting Romance Leads to Wedding in East

Newark, N. J., May 12.—(I. N. S.)—"For home and country, the Victory loan poster painted by Alfred Everett Orr, won him a bride, it was learned today. The bride was Ruth Wickoff, beautiful Los Angeles girl, who posed as the wife in the poster.

Miss Wickoff was visiting in the East shortly before the last loan campaign began. She conceived the "For Home and Country" design and suggested it to Orr, who promptly picked her as his model. Friendship ripened into love while he was painting and they were married last Saturday. They will live in Los Angeles.

ROLL OF HONOR

ARMY CASUALTIES KILLED IN ACTION CORPORAL RAYMOND B. CUTTS, Amarillo, Texas. PRIVATE GEORGE CRAIG, Schofield, Va. DIED OF WOUNDS PRIVATE JOSEPH SULLIVAN, Newark, Ohio. FRANK E. SAWICKI, Racine, Wisconsin. MISSING IN ACTION PRIVATE WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, Philadelphia, Pa. WILLIAM T. KELLY, Dorchester, Mass. FREDERICK J. BUSH, Boston, Mass. KILLED IN ACTION, PREVIOUSLY REPORTED WOUNDED SEVERELY CORPORAL JOSEPH L. MOORE, Branch, Tenn. DAVID W. NEARY, St. Paul, Minn. KILLED IN ACTION, PREVIOUSLY REPORTED WOUNDED (DEGREE UNDETERMINED) PRIVATE RAYMOND V. ELLIOTT, Winston-Salem, N. C. GEORGE E. HARCOURT, Holland, Va. KILLED IN ACTION, PREVIOUSLY REPORTED WOUNDED PRIVATE LIEUTENANT ENGINEER J. IRISH, Asbury, N. C. SERGEANT ROY N. HOCKENBERRY, East Waterford, Pa. PRIVATE ALBIN ALBERT ALBRECHT, Buffalo, N. Y. EDIE J. S. BAUER, Holstein, Iowa. STAN GIBERT, Toluca, Kovra, Russia. ELMER W. HARRIS, Milledgeville, Ga. CHARLES F. KRUSE, Jerseyville, Ill. MARY A. McFARLAND, Rio, Ohio.

Poster Painting Romance Leads to Wedding in East

Newark, N. J., May 12.—(I. N. S.)—"For home and country, the Victory loan poster painted by Alfred Everett Orr, won him a bride, it was learned today. The bride was Ruth Wickoff, beautiful Los Angeles girl, who posed as the wife in the poster.

Miss Wickoff was visiting in the East shortly before the last loan campaign began. She conceived the "For Home and Country" design and suggested it to Orr, who promptly picked her as his model. Friendship ripened into love while he was painting and they were married last Saturday. They will live in Los Angeles.

Employers can do great service by examining the records of their employees and where aliens are found replace them with returned soldiers."

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE DOES BETTER DESPITE REDUCTION IN STAFF

Big Increase Over the Previous Month Shown Though Payroll 80 Per Cent Less.

With its payroll reduced nearly 80 per cent through the failure of congress to make necessary appropriations, the United States Employment service in Oregon is placing more people at work than it did before the reduction.

During the four weeks ending May 5, the employment service placed 7900 men and 760 women, a total of 8669 persons, in positions. During the four weeks ending March 22, when the office was running with a full staff, positions were found for 8224 men and 613 women, a total of 7337.

Three hundred persons a day, on the average, are securing work through the federal employment service in Oregon. Some 10,000 persons a week pass through the doors of the Portland office.

Until March 22, when the support of the federal employment service in Oregon was cut off, there were 55 employees with a monthly payroll of $7738. There are now 19 employees with a monthly payroll of $2188. In Portland, agencies outside the employment service pay the salaries of 40 employees, thereby helping maintain the offices at Third and Oak, Second and Davis, Liberty temple and the Women's division in the Lewis building.

At the time the government appropriation failed, branch offices were being maintained at government expense in Astoria, Salem, Medford, Pendleton, Roseburg, Marshfield, La Grande, Baker and Vancouver, Wash. Except in Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver, these offices are now being maintained at the expense of the several communities. The Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver offices have been closed, but plans are being made to reopen the Roseburg office, its employees to be paid through contributions from the citizens of that community.

At one time the city of Portland maintained a free employment office for men and women at a cost of about $1200 a year, but it has turned this work over to the federal employment bureau on a cooperative basis, the city paying $250 a month toward the cost of the service.

Early spring is the time to burn slash, according to F. H. Brundage, supervisor of the Columbia national forest, who is trying to impress upon loggers the importance of removing this fire hazard at a time of the year when it may be burned without spreading to adjacent timber and without destroying the seed which is deposited in the fine duff on the surface of the ground.

Mr. Brundage has just returned from Wind river district, where he superintended the burning of slash by a logging company which is cutting 250,000 board feet of timber a week and feeding it to sawmills at Cascade Locks. Under government contract all timber logged in the national forests must be removed according to certain prescribed specifications, including the removal of fire hazard and the protection of the timber for future crop. The logging service aims to keep the slash burned up as close to the logging operations as possible because it eliminates fire hazard.

The rush season at the Wind river nursery is practically ended, according to Mr. Brundage, all the necessary stocks for replanting in the various national forests having been supplied.

Permits Show More Building in Portland Many for Residences

Among the building permits issued at the City Hall Monday seven were for residences aggregating $25,500 in value. The largest was issued to Dr. E. M. Johnson for a residence to be erected at 125 East 28th st. at a cost of $7000. The Pacific Building company will erect a residence at 410 East 52d st. valued at $3300. George Hack secured a permit to build a $3200 house at 723 East 68th, and T. C. Miner, J. Agnew, R. S. McFarland and E. J. Cliff-

PORTLAND AID ASKED ON STATE GUARANTEE OF IRRIGATION BONDS

Madras Man Tells Business Men Success of Irrigation Very Important Matter.

Does Portland want to see bountiful crops every year in the Central Oregon plateau region or will it indifferently let the federal government expend its money on development in the great region are reaping the harvest of arduous toil only once every four or five years?

Harry W. Gard of Madras, president of the North Unit Irrigation project, representative of the settlers who have endured hardship and disappointment in the waiting for irrigation, appealed to the members' forum of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon for the sympathy and cooperation which will bring nearer the goal of their desires.

"Far more important to Portland than the shiftdays is the success of irrigation in Oregon," declared Mr. Gard. "The success of the North Unit alone would add $25,000,000 of taxable property to the city of Portland. The city should add directly to the business of Portland."

Mr. Gard petitioned support of the measure proposing a state guarantee of the interest on irrigation bonds issued by districts which are controlled by their own settlers and not by absentee owners. Captain Jacob Kessler, Chaplain Gilbert and Lieutenant T. H. Boyd were speakers.

Frost-Bitten Fruit Will Be Destroyed

Forty-four cases of oranges in the warehouse of the Pacific Fruit and Produce company in the city which have been destroyed by Federal Judge Bean this morning upon presentation of evidence that the fruit was frost-bitten and unfit for human consumption. The libel was brought by Assistant United States Attorney Barnett H. Goldstein.

A new device to prevent automobile theft is a combination lock that controls all the electrical equipment of a car.

Good-Bye Wood and Good-Bye Coal

No more dirty hands, no more smoke, no odor. See the Cooking Demonstration on your kitchen range, cook stove or heater. Simple to install, easy to handle and inexpensive to operate. Just the ideal thing for your summer home and camping parties. Heat the water in the tank, the oven and the top—at one operation.

In the sanctified gloom of England's great cathedral a special memorial service will be sung. After the service the casket will be taken through London's hushed streets to Liverpool Street station, where it will be placed upon a specially prepared car for transportation to Norwich.

Details of the final ceremony at Norwich cathedral have not yet been arranged, but it is hinted that a representative of the king and queen will be present, and that the solemn burial service will be one of the greatest ecclesiastical spectacles that England has seen in many years.

Special Tomb Will Hold Nurse's Remains

London, May 12.—Edith Cavell, the nurse, whose heroism and final execution by the Germans was one of the great rallying cries of Britain during the war, will be buried in a special place tomorrow. She is to lie in a specially prepared tomb in Norwich, which is the coolest and most dignified of places in which she was born and spent her girlhood.

Through the efforts of the Anglo-Belgian cemetery in Belgium, which has done such unselfish work since 1914 in providing for Belgian refugees, final arrangements for the last hours to be paid the heroic nurse have been completed.

At first it was designed that her body, from its temporary grave in Belgium, should be reinterred in Swardston churchyard at Norwich, this being the parish where her father had been buried for many years and in which Edith Cavell was born. She was baptised at the little church at Swardston in the choir there during her girlhood.

But public sentiment has dictated that for one whose name has been written on the walls of Britain's cathedrals, nothing less than the final burial in the diocesan cathedral is fitting, that this tomb may remain a shrine for patriotic Englishmen and Englishwomen to visit for time to come.

Miss Cavell's body, already disinterred from its temporary grave in Belgium, will be brought from Ostend to Dover on a British warship tomorrow. There it will be met by a military guard of honor and conveyed by train to Victoria station. At the station a full regiment of troops will be drawn up to pay honor and to escort the casket to Westminster Abbey.

At first it was designed that her body, from its temporary grave in Belgium, should be reinterred in Swardston churchyard at Norwich, this being the parish where her father had been buried for many years and in which Edith Cavell was born. She was baptised at the little church at Swardston in the choir there during her girlhood.

But public sentiment has dictated that for one whose name has been written on the walls of Britain's cathedrals, nothing less than the final burial in the diocesan cathedral is fitting, that this tomb may remain a shrine for patriotic Englishmen and Englishwomen to visit for time to come.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE DOES BETTER DESPITE REDUCTION IN STAFF

Big Increase Over the Previous Month Shown Though Payroll 80 Per Cent Less.

With its payroll reduced nearly 80 per cent through the failure of congress to make necessary appropriations, the United States Employment service in Oregon is placing more people at work than it did before the reduction.

During the four weeks ending May 5, the employment service placed 7900 men and 760 women, a total of 8669 persons, in positions. During the four weeks ending March 22, when the office was running with a full staff, positions were found for 8224 men and 613 women, a total of 7337.

Three hundred persons a day, on the average, are securing work through the federal employment service in Oregon. Some 10,000 persons a week pass through the doors of the Portland office.

Until March 22, when the support of the federal employment service in Oregon was cut off, there were 55 employees with a monthly payroll of $7738. There are now 19 employees with a monthly payroll of $2188. In Portland, agencies outside the employment service pay the salaries of 40 employees, thereby helping maintain the offices at Third and Oak, Second and Davis, Liberty temple and the Women's division in the Lewis building.

At the time the government appropriation failed, branch offices were being maintained at government expense in Astoria, Salem, Medford, Pendleton, Roseburg, Marshfield, La Grande, Baker and Vancouver, Wash. Except in Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver, these offices are now being maintained at the expense of the several communities. The Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver offices have been closed, but plans are being made to reopen the Roseburg office, its employees to be paid through contributions from the citizens of that community.

At one time the city of Portland maintained a free employment office for men and women at a cost of about $1200 a year, but it has turned this work over to the federal employment bureau on a cooperative basis, the city paying $250 a month toward the cost of the service.

Early spring is the time to burn slash, according to F. H. Brundage, supervisor of the Columbia national forest, who is trying to impress upon loggers the importance of removing this fire hazard at a time of the year when it may be burned without spreading to adjacent timber and without destroying the seed which is deposited in the fine duff on the surface of the ground.

Mr. Brundage has just returned from Wind river district, where he superintended the burning of slash by a logging company which is cutting 250,000 board feet of timber a week and feeding it to sawmills at Cascade Locks. Under government contract all timber logged in the national forests must be removed according to certain prescribed specifications, including the removal of fire hazard and the protection of the timber for future crop. The logging service aims to keep the slash burned up as close to the logging operations as possible because it eliminates fire hazard.

The rush season at the Wind river nursery is practically ended, according to Mr. Brundage, all the necessary stocks for replanting in the various national forests having been supplied.

Permits Show More Building in Portland Many for Residences

Among the building permits issued at the City Hall Monday seven were for residences aggregating $25,500 in value. The largest was issued to Dr. E. M. Johnson for a residence to be erected at 125 East 28th st. at a cost of $7000. The Pacific Building company will erect a residence at 410 East 52d st. valued at $3300. George Hack secured a permit to build a $3200 house at 723 East 68th, and T. C. Miner, J. Agnew, R. S. McFarland and E. J. Cliff-

PORTLAND AID ASKED ON STATE GUARANTEE OF IRRIGATION BONDS

Madras Man Tells Business Men Success of Irrigation Very Important Matter.

Does Portland want to see bountiful crops every year in the Central Oregon plateau region or will it indifferently let the federal government expend its money on development in the great region are reaping the harvest of arduous toil only once every four or five years?

Harry W. Gard of Madras, president of the North Unit Irrigation project, representative of the settlers who have endured hardship and disappointment in the waiting for irrigation, appealed to the members' forum of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon for the sympathy and cooperation which will bring nearer the goal of their desires.

"Far more important to Portland than the shiftdays is the success of irrigation in Oregon," declared Mr. Gard. "The success of the North Unit alone would add $25,000,000 of taxable property to the city of Portland. The city should add directly to the business of Portland."

Mr. Gard petitioned support of the measure proposing a state guarantee of the interest on irrigation bonds issued by districts which are controlled by their own settlers and not by absentee owners. Captain Jacob Kessler, Chaplain Gilbert and Lieutenant T. H. Boyd were speakers.

Frost-Bitten Fruit Will Be Destroyed

Forty-four cases of oranges in the warehouse of the Pacific Fruit and Produce company in the city which have been destroyed by Federal Judge Bean this morning upon presentation of evidence that the fruit was frost-bitten and unfit for human consumption. The libel was brought by Assistant United States Attorney Barnett H. Goldstein.

A new device to prevent automobile theft is a combination lock that controls all the electrical equipment of a car.

Good-Bye Wood and Good-Bye Coal

No more dirty hands, no more smoke, no odor. See the Cooking Demonstration on your kitchen range, cook stove or heater. Simple to install, easy to handle and inexpensive to operate. Just the ideal thing for your summer home and camping parties. Heat the water in the tank, the oven and the top—at one operation.

In the sanctified gloom of England's great cathedral a special memorial service will be sung. After the service the casket will be taken through London's hushed streets to Liverpool Street station, where it will be placed upon a specially prepared car for transportation to Norwich.

Details of the final ceremony at Norwich cathedral have not yet been arranged, but it is hinted that a representative of the king and queen will be present, and that the solemn burial service will be one of the greatest ecclesiastical spectacles that England has seen in many years.

Special Tomb Will Hold Nurse's Remains

London, May 12.—Edith Cavell, the nurse, whose heroism and final execution by the Germans was one of the great rallying cries of Britain during the war, will be buried in a special place tomorrow. She is to lie in a specially prepared tomb in Norwich, which is the coolest and most dignified of places in which she was born and spent her girlhood.

Through the efforts of the Anglo-Belgian cemetery in Belgium, which has done such unselfish work since 1914 in providing for Belgian refugees, final arrangements for the last hours to be paid the heroic nurse have been completed.

At first it was designed that her body, from its temporary grave in Belgium, should be reinterred in Swardston churchyard at Norwich, this being the parish where her father had been buried for many years and in which Edith Cavell was born. She was baptised at the little church at Swardston in the choir there during her girlhood.

But public sentiment has dictated that for one whose name has been written on the walls of Britain's cathedrals, nothing less than the final burial in the diocesan cathedral is fitting, that this tomb may remain a shrine for patriotic Englishmen and Englishwomen to visit for time to come.

Miss Cavell's body, already disinterred from its temporary grave in Belgium, will be brought from Ostend to Dover on a British warship tomorrow. There it will be met by a military guard of honor and conveyed by train to Victoria station. At the station a full regiment of troops will be drawn up to pay honor and to escort the casket to Westminster Abbey.

At first it was designed that her body, from its temporary grave in Belgium, should be reinterred in Swardston churchyard at Norwich, this being the parish where her father had been buried for many years and in which Edith Cavell was born. She was baptised at the little church at Swardston in the choir there during her girlhood.

But public sentiment has dictated that for one whose name has been written on the walls of Britain's cathedrals, nothing less than the final burial in the diocesan cathedral is fitting, that this tomb may remain a shrine for patriotic Englishmen and Englishwomen to visit for time to come.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE DOES BETTER DESPITE REDUCTION IN STAFF

Big Increase Over the Previous Month Shown Though Payroll 80 Per Cent Less.

With its payroll reduced nearly 80 per cent through the failure of congress to make necessary appropriations, the United States Employment service in Oregon is placing more people at work than it did before the reduction.

During the four weeks ending May 5, the employment service placed 7900 men and 760 women, a total of 8669 persons, in positions. During the four weeks ending March 22, when the office was running with a full staff, positions were found for 8224 men and 613 women, a total of 7337.

Three hundred persons a day, on the average, are securing work through the federal employment service in Oregon. Some 10,000 persons a week pass through the doors of the Portland office.

Until March 22, when the support of the federal employment service in Oregon was cut off, there were 55 employees with a monthly payroll of $7738. There are now 19 employees with a monthly payroll of $2188. In Portland, agencies outside the employment service pay the salaries of 40 employees, thereby helping maintain the offices at Third and Oak, Second and Davis, Liberty temple and the Women's division in the Lewis building.

At the time the government appropriation failed, branch offices were being maintained at government expense in Astoria, Salem, Medford, Pendleton, Roseburg, Marshfield, La Grande, Baker and Vancouver, Wash. Except in Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver, these offices are now being maintained at the expense of the several communities. The Roseburg, Baker and Vancouver offices have been closed, but plans are being made to reopen the Roseburg office, its employees to be paid through contributions from the citizens of that community.

At one time the city of Portland maintained a free employment office for men and women at a cost of about $1200 a year, but it has turned this work over to the federal employment bureau on a cooperative basis, the city paying $250 a month toward the cost of the service.

Early spring is the time to burn slash, according to F. H. Brundage, supervisor of the Columbia national forest, who is trying to impress upon loggers the importance of removing this fire hazard at a time of the year when it may be burned without spreading to adjacent timber and without destroying the seed which is deposited in the fine duff on the surface of the ground.

Mr. Brundage has just returned from Wind river district, where he superintended the burning of slash by a logging company which is cutting 250,000 board feet of timber a week and feeding it to sawmills at Cascade Locks. Under government contract all timber logged in the national forests must be removed according to certain prescribed specifications, including the removal of fire hazard and the protection of the timber for future crop. The logging service aims to keep the slash burned up as close to the logging operations as possible because it eliminates fire hazard.

The rush season at the Wind river nursery is practically ended, according to Mr. Brundage, all the necessary stocks for replanting in the various national forests having been supplied.

Permits Show More Building in Portland Many for Residences

Among the building permits issued at the City Hall Monday seven were for residences aggregating $25,500 in value. The largest was issued to Dr. E. M. Johnson for a residence to be erected at 125 East 28th st. at a cost of $7000. The Pacific Building company will erect a residence at 410 East 52d st. valued at $3300. George Hack secured a permit to build a $3200 house at 723 East 68th, and T. C. Miner, J. Agnew, R. S. McFarland and E. J. Cliff-

PORTLAND AID ASKED ON STATE GUARANTEE OF IRRIGATION BONDS

Madras Man Tells Business Men Success of Irrigation Very Important Matter.

Does Portland want to see bountiful crops every year in the Central Oregon plateau region or will it indifferently let the federal government expend its money on development in the great region are reaping the harvest of arduous toil only once every four or five years?

Harry W. Gard of Madras, president of the North Unit Irrigation project, representative of the settlers who have endured hardship and disappointment in the waiting for irrigation, appealed to the members' forum of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon for the sympathy and cooperation which will bring nearer the goal of their desires.

"Far more important to Portland than the shiftdays is the success of irrigation in Oregon," declared Mr. Gard. "The success of the North Unit alone would add $25,000,000 of taxable property to the city of Portland. The city should add directly to the business of Portland."

Mr. Gard petitioned support of the measure proposing a state guarantee of the interest on irrigation bonds issued by districts which are controlled by their own settlers and not by absentee owners. Captain Jacob Kessler, Chaplain Gilbert and Lieutenant T. H. Boyd were speakers.

Frost-Bitten Fruit Will Be Destroyed

Forty-four cases of oranges in the warehouse of the Pacific Fruit and Produce company in the city which have been destroyed by Federal Judge Bean this morning upon presentation of evidence that the fruit was frost-bitten and unfit for human consumption. The libel was brought by Assistant United States Attorney Barnett H. Goldstein.

A new device to prevent automobile theft is a combination lock that controls all the electrical equipment of a car.

Good-Bye Wood and Good-Bye Coal

No more dirty hands, no more smoke, no odor. See the Cooking Demonstration on your kitchen range, cook stove or heater. Simple to install, easy to handle and inexpensive to operate. Just the ideal thing for your summer home and camping parties. Heat the water in the tank, the oven and the top—at one operation.

In the sanctified gloom of England's great cathedral a special memorial service will be sung. After the service the casket will be taken through London's hushed streets to Liverpool Street station, where it will be placed upon a specially prepared car for transportation to Norwich.

Details of the final ceremony at Norwich cathedral have not yet been arranged, but it is hinted that a representative of the king and queen will be present, and that the solemn burial service will be one of the greatest ecclesiastical spectacles that England has seen in many years.

Special Tomb Will Hold Nurse's Remains