

RECORDS ADDRESSED BY WOMAN

Member of Fairer Sex Handles Gavel at Session of National Organization Will Be Formed.

Chicago Woman Takes Chair Amid Applause; Nation-Wide Committee; Mrs. Bass Presides

Chicago, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—For the first time in the history of the Democratic national committee, the gavel at today's session was turned over to a woman—Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, chairman of the woman's bureau. Chairman Homer S. Cummings introduced Mrs. Bass, and she took the chair amid applause.

Mrs. Bass made a brief address, telling of the work of Democratic women and the suffrage status in the various states. She then introduced Willbur W. Marsh of Iowa, national treasurer.

Marsh declared that if the Democrats have sufficient money "to carry the message" the Republicans had "not a chance on earth to beat them." Whenever Democracy has had enough campaign funds, he declared, Democracy has won.

Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the president, and Attorney General Palmer, were delayed in arriving and did not appear at this morning's session. A strong "Palmer for president" sentiment had developed at the convention, although the name of William G. McCafoe is most frequently heard in discussions of presidential possibilities.

WOMEN WILL ORGANIZE

At the gathering of Democratic women which is meeting contemporaneously but separately from the national committee, Mrs. Annisette Fox of Chicago outlined plans for the political organization and education of the 15,000,000 women that will be enfranchised by the passage of the suffrage amendment.

"The women of this country are the saviors of the world," Mrs. Funk declared. "They elected Woodrow Wilson president in 1916 and they stand ready to do so again."

Mrs. Gertrude A. Lee of Colorado, considered one of the greatest woman organizers of the country, also addressed the group.

80 YANKEES ARE MISSING AFTER FIRE

LONDON, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—Eighty American soldiers of the army of occupation on the Rhine are missing as the result of a fire and explosion, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Cologne today.

The fire broke out in a large building occupied by troops and spread rapidly. Flying embers exploded a nearby ammunition dump.

MEDICAL SCHOOL DAMAGED BY FIRE

Upper Story of University of Oregon Building Destroyed; Loss Is $7000.

Fire, water and smoke ruined the University of Oregon medical school, Twenty-third and Lovejoy streets, about 9:30 o'clock this morning. Fire practically destroyed everything on the third floor, and the large amount of water put on the building by the firemen soaked through the two floors below. Fire Marshal Grenfell and his assistants, Captains Roberts and Day, estimate the damage on contents at $5000 and on the building $2000. Professors in the school say some of the specimens destroyed and some of the chemicals which were broken cannot be replaced.

STARTS ON ROOF

The fire started in the roof of the building, over the laboratory of Dr. H. E. Brown, assistant dean, who has charge of the department of pharmacology. It started from a defective flue leading to the main chimney from a gas stove. J. E. Burnett of the physiology department discovered the fire. He heard the timbers on the roof crackling, and without waiting to see where the fire was rushed to turn in the alarm.

BATTALION CHIEF CRITICIZED

Dr. Burget and Dr. Myers were sharp in their criticism of Battalion Chief J. E. Young, who when he arrived, failed to save the building. Dr. Burget, a fire chief called the fire department headquarters, notified them of the seriousness of the fire as it was directly across the street from the headquarters. Dr. Burget also responded and assumed control, after which the fire was soon brought under control. Dr. Burget said the first companies on the scene were about 20 minutes in getting water on the roof.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS SCARCE

When Captain John T. Moore learned of the seriousness of the fire he ordered all available men to the blaze in case it might be necessary to move the patients in Good Samaritan hospital. Nurses under the direction of Miss Lovridge quieted the patients on the west side of the building so that no one needed to be moved. Dr. Myers is the heaviest loser. His department was ruined. He stated that some of the chemicals destroyed cannot be replaced. Dr. Burget was the most fortunate professor, as his department moved to the new building on Marquam hill yesterday. Students were busy moving today when the fire broke out.

WOMEN SAVE VALUABLES

Other professors who lost considerable equipment and books are Dr. J. H. Sears of the bacteriology department; Dr. W. A. Allen and Dr. C. Foster of the anatomy department; Dr. Robert Benson and Dr. F. R. Mense of the pathology department. Miss M. M. Davis, registrar, Miss Bertha Hallam, librarian, and Miss E. Banks were highly commended by the professors for the excellent work they did in saving books, examination papers and office valuables. Others who helped firemen and also carried out the most valuable apparatus are: Lester Jones, W. H. Beerman, Ira Manville, John Hewson, E. Caswood, Frank Campbell, Walter Johnson, W. E. Gaines, A. T. Morrison, Dr. G. Norman Pease and Dr. J. B. Bilderback.

The building is owned by a group of prominent Portland doctors and is insured in several companies for $15,000. Water leaking into Bender's bakery, next door to the school, forced bakery men to quit their work.

The spring semester closed last week, and all examinations have been taken, so the fire will not interfere with the fall term. The fall term will open in the new building.

$10,000 STAKE FOR COOS VOTE

Great Game Will Be Played at Polls on June 3, With Peoples' Money in Pot, to Win or Lose.

Newspaper Publishers Angered Because County Judge Watson Refuses to Indorse "Frameup"

By Ralph Watson

Marshfield, May 29.—A $10,000 game will be played to a finish in Coos county on June 3, with the taxpayers' money in the pot. James Watson, county judge, is on one side of the table; A. R. O'Brien, editor of the Marshfield Evening Record, and Mike Maloney, editor of the Coos Bay Times, sit on the opposite side. The voters of Coos county are the chips with which the game is being played. It is a great game. If Judge Watson wins, O'Brien and Maloney will have to pay; if they win, the taxpayers will pay. In fact, they have already paid. The stake is, strictly speaking, to see whether they shall be repaid.

The game started back in 1913, long before James Watson was elected county judge. At that time Lew A. Cates and J. C. Savage were the editors of the Coquille Sentinel; O'Brien was the editor of the Marshfield Record and Maloney of the Coos Bay Times.

FRAME TREASURY RAID

Coos county had a long list of property subject to advertisement and sale because of delinquent and unpaid taxes. The county board asked for bids for the publication of the notice of foreclosure. O'Brien and Maloney went over to Coquille to submit their bids. Lew Cates called them into his office and they agreed to a conspiracy against the county court and the treasury, by which O'Brien was to bid 10 cents a line for the work, Maloney 11 cents and Cates 12 cents, taxes frozen to twenty-nine times the amount permitted by law.

Under this "frame-up" the cost of the publication was to be $11,544 to the taxpayers of the county, instead of $648, the legal rate. The deal was made at a late session during which eight ballots were cast and the names of 43 possible appointees were considered.

Major Hawkins recently returned from France where he served for a year with the 65th artillery. He secured a commission as lieutenant in the first officers' training camp at the Presidio and was promoted to captain for 11 years. PRESIDENT POINTS OUT NEW SIGNIFICANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—"Our thoughts and purpose now are consecrated to the maintenance of the liberty of the world and of the union of its people in a single comradeship of liberty and of right."

This passage, contained in a Memorial day message from President Wilson to "my fellow countrymen," was generally interpreted here as reiterating the president's confidence in the future of the League of Nations.

The message, made public at the White House executive offices today, follows:

My Fellow Countrymen:

Memorial day wears this year an added significance, and I wish, if only by message, to take part with you in its observation and in expressing the sentiments which it inevitably suggests. In observing the day we commemorate not only the reunion of our country, but also the liberation of the world from one of the most serious dangers to which free government and free life of men were ever exposed. We have buried the gallant and now immortal men who have died in this great war of liberation with a new sense of consecration. Our thoughts and purposes now are consecrated to the maintenance of the liberty of the world and of the union of its people in a single comradeship of liberty and of right. It was for this that our men conscientiously offered their lives. They came to the field of battle with the high spirit and pure heart of Crusaders. We must never forget the duty that their sacrifice has laid upon us of fulfilling their hopes and their purpose to the utmost. This, it seems to me, is the impressive lesson and the inspiring mandate of the day.

WOODROW WILSON.

France Will Join Memorial Services for Americans Will Be Held in Paris and Other Centers Tomorrow.

Paris, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—France today will join America's tomorrow (Memorial day) in honoring the memory of America's heroic dead. President Wilson is scheduled to deliver an address at Suresnes, suburb of Paris, at 8 o'clock. He will make a speech at Romagne, near Verdun, where several thousand American soldiers are buried.

Scattered over the broad territory which formed the old battle line thousands of small American flags and a profusion of flowers are being strewn to mark the last resting place of the Americans who gave up their lives to make the world a better and safer place to live in.

WAR PICTURE IS RECALLED

It will be a different scene from the observance of Memorial day in France one year ago. Then America was just beginning to throw her weight into the struggle with Germany. The great German offensive was at its height and those privileged to witness the first ceremony of its kind held by the Americans found it a sad and a gloomy affair. French civilians grateful to America for her aid in the war had brought flowers with which to decorate the American graves; a couple of army chaplains and a handful of Salvation Army workers stood by and were nuzzling their tears with those of the fighting men when the Boche airplane came into sight.

ALL-DAY CELEBRATION WILL BE HELD IN PORTLAND FRIDAY FOR MEN WHO FELL IN '65, '98 AND '18.

Graves of All Departed Fighters Will Be Profusely Decorated by Delegations of Veterans.

Decorations day, first set aside as a memorial day for the boys in blue and gray of '61 to '65; later for the boys in khaki who fought in '98, and now also for the boys in olive drab and their brothers in navy blue, who turned the tide in the world war in '17 and '18, will be celebrated in Portland Friday from morning till night. Wherever there are graves of veterans in Portland there will be flags and flowers on Decoration day; and, as a mark of respect to those whose graves we cannot visit, there will also be impressive services.

Separate services at the various cemeteries will be held in the morning, starting at 7:30 at Lents, at 8 o'clock at St. Johns, and at 8:30 other places in the city. School children from each of the schools and special delegations of G. A. R. and Spanish American War veterans will visit the graves of all the departed veterans and place on them flowers and flags and place on their homes and in the woods. At each grave there will be a small American flag representing the tribute of the nation to the boys who served their country and who have gone to the final rest.

PARADE MAIN FEATURE

With these impressive individual marks of respect Decoration day will be ushered in. From the time the first of these services begins till late in the afternoon the city will honor the dear departed with appropriate ceremonies. In the morning, while friends and relatives are gathered around the graves, the parade will be in progress. At noon they will be raised to the tops of the poles again.

The main feature of the day is the parade in the afternoon with its ending in the ceremonies at the Auditorium. Veterans of the three wars will take part. The gray haired, cheerful and (Concluded on Page Seventeen, Column Six)

MISSOURI PACIFIC TO USE PORTLAND

Announcement Made That Trans-Pacific Freight Will Be Routed Through This Port.

Announcement that the Missouri Pacific railroad, which formerly shipped Oriental and Transpacific freight by the northern port route, has been attracted by the facilities Portland is offering for transoceanic service and hereafter would route far eastern freight through Portland, was received today from Harry M. Adams, traffic manager of the railroad.

All shippers on this route are being notified of the change and Mr. Adams has notified the Chamber of Commerce that it will possibly be able to provide a good sized cargo for the West Coast which sails to China soon in the Pacific Steamship company service.

This railroad formerly had a contract with Puget Sound shippers, but the contract expired several weeks ago. Inspectors of the company have visited the various ports and believe that Portland is able to accommodate Transpacific freight from their lines better than any other port on the Pacific coast.

The local shipbuilding situation is being studied by the visitors and a general survey of the freight possibilities is being made. Scandinavian shipping firms are said to be anxious to obtain reimbursement for the money they advanced for the building of a number of ships by American yards. When the war broke out these ships, some of which were already under construction, were commandeered by the United States government, and the money which the foreigners had advanced which would have been repaid them, it is declared.

America to Need Army of 500,000 For Coming Year, Says Sec. Baker

Future of Service in Europe Still Undetermined; Demobilization Is Rapid.

Washington, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—The future of the American army in France is still undetermined. Secretary of War Baker and General Merckle, chief of staff, today told the house military affairs committee.

On the request of President Wilson two divisions which were scheduled for withdrawal from the army of occupation will be kept in Europe. General March stated that it is now the plan of the war department to maintain five divisions in Europe until peace terms have been definitely settled. The war department has not been informed what the military obligations of the United States will be under the peace treaty, General March declared.

PRESENT NEED 400,000

Initial March needed that it will be necessary to maintain an army of 500,000 during the coming year, although they anticipate that the army may be reduced below that number before July 1, 1920.

"I want it understood that does not refer to any permanent military plan for the coming fiscal year. During the first part of the year we will have more than five hundred thousand men and later in the year less than five hundred thousand."

"I do not wish at this time to suggest anything in the nature of a permanent military plan. I would like to see a plan for the establishment of military training in our high schools, colleges and universities carried out," Secretary Baker said.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

The plan would not apply to any school system below the high school," he was asked.

"It would not," he replied. Secretary Baker declared that demobilization is now far ahead of the war department's program.

"Between two and three hundred thousand more men have been discharged than we had hoped to have demobilized at this time," he said. "The new army should have great educational facilities," he continued.

Recommendations were made by the secretary. Baker stated that Wright field at Dayton, Ohio, for a permanent aviation base. He declared Langley field at Newport News, Va., had been found to be suitable. Purchase of Wright field would eventually save the government two or three million dollars, he added.

DEMILITARIZATION RUSHED

Demobilization in the far west has been accelerated that there was a demand on the part of the country and the men themselves that the country's war army be demobilized, and that the war department was responding to that demand with every facility and all rapidity possible.

He added that complete demobilization would require congressional act within four months after either the promulgation of peace by the president or by the "adhesion of the United States to the peace treaty."

"Of course, in the event of any unexpected change in the international situation it might become necessary for the peace congress to change the act," he said.

HERE FROM NORWAY LOOKING FOR SHIPS

G. M. Bryde of Christiania Says Scandinavians Eager to Buy in United States.

That the Scandinavian countries stand ready to purchase ships in the United States with a view of rehabilitating their merchant marine is the view taken by G. M. Bryde of Christiania, Norway, a prominent shipping man, who is a guest at the Benson hotel. He is accompanied by F. Griffin, who represents large shipping interests of Vancouver, B. C.

The local shipbuilding situation is being studied by the visitors and a general survey of the freight possibilities is being made. Scandinavian shipping firms are said to be anxious to obtain reimbursement for the money they advanced for the building of a number of ships by American yards. When the war broke out these ships, some of which were already under construction, were commandeered by the United States government, and the money which the foreigners had advanced which would have been repaid them, it is declared.

BALKANS GET PAID

Presentation of Treaty to Austrians Put Over Until Monday at Roumania's Request.

Counter Proposals From German Delegates Delivered at the Foreign Office; Reply Long.

Paris, May 29.—(U. P.)—Presentation of the treaty to the Austrian delegates was postponed until Monday, after a plenary session of the peace conference today.

The conference met in plenary session to hear a summary of the Austrian treaty read. Just before the session, Premier Venizelos of Greece and T. C. Bratiano, former premier of Roumania, engaged in a wordy argument. As soon as the conference convened Bratiano arose and requested a 48-hour postponement in the name of the Balkan states. This was granted.

WILL MEET SATURDAY

Bratiano demanded time to study the treaty. The summary was not read. The conference will meet Saturday, and in the meantime portions of the treaty will be submitted privately to Bratiano, it is understood.

At the same time the German counter proposals were delivered at the foreign office.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German foreign minister, is expected to leave for home before the week end, but he—or a successor, if he withdraws from the delegation—is expected back in time to sign the treaty.

GERMAN NOTE DELIVERED

The German counter proposals were delivered to an official of the foreign office at Versailles and taken to Paris to be laid before the big four. The first section of the counter proposals, understood to constitute one third of the document, comprised 20,000 words. After having considered Germany's answer, the big four is expected to announce any (Concluded on Page Seventeen, Column Four)

NAVY UNCERTAIN OVER NC-4 DELAY

American Flyers Send Word They Will Remain Another Day at Lisbon.

Washington, May 29.—(U. P.)—Navy department officials early today were uncertain as to the cause delaying Commander Read's "jump off" in the NC-4 from Lisbon to Plymouth, England.

In the absence of any word since a brief cable last night, stating that the NC-4 could not get away today, it is believed here that weather conditions must have been found unfavorable for the start. Earlier Wednesday evening the navy was informed that Read expected to get off today. Cable transmission, it was said today, is exceedingly slow and had between Lisbon and the United States which, officials said, accounts for the lack of detailed information regarding the intentions of Read.

PLYMOUTH READY WHEN NC-4 MAKES FINAL DASH

Plymouth, Eng., May 29.—The United States cruiser Stockton rode at anchor in the harbor today ready to dash out on a m. l. s. notice to take her station in the Atlantic. The Stockton came from the Azores by way of Lisbon. Her commander reported that NC-4 is in excellent condition and her crew are extremely confident of winning up the epoch-making air voyage in a breeze of glory.

Excitement is felt here over the final outcome of the flight, and Lieutenant Commander Read will get a rousing greeting when he puts into harbor.

MASSACHUSETTS PROUD OF NATIVE SON IN HIS GLORY

Boston, May 29.—Governor Coolidge sent this telegram to Lieutenant Commander Read at Lisbon, Portugal: "The people of Massachusetts rejoice that you are one of her sons and congratulate you on being the first to fly across the Atlantic.
