RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM AND STATE DEVELOPMENT PLAN ARE INVOLVED IN MEASURES TO BE VOTED ON TUESDAY

Voters, Especially of Portland, Where City and Port Programs Are Also Submitted, Have Great Variety of Questions on Which to Form Intelligent Opinion Before Casting Their Ballots.

When Mr. and Mrs. Voter walk into their precinct voting place next Tuesday, June 3, they will be handed three ballots, containing altogether 20 measures upon which their penciled cross marks are to indicate approval

The state, the city and the Port of Portland are each to hold a special election on the same day, employing the same judges and clerks of election. This arrangement, of course, applies only within the boundaries of Portland. Outside the city, but within the port district, there will be two ballots; and outside the city and port district only, the state election ballot, except where special local elections are held.

The state ballot will command more than ordinary attention. It is more than a collection of measures referred to the people by the legislature. It is Oregon's reconstruction program, and added to it is a great state development plan. The primary purpose in calling the special election was to submit for public action the $5,000,000 reconstruction bond issue as a it is said, will be necessary. The quesmeans of creating industrial activity calculated to repel unemployment and tion voters will decide is whether the dismay that might otherwise arise during the unsettled period following the sub-stations are necessary now and

But with the addition to the ballot of the bill proposing that the state advance the money to pay interest on the bonds of irrigation and drainage That additional fire stations are needed projects, together with other measures, a state development significance is not disputed, and acting Mayor Bige was given the whole program which proponents of the measures declare will low announces it as the solicy of the easily be realized by growth of population, the cultivation of wide areas and city council to build almost entirely on the increase of Oregon's wealth.

The group of measures on the city, ballot constitutes likewise a kind of reconstruction program, but taxpayers are beginning to suggest that whereas the state bills propose works necessary in any event and full of promise of increased wealth and population, the city measures rest upon only a slender base of actual necessity if viewed apart from fears of a serious unemployment problem. Neither employment officials, employers of workers complain now of a shortage of jobs.

takes the bench. The present employes of the court agreed unanimously to act without pay if necessary until the new judge was appointed, but Mr. Evans is of the opinion that there is no need of this and that they will hold their regular positions as before at the same salary until they are reconfirmed by the judge of the court of domestic relations or supplanted.

WIFE'S ILLITERACY ALLEGED AS CAUSE FOR DIVORCE

Eight divorce suits were filed Thursday with the county clerk, swelling the total for the month of May to 160. This is slightly in excess of the number filed in April.

Illiteracy, which he alleges he did not discover in his wife until after they were married, is the reason Abraham Brown wants a separation from Eva Brown. Incidental reasons assigned are religious differences and incompatibility.

Other suits filed asking divorce were: W. F. Melgren from Madeline Melgren, desertion; Robert C. ### LAD READY TOOL OF HARDENED CRIMINALS

Tale of Boy in Federal Court Enlists Sympathy of Even Prosecuting Attorney.

Hungry and homeless, Alfred Cowan, 8, arrested May 22 on charges of aiding in the theft of cigarettes, easily followed the lead of hardened criminals and readily did their bidding, according to evidence introduced at a hearing this morning before United States for the grand jury. Cowan said his father deserted the family several years ago. Unable to care for the four small only place that could take him, but Cowan said he came to Portland and could find no work. He was without noney, hungry and had no place to He says that one of the men, called Martin, found him and offered to help him. Secretary Daniels at Hog Island Launching Says Shipbuilding to Be Put on Firm Basis.

Philadelphia, May 30 .- (U. P.) - Speaking at the launching of five large ships at the Hog Island yard here today, Secretary of the Navy Daniels declared that a "great merchant marine, putting America again in the front rank as a maritime power, will be one of the by-products of the war." "The war rudely awakened us to the fact while we were rich and powerful the one thing that gave value in that struggle to all we possessed was ships, and these we lacked and lacked woefully," he said.

"We will not quit the shipbuilding in dustry. We will put it on a firm and sound basis. We will build big ships and bigger ships, which can be aged by small crews and have a large steaming radius.

"Never will the United States be guilty of the folly of trusting our foreign commerce to foreign bottoms."
