

AMERICA BOWS IN SOLEMN TRIBUTE TO HER HERO DEAD

Services Are Held at Tomb of Unknown Dead in Arlington Cemetery on Potomac River; TALKS GIVEN IN CONGRESS

Lieutenant Johnson, Wounded in France, Fills Chair; Civil War General Speaks.

Washington, May 30.—(U. P.)—America today bowed in solemn tribute to its heroic dead.

In the house of congress, at the tomb of the unknown dead in Arlington cemetery, at some of the city's parks and in every city, town and hamlet of the nation there were ceremonies befitting a memorial for the supreme sacrifice of the country's sons.

Cabinet members in Washington paid earnest tribute to the heroes of the great war.

With a significance deepened by fresh sorrow, but consecrated by the knowledge of what the loss of so many of the best of young American manhood has won for the world, Memorial day this year brings to the nation a full realization of the price paid to rid the world of autocracy," said Secretary Daniels.

FRESH MEANING ADDED

"At the same time it brings especially to those whose dear ones paid the supreme price a proud knowledge that America took her rightful place in the world events of the past year with all her mighty power and resources and that our gallant boys had such a decisive part in shattering the Hohenzollern dream of world dominion."

Secretary Baker said.

"The spiritual progress of America is shown by our addition of fresh glory to this day set apart to memorialize the nation's heroic dead. There is no division of its ancient significance, but fresh meaning is added by those who have died on foreign soil to perpetuate the liberties for which their ancestors gave their lives at home."

HOLY DAY OF MEMORY

"Today our hands are clasped, not alone from coast to coast, but overseas as well," said Secretary Wilson. "Today we commemorate not only as a nation this holy day of memory, but our memorial includes the valleys of France, the fields of Flanders, the ruins of Belgium and reaches out in a network of sympathy that stretches around the world."

"To labor falls the high privilege—the noble honor—of carrying on the work these boys began. They died for de-

ROCK FAMED IN INDIAN TALES TO BE MEMORIAL

LEBANON, May 30.—The large rock close to the home of O. B. Wilson, at Rock Hill, is to be purchased by Salem men, who plan to take it to the capital city for use as a memorial to service men. The Indians have a tradition that the rock is of meteoric origin, and was worshipped by the tribes of Indians in that vicinity.

Democracy—they died for freedom—for the cause which knits the world today in the common brotherhood of humanity. It is for us to continue their work—to carry out their plans—to do our work constructively, with the same teamwork spirit, the same steadfastness and courage that characterized our fighting men who died.

CONGRESS OBSERVES DAY

"While the war was on us our slogan was 'Labor will win the war.' In this period of reconstruction it is in labor's hands the tools are given." Congress observed the day with a special session in the house devoted to tributes to the Americans who made the supreme sacrifice to the country's wars.

Lieutenant Royal Johnson, congressman from South Dakota, who was wounded in France, took the speaker's chair at the special request of Speaker Gillett. Representative La Guardia, New York, major with the Italian air forces during the war, was one of the principal speakers.

For the Civil War veterans, Representative Isaac Sherwood, Ohio, a general in the northern army during the sixties, was spokesman.

The house will consider the resolution submitted a few days ago by Republican Leader Mondell tendering the thanks of congress to all Americans who had a share in the war.

Combining Facilities Of the Telephone and Telegraph Are Urged

Washington, May 30.—(U. P.)—Amendment of the Sherman law to let telegraph and telephone companies combine their services was urged before the senate interstate commerce committee today by Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company.

Carlton did not ask for a combination of companies, but for legislation giving the interstate commerce commission authority to approve arrangements between telegraph and telephone companies whereby every telephone would become a telegraph office open 24 hours a day.

This should be done, Carlton said, before the wires are returned to their owners.

CONDEMNATION OF MODERN SOCIAL EVILS IS VOICED

Rev. Albert Ehrsgott, Former Portland Pastor, Discusses Causes Connected With Separation.

"FREE LOVE" HELD TO BLAME

In Condemnation of Immorality Ehrsgott Mentions—Colonel Wood as Devotee of Doctrines.

Severe condemnation of the modern social evils of infidelity, intemperance and immorality was voiced Thursday evening by the Rev. Albert Ehrsgott, representative of the California State Law Enforcement league and former Portland pastor, before an assemblage of 300 persons at Christensen's hall.

In his general condemnation of immorality Mr. Ehrsgott took occasion to charge Colonel C. E. S. Wood, well known Portland attorney and poet, with being a devotee of the doctrine of "free love." By inference he led his audience to believe that Colonel Wood was responsible for the ruin of his home.

READY TO MAKE AFFIDAVIT

Mr. Ehrsgott said he assumed all responsibility for the charges and that he stood ready to make an affidavit to them should the occasion arise.

"This philosophy (free love), which boasts so loudly of freedom, is in fact, slavery," said Mr. Ehrsgott. "It holds that two adults can do as they please—if both are agreed upon a certain course of conduct it is no business of society or the state. It seeks to realize itself in obedience to the bent of one's nature, irrespective of the rights of others and involves into rampant anarchy. It is a spineless sentiment, an affection without will control, which ruthlessly abandons all sense of decency and all consideration of the sufferings of others."

WOOD MENTIONED BY NAME

"While there are others who are guilty in this respect," he continued, "still pampered and condoned by society in this city, but unworthy of the association of decent folk, the outstanding character in Portland is the self-confessed anarchist and practitioner of free-love, C. E. S. Wood."

"I had a son," continued the speaker, "as noble a boy as God ever entrusted to any parent. But he's gone. The awful thing about it is that infidelity killed him. And at the coffin of my boy I vowed that I would vindicate the freedom of Christian love, the sanctity of Christian marriage."

The closing of the restricted district in San Francisco and numerous other cities in California was cited as evidence of the results accomplished.

The former pastor declared that prohibition had done wonders toward bettering moral conditions in Oregon. He said Portland is immeasurably better today than before prohibition and complimented the Oregon social hygiene bureau on its efficiency.

PORTLAND HONORS ITS HERO DEAD

patriarchs of the nation to their seats, call to the mind of all the sacred patriotism that has flared to white heat and inspired the youth of the nation time and again to the conquest of injustice.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address, the reading of which featured the morning and afternoon services in all parts of the city, with its short but full and beautiful expression of America's feeling toward those of our nation who have played their part in the highest sense at crucial times.

The program for the ceremony at the Auditorium was arranged as follows: Assembly, bugles; organ funeral march, "On the Death of a Hero," by Beethoven, Frederick W. Goodrich; invocation, Chaplain B. J. Hoadley; singing memorial orders, Adjutant J. W. Orlibe; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, E. R. Lundberg; organ, American Fantasia, by Victor Herbert, Frederick W. Goodrich; address, Bishop Hughes, introduced by Department Commander T. H. Grant Thomas; benediction, Chaplain B. J. Hoadley; Taps, bugler.

Treading slowly on the green plush carpet of grass, little children, sober-faced and silent, and elderly men reminiscing Civil War exploits, visited Portland cemeteries this morning to pay homage to those who in the Civil war served their nation, offering everything, for the preservation of the Union.

Starting at 8:30 from public schools near the cemeteries, the devotional processions walked to the graves where on each plot where was buried the remains of one of those honored dead, were placed fresh flowers, picked by the children themselves, and new American flags if the old one had become faded through the storms of the last year.

Arthur Nichols, aged 88, was the eldest veteran at the services at Lone Fir cemetery this morning. Mr. Nichols, a member of Ben Butler post, will be 88 years old next November.

Colored citizens of Portland are invited to attend the patriotic exercises given tonight at the First African Methodist Episcopal Zion church, the Rev. A. F. Yearwood, pastor. The program starts at 8:15 p. m.

At each cemetery in the city and at the Portland crematorium as well, special services marked the celebration of the day. The many persons who gathered at the graves listened to inspiring addresses, to the reading of the Gettysburg address and to selected musical numbers.

A feature of the day was the ceremony on the river, in honor of soldiers and marines who have gone to unknown graves. This began at 10:30, a large party including a representation of the Devil Dog club under President H. M. Grayson, met at the courthouse when it marched to the Stark street dock and boarded a waiting ferryboat. On the river where songs were sung and addresses given, flowers were strewn over the waters.

At noon, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of those who died in the service of the country during the recent war, Scout Young Camp No. 2, United Spanish War Veterans, held memorial services in front of the monument in the park across from the courthouse.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at Temple Beth Israel Rabbi Jonah B. Wise will read a memorial service and preach a fitting sermon. A service of a similar nature for children will also be held there Saturday morning. Both of these are open to the public.
