

GREAT BRITAIN PUT IN LARGE BILL FOR CARRYING TROOPS

General Hines Reveals Demand Made During Troop Movement for Price Held Exorbitant.

CONFERENCE CUTS CHARGES

Secretary Baker Says Billion Dollars Will Be Needed for Army Expenses Coming Year.

Washington, May 30.—Great Britain attempted to exact from the United States a charge of $150 a man—$10 more than the price of a first class passage on an ocean liner—for the transportation of American soldiers to France.

This official information was made to the house military affairs committee Thursday by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, chief of the embarkation service.

The original agreement, General Hines said, was that the United States should pay to England the actual expenses of carrying our soldiers to Europe.

ESTIMATE REDUCED
Included among the items on which the cost was to be calculated were insurance, the cost of operation, food and the cost of alterations in the ships.

It was found impossible to speedily arrive at the actual cost on this basis, the committee was told.

Great Britain submitted a bill for $152,000,000, which, General Hines said, was at the rate of $150 a man.

The war department immediately protested against this exorbitant charge. Subsequently the matter was placed in the hands of Lord Reading, the British ambassador, who held a conference with Secretary Baker. The agreement between the ambassador and the secretary was that $150 a man was an adequate price, and this was paid.

ASKS OVER BILLION

Secretary Baker appeared before the committee today and proposed a system of educational and military training for all men in the army. He asked appropriations aggregating $1,117,000,000 for the military establishment during the next fiscal year.

Secretary Baker said it is desired to make the army an "institution of education." He has ordered the general staff to work out the plan in accordance with the bill.

He will be ready for congress when the army reorganization is taken up, which, Chairman Kahn said, will follow the appropriation bill.

The secretary explained that his plan had the approval of General Pershing and was the result of the American army's experience in France.

MEN NEED TRAINING

It provides for the utilization of universities, technical institutes and high schools in the training of enlisted men. The soldiers would be sent to school for several months during each year under army discipline in much the same manner as the student army training corps was conducted during the war.

LOST MONTH AT A TIME FROM WORK, HE SAYS

Was All Crippled Up Until Tanlac Rids Him of Rheumatism; Gains 30 Pounds.

"When I commenced taking Tanlac a short time ago I only weighed one hundred and thirty pounds, and now I tip the scales at one hundred and sixty, which gives me a gain of thirty pounds," said Thomas Gensen, a well known employe of the Albion Machine Works, who lives at Gresham, Oregon, while in The Owl Drug Store in Portland the other day.

"I was in mighty bad condition when I commenced taking Tanlac," he continued, "for I had been suffering terrible for four long years with rheumatism, and it had begun to look like I was never going to find any medicine or treatment that would overcome it. I had this trouble in nearly every part of my body, but it was much worse in my arms and shoulders than anywhere else. Why, I was in such a bad fix for a long time that I couldn't raise my arms high enough to put my hat on my head, and it was out of the question for me to put my coat on by myself. The muscles and leaders in my arms felt just like they were tied in knots at times. My stomach was in very bad condition, too, and everything I ate would sour on my stomach after meals, and I would have awful cramping spells. I was in so much pain at night that I never slept well. I also suffered from constipation and frequently had bad spells of headache that would often last two or three days at a time. All my strength and energy seemed to leave me, and finally I got to where I would lose as much as a month at a time from my work."

"I had been reading the statements in the papers about Tanlac, and as it seemed to be doing so many people so much good, I decided to give it a trial myself. Well, to make a long story short, I have taken six bottles of Tanlac so far, and I can truthfully say that I am as well and hearty as I ever was in my life. I never have the slightest sign of stomach trouble now, and while I have a rheumatism still, I can do just anything I want. I don't suffer a particle from indigestion or sour stomach after meals. The rheumatism has left me entirely, and I am free from all those terrible aching pains I used to have. I can use my arms and shoulders all right now, and can work as well as any man. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and I don't hesitate to recommend it to anybody who suffers as I did."

Tanlac is sold in Portland by The Owl Drug Co.—Adv.

us that every man in the army should be educated," Mr. Baker said.

"We plan to make the army an institution of education, with special attention to the vocational training that army work demands."

Both the secretary and General March, chief of staff, denied that this plan tended towards universal military service. They said at this time no plans have been made for extensive military training in the schools.

EXTENSION POSSIBLE

Chairman Kahn asked:

"Why could not these educational army units be used as the basis for extensive military training at the schools?"

"That is possible," Mr. Baker replied, "but we have not considered that phase of the work."

The hearing developed that the retention of American soldiers in Siberia is a very live issue in congress. Examination of General March revealed that the Siberian expedition was financed out of the president's personal fund.

General March said:

"The president turned over $5,000,000 at one time and another sum I cannot exactly recall at a later date, but we believed that this money was virtually loaned to the Czecho-Slovak government."

BRAWLERS, LOTTERY AGENTS AND LIQUOR OFFENDERS SENTENCED

Lucille Brown Held to the Grand Jury for Chewing Woman's Thumb; Mow On Bound Over.

Anna Jones and Louise Danna, colored, received sentences of 60 days each when tried before Municipal Judge Rosman Thursday on charges of violating the city's vagrancy ordinance, and were given additional sentences of nine days each for breaking the state statute covering idle and dissolute persons.

For conducting a lottery game in the rear of his small store in the North End, Louis May, a familiar figure in the city's police court, will spend 45 days in jail and pay a fine of $150. Lee Sen, his partner in the venture, will stay in jail for 45 days, but escaped paying a fine. Seven white men, patrons of the game, caught in the place when the moral squad swooped down on Louie's premises, will pay fines of $50 each for visiting a gambling game.

Peter Annotet, an Italian who resides on East Sherman street, was convicted of having liquor in his possession, and was fined $150. Lucille Brown, colored, accused of biting another woman's thumb, was held to the grand jury. Mabel Mitchell, were employed as car cleaners in the Pullman yards, and during the course of a flat encounter she chewed up her opponent's thumb so badly that the services of a physician were needed.

Mow On, a Chinese lottery promoter, who caused the police much trouble by locking his lottery tickets in his safe and then refusing to open the door, was also bound over to the grand jury on a charge of violating the state gambling laws. The police, determined to secure the evidence against Mow, hired a safe expert, drilled and picked the lock of the safe and finally opened it. A complete lottery outfit was found in it.

International Union Approves Strike of Portland Engineers

Officials of the local union of engineers, on strike over adjustment of wages and conditions with a number of paving contractors in Portland and on the highway work, have received assurances that the executive board of the International Union of Steam and Operative Engineers, with headquarters at Indianapolis, has endorsed the strike and authorized strike benefits to be paid.

An effort will be made by the international officials to reach the Warren Construction company through its eastern contracts in a number of states. Otto R. Hartwig, president of the State Federation of Labor, called attention to the new law providing for an arbitration board as "having teeth in it."

Horse Determined To Answer Alarm

Philadelphia.—"Burglar," an extra horse of truck company No. 13, was left behind in the firehouse on Baltimore avenue when firemen responded to a fire in blocks away.

"Burglar," a big beautiful bay pushed his way out of an insecurely locked stall, and with instinct traditional of fire horses, galloped unbridled through the streets until he spotted the fire. He whinnied with joy as he came up to the engine which was industriously pumping.

Dead Members of Women's Club Are Honored by Living

Asheville, N. C., May 30.—Memorial services for dead members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America were held here Thursday at the mid-winter council.

Mrs. E. J. Burdette of California presented the memorial of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, who was the first treasurer of the federation.

"The modesty of Mrs. Hearst," said Mrs. Burdette, "drew a curtain about the activities of one whose practical idealism has ever enriched the lives of those with whom she came into contact and thousands who never knew her personally."
