Pretty Wedding In Irvington Home

Miss Eve Jacobsen Becomes the Bride of Dr. Ray Sweeney; Will Live in East.

By Helen H. Hutchison M bride of Dr. Ray Sweeney on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jacobsen in Irvington. The rooms were artistically decorated with early summer flowers. The service was read at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. E. H. Pence in the presence of about 45 of the close relatives and friends of the bridal couple. Fellowing the ceremony a wedding reception was held for about 150 guests. The bride, who is a most attractive girl of the blonde type, carried a shower ouquet of Bride roses and was gowned in moonglow brocade of ivory tone. The gown was made with a smart train lined with silver cloth. The graceful folds of the bridal veil fell from a cap of rare lace, which was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. Miss. Jeannette Wiggins was bridesmaid, and was gowned in pink organdie. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of pink snapdragons. Charles T. Hidden was the bridegroom's only attendant and the bridal music was played by Miss Geraldine Presiding in the dining room at the reception were Mrs. C. O. Richards, who cut the ices, and Mrs. W. M. Umben-

Two months ago we permitted the sheath skirt to remain under a transparent tunic. Today that garment is removed. The foundation under the transparent upper garment is frankly gathered at the waist, although the effect of slimness is not abandoned. The material used for this foundation is so supple that it clings to the figure like wet tissue paper. The purists and reformers, therefore, have no cause to rejoice.

As the season progresses our skirts lose an inch every week. *
