

GOVERNOR PRAYS INTO CHAIRMAN'S

Begins Investigation of Work of State Fish and Game Com- mission; Witnesses Are Heard.

Complaints Made That Board Is Favoring Commercial Inter- ests Against the Sportsmen.

With salmon packers, sportsmen, fish and game wardens and a few disinterested citizens present, Governor Ben W. Glavin opened the hearing of charges against the state fish and game administration at the Oregon building this morning.

The sportsmen repeated statements that had previously been filed with the governor in writing that:

The organization for fish and game protection and propaganda has been built into a political machine.

Violations of the fish and game laws are uncurbed in nearly all parts of the state.

The larger part of the fish and game fund has been spent for salmon propagation in the interest of commercial packers rather than for trout propagation in the interest of the rod men.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES MADE

The two most sensational charges of the morning were those made by Dr. Calvin S. White, formerly secretary of the Oregon state board of health, and W. E. Young, a paper mill worker at Oregon City.

"We are led to believe," said Dr. White, speaking for China pleasure sportsmen, "that the various letters and telegrams received by your excellency from various parts of the state and from various organizations, saying that this is a fight of 'Portland game hogs' are inspired by the same warden and his deputies. No salaries from the fish and game protection fund, are using the state's name, and the various letters for postage in stirring up this kind of representation. We are paying $1.50 a year for licenses, thousands of us, but not for any such purpose."

SAYS NETS HAVE BEEN USED

Young, the paper mill worker, said that his duties cause him to be employed at a point where he can observe the Willamette below the falls on various shifts the entire round of the clock.

MOVEMENT BEGUN TO GET $15,000

Business Men Speed Plans to Obtain Money Needed to Make Festival Successful.

To overcome the last minute shortage of funds to put on the Rose Festival in proper style this year, many prominent men are getting back of the movement to raise a necessary $15,000.

Of the total amount to be raised—$48,000—something more than $31,000 is now in the hands of the committee and the remainder must be raised or serious curtailment of the program and a general falling down of the whole affair is threatened. Ira L. Riggs, president of the festival association, spent this morning planning a campaign to cover the deficit in a whirlwind fashion.

John L. Ethridge, whose success was so marked in the various Liberty loans, will assist in raising the funds.

"I am surprised," he said, "that the money is not forthcoming more readily. The Rose Festival is a wonderful thing for the city and I supposed everybody was supporting it to the limit. We should all realize that anything that brings so many people here is worthy of the heartiest support. Directly or indirectly, it is bound to mean a great deal of business to all sorts of business houses here, whatever their nature, and consequently should receive support from everyone."

"Of all years for a Rose Festival," said Emory Olmstead this morning, "this is by far the greatest. By making it a Victory Rose Festival it is especially opportune in that it honors our returning service men. We haven't had a good festival for about three years and everyone should be glad to support this one. I believe the whole community is backing the festival with their moral support and will give financial aid when they find it is needed."

RECONSTRUCTION ENTIRELY BEATEN

All Other Measures on State Ballot Win Except Lieutenant Governor Amendment.

Five out of the nine measures on the state ballot have been favorably noted upon by the voters of the state. None of the so-called reconstruction program is included in this list.

The successful measures were the Roosevelt highway bill with a favorable majority of 23,951 votes, the market roads bill with 21,383 votes to spare, the county bonding amendment with a majority of 14,464 votes, the soldiers' educational bill with 12,923 votes to the good and the irrigation and drainage bond interest guaranty amendment with a lead of 5268 votes.

The reconstruction bonding amendment, which was in the doubtful column yesterday, is now definitely lost, the adverse majority against it being 1860 in the face of the latest available returns.

Incumbent reports are uniform in their tendency to increase the majorities for those measures which have been favored and against those which have been repudiated. The latest returns represent 16 counties complete with incomplete but practically full returns from the remainder. The totals on the various measures are as follows: County bonding, Yes 44,193, No 29,729, majority for 14,464; reconstruction hospital, Yes 32,978, No 35,855, majority against 2,877; irrigation guaranty, Yes 37,337, No 20,079, majority for 17,258; $5,000,000 amendment, Yes 34,514, No 28,094, majority against 16,420; lieutenant governor, Yes 29,423, No 41,537, majority against 12,114; Roosevelt highway, Yes 50,484, No 26,538, majority for 23,946; reconstruction bonding bill, Yes 23,439.

SENATORS CALL FOR ROTTEN TEXT

Johnson Resolution Making Dem- and on State Department Is Carried by Viva Voce Vote.

Republicans Catch Democrats Napping After Calling for In- vestigation of Lodge Charge.

Washington, June 6.—It took the senate but 30 seconds this afternoon to pass by viva voce vote the Johnson resolution calling on the state department to submit the peace treaty to the senate without further delay.

The senate's action followed swiftly the resolution unanimously and without a roll call of the Hitchcock resolution, providing for an investigation of the charge made by Senators Lodge and Borah that a peace treaty "leak" had caused copies of the document to fall into private hands in New York city.

The Johnson resolution was rushed through by the Republican majorities when its leaders, immediately after passage of the Hitchcock measure, caught the Democrats napping and a number of Democratic senators were absent from the chamber.

Passage of the Hitchcock resolution followed the withdrawal by Senator Lodge of a similar resolution sponsored by Senator Kellogg (Republican, Minnesota), which Lodge had urged as a substitute for Hitchcock's.

The Hitchcock resolution directs the foreign relations committee to investigate the statements by Senators Lodge and Borah that the treaty text is in New York while it is denied to the senate.

Adoption of the resolution followed a bitter fight between Hitchcock and Kellogg, which was settled by the passage of the substitute.

The substitute, introduced by Senator Kellogg, Minnesota, provided for an investigation also of the statements that the treaty had been circulated in Germany and other countries.

It did not mention either Lodge or Borah as Hitchcock's resolution did. This drew from Hitchcock the charge that Lodge was trying to escape responsibility because of the hydrant having the investigation cover a broad scope and not be confined to specific charge.

Lodge leaped to his feet, white with anger.

"Do you deny that I saw it?" Lodge shouted.

"I insist on my right to investigate the senator's statement," said Hitchcock.

The two advanced to the middle aisle, where they glared at each other.

Hitchcock declared Lodge was sager than a whip.

Johnson interrupted to assure Hitchcock that if he would stop talking the resolution would quickly be passed.

"Oh, I'll take my chances with public opinion," replied Lodge.

Kellogg at once withdrew the substitute and the Hitchcock resolution was passed by a vote of 54 to 36.

Immediately afterward Senator Johnson called up his resolution which for more than a week has kept the senate in constant debate on the treaty and the attitude of the nation.

The foreign relations committee will begin the investigation at once, Senator Lodge announced. A sub-committee probably will be appointed to conduct it. Under the Hitchcock resolution the committee is ordered to learn whether the treaty text is in the hands of persons in New York, how it got there, and what special or peculiar interest they have in it.

WILSON NOT TO PREVENT PROHIBITION

PARIS, June 6.—(I. N. S.)— Unless congress intervenes, wartime prohibition will go into effect on July 1.

The International News Service was authorized to state officially today that President Wilson will take no further steps to prevent the United States from going dry on that date.

The president has been inundated with appeals from America to set aside the wartime prohibition measure, because of the belief that congress will fail to act upon his recommendation, but he has taken the stand that he is unable to do anything further, in view of Attorney General Palmer's decision.

The president, however, plans to disclose the effects of the wartime prohibition measure with the cabinet on his return to the United States, before the law becomes effective.

President Wilson expressed his warmest satisfaction at the action of the senate in passing the woman suffrage measure, and said he was convinced enough state legislatures will ratify the amendment to permit women to vote in the next presidential election.

RUTH'S ATTORNEY TURNS PROSECUTOR

Attorney Hilan Throws Bombshell Into Defense Camp at Trial of Dudley Storrs.

Okanogan, Wash., June 6.—(U. P.)—Ruth Garrison, girl lover of Dudley Storrs, was scheduled to take the witness stand today for the state and give evidence to help convict him of seduction.

Ruth Garrison has turned against Storrs, according to A. R. Hilan, who with Thomas M. Askren of Seattle, saved the youthful slayer of Storrs' wife, Mrs. Grace Eldest, Storrs, from a life term at Walla Walla.

Hilan passed a bombshell into the camp of the defense Thursday when he announced that he had been sworn in as a special deputy prosecutor by the state.

Hilan will take the center of the stage as prosecutor. In the twinkling of an eye Ruth switched from Storrs' defense to a prospective star witness for the state.

Originally summoned to Okanogan on a court order obtained by P. D. Smith, Storrs' attorney, the defense fully expected to use Ruth as the main bulwark of its fight against the charges of seduction laid by the state against the former King county deputy sheriff.

Party of Scientists Believed to Have Perished at Sea

San Diego, Cal., June 6.—(I. N. S.)— All members of the crew of the yawl Trojan and members of a party of scientists on a voyage of exploration are believed to have perished by the found- ering of the Trojan on a storm off the lower California coast, May 15.

G. O. Little and Henry R. Crane, members of the exploring party, which left San Diego on the Trojan, April 1, were rescued here today on the motorship Gryme, from Ensenada. They say they landed from the Trojan May 15 at Santa Catarina and while they were ashore a terrific storm arose forcing the yawl to put to sea. The last they saw of the vessel it was foundering in the heavy sea, apparently in imminent danger of sinking, has not been reported since.

They were picked up and taken to Ensenada in a wagon by a mining man. At San Quentin they told the captain of the power boat Arrellanes of the disappearance of the Trojan and he went in search of the missing vessel.

The secretary also spoke warmly for the League of Nations.

PREPARING PLANS FOR BIG STRIKE

Officials of Telegraphers Organ- ization Will Meet Tomorrow in Chicago to Meet the Issue.

Konenkamp Says Fact That Bur- leson Has Given Wires Back Has Not Changed Situation.

Washington, June 6.—(I. N. S.)—Plans for the nation-wide strike of telegraphers will be perfected at a conference of union officials in Chicago tomorrow, S. J. Konenkamp, international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, announced today.

Just before calling out the Western Union telegraphers of the south-eastern district, following the announcement that Postmaster General Burleson had restored the lines for operation by their owners, Konenkamp asserted that he had no hopes for a peaceful settlement.

"If we are forced to strike to protect our rights to organize and bargain collectively," he said, "I feel that the best place for directing such a fight is from our international headquarters in Chicago."

A general strike, Konenkamp added, would affect only the telegraphers of those companies which had just been relinquished from government control.

"Mr. Burleson's getting out from under does not change our situation in the least," Konenkamp declared.

H. C. Worthen, general manager of the Western Union in Atlanta, declared himself to be satisfied with the turn of events, stating that there were only 147 employees on strike at Atlanta, of whom 75 were operators.

STRIKE LEADERS CLAIM 95 PER CENT HAVE QUIT

Atlanta, Ga., June 6.—Strike leaders of the telegraphers claim that 95 per cent of Western Union telegraph workers in the Southeast have already responded to President S. J. Konenkamp's strike order issued Thursday.

H. C. Worthen, general manager of the Western Union in Atlanta, declared at 9:30 a. m. that the telegraphers had quit their work.

Mile-a-Minute Ships Predicted for Near Future by Navy Head

Annapolis, Md., June 6.—(I. N. S.)— The navy dares anything.

This was the keynote of an address by the secretary of the Navy Department at the graduating exercises of the United States naval academy here today. Reviewing the accomplishments of the navy in peace and war, the secretary predicted that the inventive genius of its men would in the not far distant future develop ships capable of a speed of 60 miles an hour and airplanes with a speed of 200 miles an hour.

"We might paraphrase John Paul Jones' phrase, 'I have just begun to fight,' and say of Americans, 'We have just begun to invent,'" said the secretary.

The secretary also spoke warmly for the League of Nations.

The day of isolation for America has passed. The ancients believed the seas were made to separate nations. We have learned that they were created to unite them in bonds of friendship. The close and intimate association of the men of the American navy with the naval

JOHNSON'S SHAT WILL LAND IN RING JUNE 14

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(I. N. S.)— The candidacy of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson for president of the United States will be launched here June 14. Invitations were sent out from this city today to Republican leaders of every county, town and hamlet in the state to "attend a conference to be held here June 14 to consider ways and means of bringing about the nomination of Hiram W. Johnson for president at the Republican convention in 1920."

Progressive Republicans, conservative Republicans, in fact, all varieties of Republicans in California, are said to have united to proclaim Senator Johnson as the national party leader.

The call for the meeting June 14 bears the names of such conservative Republicans as L. W. Hellman, Jr., former United States senator, Frank P. Flint, Herbert Fleischhacker, San Francisco banker; George I. Cochran and other representatives of the conservative wing of the party, together with the names of Chester Rowell, Fresno publisher; C. H. Bentley, Irving Martin, Stockton publisher; John Francis Neylan, San Francisco publisher, and other representatives of the progressive wing of the party.

The senate interstate commerce committee, at a special meeting this morning decided that Postmaster General Burleson's order Thursday announcing return of control to the owners constitutes a release of some responsibility, but not actual control in connection with the properties.

Burleson himself, in a letter to the committee today, expressed a desire to correct any impression that he had turned back anything but control of operation. So after adopting an amendment to continue existing rates for 30 days instead of 60 days, as provided in the original resolution, the committee decided to stand pat on the Kellogg wire return measure as submitted to the senate.

TELEGRAPHERS HERE PREPARE FOR STRIKE

Headquarters Opened in Stock Exchange Building; Ready for Walkout.

Temporary strike headquarters for local 22 of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union were today established on the fourth floor of the Stock Exchange building at Third and Yamhill streets, preparatory to registration of the strikers when the walkout is called for this afternoon by the Western Union Telegraph company. While no word has been received definitely setting a strike, preparations are being made so that the workers may be called from their posts within an hour after the order comes.

From the local situation it appears that the Postal Telegraph company may not be involved in the strike. A bulletin promulgated this morning by local officials, reads:

"Do not get Postal in a jam under any conditions at present. Nothing to give out official yet."

The rumors indicated in the bulletins here are to the effect that the Postal is employing many of the Western Union strikers. One bulletin announced as from Atlanta where the strike against the Western Union first broke out, reads:

"The Postal Telegraph company employing strikers of Western Union as fast as they walk out."

According to the local officials, the strike, if it becomes national, will be a complete tie-up of the business of the country except where the Postal and Federal telegraph companies operate. It is stated at the local headquarters that the Commercial Telegraphers will refuse to handle any Western Union business, and that this will tie up the commercial business in 20,000 cities. A review of the rank and file have the brokerage telegraphers strike at the same time so as to tie up the big business interests.

"I am attaching copies of the order and statement made by me at the time same was issued."

WIRE OFFICIALS GIVES VIEWS
N. C. Kingsbury, vice president of the American Telegraph & Telephone company, declared prior to the statement issued by Burleson that "Burleson's order operating the lines of the company so that board only and allowed the company to take charge of actual operations."

But the postmaster general, he said, "will hold control over the wires with the wire control board, of which he is chairman."

"Then his order was simply a piece of film-flam," said Senator Kellogg, chairman of the committee. "It doesn't count anything."

"Wasn't its purpose, perhaps, to pass the buck on the strike?" asked Senator Watson.

Kingsbury asserted there had been an error in the official statement issued last night by the postoffice department.

"The publicity bureau in its heading written over the text of Mr. Burleson's order was unfortunately misleading," Kingsbury declared.

"It is stated that the telegraph and telephone wires were being returned to their respective owners by Burleson. The publicity department tried to correct the heading but apparently it was too late, as the statement already had been sent out."

BURLESON CONTROLS WIRES YET

Restoration Order Only Releases Operating Board Appointed De- cember 13, 1918, It Is Said.

Congress Plans to Press Early Passage of Resolutions Pro- viding for Return of Properties

Washington, June 6.—(U. P.)—Congress will go ahead and press early passage of its resolutions providing for return of the telegraph and telephone properties to their original owners, according to the outlook today.

The senate interstate commerce committee, at a special meeting this morning decided that Postmaster General Burleson's order Thursday announcing return of control to the owners constitutes a release of some responsibility, but not actual control in connection with the properties.

Burleson himself, in a letter to the committee today, expressed a desire to correct any impression that he had turned back anything but control of operation. So after adopting an amendment to continue existing rates for 30 days instead of 60 days, as provided in the original resolution, the committee decided to stand pat on the Kellogg wire return measure as submitted to the senate.

BURLESON SENDS LETTER
Burleson's letter to the committee follows:

"An order issued by me yesterday relative to the operation of the telegraph and telephone systems has been construed by some as actual return of the properties to the owners. No such action has been taken by me nor is any contemplated. This order simply dissolves the operating board appointed by me under date of December 13, 1918, and directs that the systems be again operated by the regular operating officials under government supervision.

"Responsibility of the government to these systems in no wise ceases. It being evident that these properties are to be returned in the future, it was necessary for the postmaster general to take steps immediately to set up the regular operating officials and to have the company when the properties are turned back it can be done without confusion or interruption to the service, was the purpose of the order."

"This order in no wise affects the legislation pending before your committee or before congress. It will enable the companies to begin steps immediately to prepare the data and collect the information to be submitted to the state commissions for the rate cases, which will probably be taken up immediately after the period of government control ends."

"I am attaching copies of the order and statement made by me at the time same was issued."

Daylight Saving in Disfavor in House

Washington, June 6.—(U. P.)—A resolution to repeal the daylight saving law the last Sunday in October—the day the clocks go back to standard time—was favorably reported by the house inter- state commerce committee today.
