

ALLIES WILL REPLY TO CLAIMS FRIDAY

Economic Conditions, as Modified, Practically Agreed Upon by the Big Four.

Paris, June 11.—(U. N. S.)—The complete rejoinder of the allies to the German counter proposals will be handed to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, on Friday.

The big four this morning practically completed the economic conditions and made material progress toward completing the clauses relating to the League of Nations and the left bank of the Rhine. It is planned to allow the German delegation to proceed to Weimar and present the amended treaty for consideration by the German national assembly. Germany will then be required to signify within a week whether she accepts or rejects the treaty.

Clemenceau and Lloyd George are generally accepting the Wilsonian suggestions in dealing with the German counter claims. The president has sharply rebuffed the adamant attitude of both, declaring:

"Unless there is the speediest action immediately it is useless to continue. Bolshevism will triumph over law and order."

His declaration was followed by immediate concessions, making possible an early agreement.

The French press is wrought up over the idea of including the Germans in the league sooner than at first planned, some of the newspapers declaring flatly that France will not be a member if Germany is taken in immediately.

The commission on Hungarian, Roumanian and Bohemian boundaries turned in its report this morning.

Chancellor Renner's first note in protest against the Austrian treaty, delivered today, takes up the economic situation and declares the treaty renders industrial and commercial life in Austria impossible.

Will Sign, It Is Predicted
Berlin, June 11.—(U. N. S.)—Germany probably will send her final reply to the allies on June 19 or 20. In spite of solemn protests, it is now growing clear that her answer will be "yes."

TELEGRAPH STRIKE IS SCATTERED

pany, according to reports reaching Chicago, the headquarters of the strike, today.

Every report received here has indicated that a majority of the Postal operators have struck while the number of Western Union employees who walked out has not yet been shown to be sufficiently large to tie up the system that company. Although not entirely paralyzed, the Postal system is badly handicapped by the strike while the Western Union is able thus far to maintain at least a semblance of its regular service.

FEW OUT IN INDIANAPOLIS
Western Union officials have advanced the claim that they have been 90 per cent strong, but this statement is not borne out by reports from cities where the strike is in progress.

Five telegraphers of the Postal company walked out at Indianapolis during the forenoon, but officials of the Western Union declared not one of their 180 telegraphers and telephone operators is out.

In the southern states the strike call today produced little added effect, as operators in that section have been on strike for several days. Atlanta, Ga., reports, however, that 17 men and women, out of a working force of 19, at the Postal offices walked out today while 10 additional employees of the Western Union joined the strike.

MESSANGERS JOIN STRIKE
It was announced at noon that between 500 and 750 operators had gone on strike in Chicago. This includes virtually the entire force of the Postal company, and many Western Union operators, although the number of Western Union men out is not sufficient to tie up the system. The Postal lines here are practically tied up by the walk-out. Messenger boys and girls here swelled the ranks of the strikers. Broker operators continued at work as usual.

Striking employees of the Western Union here charged today that officials of that company are withholding Liberty bonds bought and paid for by men discharged by their union affiliations.

Detroit reports the Postal system completely tied up and a number of Western Union employees out.

In Oklahoma City it is reported that only five men out of a force of 50 men are at work in the Western Union offices.

President Koenenkamp, of the telegraphers' union, declared today that the right of the men to organize, the right to bargain collectively, the discontinuance of discrimination against union men and women employees, reinstatement of workers locked out by the Western Union because of union affiliations and increasing wages proportionate to the increase of the cost of living are the issues involved in the strike.

How extensive the strike is will not be known until more accurate reports of the number of men who walked out begin to come in from the cities affected by the strike. At present writing it is impossible to state definitely how many men are out.

QUIT AT MIDNIGHT AT OMAHA
President Koenenkamp of the Telegraphers estimates the number who will respond to the strike call at between 40,000 and 70,000. Officials of the telegraph companies declare the number will be much smaller, asserting that sufficient operators will remain at work to permit operation of the telegraph systems with little interruption.

Although the strike was set for 7 o'clock this morning, the night force of the Western Union and Postal companies at Omaha, Neb., quit their posts at midnight. Practically every employee of the night shift, both men and women, then went forward to reports reaching here.

STRIKE INCLUDES CABLES
Besides the telegraph systems of the Western Union and Postal, the strike will include the cables, the union officials asserting they hope in this way to bring the trouble directly to the attention of President Wilson. The American Telegraph & Telephone company, union officials state, also will be affected.

President Koenenkamp issued a statement at 8 o'clock today in which he declared the full effect of the strike will not be known for a few days.

WILL INCREASE IN FORCE
"The strike will increase in force throughout the week," he said. "The telegraph workers have been forced to make a test of strength because no other avenue of adjustment is open to them. It is only when the strength lies on the side of the workers that arbitration is pointed to as the way out. We are confident the result will be in our favor."

Koenenkamp said it was impossible for him to estimate now the number of men out, but disclosed reports that the Western Union is "running 100 per cent."

"IT'S A FIZZLE," IS COMMENT OF CARLTON
New York, June 11.—(U. N. S.)—Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, told Postmaster General Burleson over the long distance telephone shortly before noon today that the strike of telegraphers was "a fizzle."

"We have received reports from all seven divisions of our system," said Carlton, "and everywhere traffic is clear."

CALIFORNIA BIDS FOR CONVENTION

the smaller city, but not less vigorous community, in plans for program, hospitality and entertainment.

LOS ANGELES MAKES PROMISES
As time honored custom gives to the next year's convention city the president and secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's association, Dave Matthews of Stockton will be president of the P. C. A. M. A. if general predictions may be believed.

Los Angeles delegates are likewise circulating industriously promises of unprecedented and unexcelled entertainment and hospitality to the Southern California city be honored.

As the "best advertised city in the United States," the representatives of Los Angeles declare they have little need to expand upon the delights in prospect for convention attendants. F. J. Wadley Jr. is understood to be Los Angeles' candidate for president.

WILL NAME REPRESENTATIVE
Another important action during the closing hours of the advertising convention will be the nomination of a vice president to represent the Pacific coast in the Associated Ad Clubs of the World. F. W. Kellogg, Los Angeles publisher, now occupies that position, but he is said not to be a candidate, and the "dope sheet" has on it the name of Rollin C. Ayres of San Francisco, long a leader in Pacific coast advertising circles.

Advertising men from many states were guests of the Portland Ad club at its regular "extraordinary luncheon at the Multnomah at noon. Women delegates were entertained, as yesterday, by the Portland Women's Advertising club at the Benson hotel. Miss Florence Prevost, president of the club, presiding.

OAKLAND HOST TONIGHT
This evening Oakland will play host to the officers of the Portland Ad club and of the P. C. A. M. A. at the Benson as a return for hospitality offered the large and brilliant delegation from San Francisco's competitive city.

Ordinarily delegates to advertising as well as other conventions hurry out of town on the last day. The delegates of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's as-

SHRINERS ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Selection of Next Convention City Will Be Decided at Indianapolis Tomorrow.

Indianapolis, June 11.—(U. P.)—W. Freeland Kendrick, Philadelphia, today was elected imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Domain of North America. He succeeded Elias J. Jacoby, Indianapolis.

Ellis L. Garretson, Tacoma, Wash., at the same time became deputy imperial potentate, and Ernest A. Cutts, Savannah, Ga., moved forward to imperial chief rabban, the position held by Garretson. James S. McCandless, Honolulu, went forward from imperial priest and high prophet to imperial assistant rabban.

Tomorrow will be devoted to selecting the location for the next annual meeting. There is a hot battle between the Al Kadar temple of Portland, Or., and the Jerusalem temple of New Orleans to entertain the Shriners next year.

social intent, most of them, to stay the rest of the week. Primarily their deferred departure is because of the fact that they want to witness the Rose Festival. But the thing immediately in their minds as an urgent reason for remaining is the trout breakfast to be given to the visitors in the beautiful environs of Eagle Creek park on the Columbia river highway Thursday morning. Five hundred trout have been provided for this, the most unique bit of hospitality ever planned in Portland, and it is said to be no fish story that 400 of the 500 speckled beauties exceed nine inches in length. In addition, there will be 10 full crates of the largest and most luscious strawberries grown in Hood River valley, together with cream, yellow and thick, as it should be to go with fruit so delicious. An attentive audience greeted Colonel Harris Weinstein, state market director of California, and western leader of Pacific coast cooperative marketing organization.

California orange growers, said Colonel Weinstein, in an address memorable to every advertising man, spent last year $400,000 for advertising and the raisin growers $375,000. They sold their crops at an excellent profit. There was a time when 6000 carloads of citrus fruits glutted the national markets and growers received "red letter reports," which means that they not only lost their work, their packing, their fruit and the cost of transportation, but that they owed something to the fellow on the other side of the country. Last year 50,000 carloads of California citrus fruits were marketed and the market was not glutted and the income was $75,000,000.

California is cooperatively marketing $200,000,000 worth of fruit products a year, said Colonel Weinstein. The citrus, peach, prune, olive, hops, cotton, cantaloupe and other products are all severally organized. They have found cooperative marketing associations the secret of success. Colonel Weinstein recommended the same policy for Oregon and for Oregon's success.

M. V. Moriarty of San Diego spoke on "What the Advertising Club Has Meant to Me," and H. C. Stubbs of Chicago discussed the deliberation and analysis required in planning a national advertising campaign. The newspapers and magazines," said Mr. Stubbs, "have carried the message of the Pacific Coast to the East."

The reconstruction problem is a clinch compared to the crucial problem that is going to face the United States after the world has settled down to peace time activities, declared William C. Killemann, secretary of the Los Angeles Advertising club, who spoke on "Applying War Methods to After-the-War Business."

MUST MEET COMPETITION
"Foreign countries come to America for goods only when they can get them nowhere else, because Americans have not catered to foreign needs," said Mr. Killemann. "The American business is self satisfied and has always been self satisfied. It has reaped and harvested at home and has never had anything to do with international business. During the war period employees released from war time occupations will be employed in peace time manufacture, but the crucial period will be when European countries start using in the face, when Europe says, 'We can now buy English machinery or merchandise and French machinery and merchandise.' The United States produces one and one half times more than its domestic requirements, resulting in the high standards of living and good wages. If these high standards and wages are to be maintained, asserted Mr. Killemann, it must be through international trade secured through the same methods as the war was won."

Statutory Crime Charged
C. V. Peterson was arrested today by Deputy Constable Hennick on a statutory charge involving a 15 year old girl.

Plan Is to Close Chinese Pheasant Season October 13

Believing that it will be impossible to build up the game resources of the Willamette valley unless some restriction is placed on the hunting season, members of the state fish and game commission made a tentative decision at a meeting Tuesday afternoon to close the season on China pheasants west of the Cascades October 13, thus giving only 12 shooting days this year. The meeting was held to discuss the pheasant proposition.

The commission decided to purchase as many pheasants as possible outside the production of the commission farm at Corvallis, which will be able to provide about 3200 birds this fall. Arrangements have been made with the Inn Ringneck Pheasant farm at Albany for 400 pairs of birds and a communication has been sent to the Benson Pheasant farm, at Silverton, requesting all extra birds which have not already been contracted for.

Two thousand pheasants will be liberated this fall after the season is closed and the remainder of the birds at the farm will be held at the same farm at Corvallis during the following spring. If the venture of holding the birds at the farm over the winter season proves successful the commission will obtain other land for a breeding and holding farm.

Japanese Wins Suit
A jury in Circuit Judge Bell's court awarded T. Sumida $104.68 in his action against the Western Machinery company to recover the amount he had paid for some furniture and which had never been delivered to him.

"The route selected is what is known as the high line. After leaving Mosier, it proceeds along the side of the hill to Hog canyon, which is traversed for a ways and crossed near the head. The route then descends the hill to Rowena, where it connects with the old abandoned railroad grade, which will be utilized to Chenoweth creek. The location reaches an elevation of about 700 feet and affords one of the most magnificent views on the river. The estimated cost is $235,100. The principal construction is between Mosier and Rowena, the cost of which is estimated at $116,000.

The commission also definitely located the Oregon and Washington highway between the mouth of Willow creek and Heppner.

The highway commission left this afternoon on an inspection trip over the Pacific highway as far as the California line.

ENJOY THE SUNSHINE WITHOUT SUNBURN

NOW is the time of the year when Nature, robed in her best, calls all womanhood out of doors to enjoy the many summer activities—motoring, boating, hiking, bathing and the myriad other forms of outdoor diversion. Naturally, the woman who is blessed with a lovely complexion dislikes to have its beauty marred by sun or wind, nor need she suffer such inconvenience if she will keep for use, on her dressing table, a bottle of Santiseptic Lotion, that delightfully pleasing and refreshing toilet necessity which absolutely protects the skin from sunburn, windburn, tan, freckles and other affections caused by the change from indoor to outdoor life. Santiseptic softens and whitens the skin, and helps to promote its natural beauty by clearing it of eruptions and producing a pleasing, velvety texture. Santiseptic also heals other skin irritations, such as oak or ivy bites, mosquito and other insect bites. It's remarkable in its healing, soothing action. Santiseptic is prepared in tint of white, flesh and brunette. It is easily procured at most drug and department stores. If you cannot secure it send 50 cents, with dealer's name, to the Ebsworth Laboratories, Portland, Or., for a full-size bottle, postpaid.—Adv.
