recognition in the wreckage of the plane and engine. Spectators who reached the machine within a few minutes after it fell were unable to get at the bodies, which had been covered by the debris of the machine.

MILKOWSKI NOT ON DUTY

The police patrol and the ambulance arrived in about 15 minutes from the time the fall was reported and assisted the soldiers who had taken charge of the wreckage in extricating the bodies of the fallen aviators. A visitor and pilots attached to the aviation squadron who gathered at the scene were ordered to report over town by Lieutenant Earl Neubig, adjutant of the group from Mather field.

Lieutenant Neubig stated that Sergeant Milkowski was flying out of line of duty and that he should not have been in the air in the privately owned machine.

Hutchinson, who had shipped his plane to Portland from San Francisco unassisted, on Wednesday, had taken the parts to Eastmoreland to secure the assistance of the mechanics there in putting them together. The plane was not completed and ready for flight until Friday afternoon and it was on the first trip that the tragedy occurred.

EXHIBITION FLIGHTS PLANNED HELD COMMISSION AS AVIATOR

Mr. Hutchinson had been in the army for two years and had held a commission as an aviator for nearly a year. He was discharged in February at Rockwell aviation field and returned to his Dayton, Wash., ranch, where his wife awaited him. His sister, Miss Pauline, declares her brother was reputed to be one of the most accomplished aviators at Rockwell and had acted there as an instructor for some months. He had received orders to prepare for overseas service when the armistice was signed.

According to the statement this morning of Mrs. S. W. Hester, mother of the aviator's wife, Mr. Hutchinson had insured his airplane and also had life insurance. The members of the family did not know that the body was at the morgue until advised by The Journal and were frantically endeavoring to learn details of the accident.

The tragedy occurred 11 months to a day after Mr. Hutchinson's wedding to Miss Lucille Hester of Walla Walla. The aviator and his bride had long been friends and had been in love since they were children. They were married in Dayton, according to the parents.

About a month ago he appeared before the Commercial club of North Yakima, announced his intention of purchasing an airplane and made arrangements to give an exhibition flight over the city and surrounding towns on July 4.

Hutchinson purchased the machine from Earl C. Cooper of 18 Oak street, San Francisco, on June 4, according to a bill of sale found in his pocket. After trying out the machine in California, he dismantled it and shipped it to this city on the steamer Rose City. It was unloaded Wednesday and taken to Eastmoreland.

Hutchinson presented himself to Colonel Watson of the Victory Rose Festival fleet soon after his arrival and secured the officer's permission to assemble his plane and use the flying field in common with the army flyers. He had hired Sergeant Milkowski, who was an experienced mechanic, to help him assemble the plane.

No particular attention was paid to Hutchinson. He worked at his machine for three days. Milkowski spent his time, while off duty, in working with Hutchinson, and assisting him in setting up his plane.

ASSEMBLING JUST FINISHED

Hutchinson finished assembling his machine about 6 o'clock Friday night and taking it to the flying field, hopped off. After a short trial trip he made a perfect landing, then he started aviators, mechanics and the public by some of the sensations and hair raising stunts he began to perform. He dove, banked close to the ground, swooped over the tents and aviation field at a few feet from the ground, and then rose to the clouds in a few minutes.

He headed down, performed a number of loops and tail spins and continued to descend. He finished the turn, righted himself, and then, without any warning, dove straight for the earth. The fuselage and motor hit the concrete sidewalk and instantly became an unrecognizable mass of human flesh and wreckage. One of the wings was crushed on a bank, the other landed on the pavement.

According to other aviators, Hutchinson planned to fly to Walla Walla today, stopping at his home town of Dayton. He remarked to friends that he had purchased the plane to facilitate travel between his two wheat ranches near Dayton, as he thought that an airplane was much safer than an automobile.

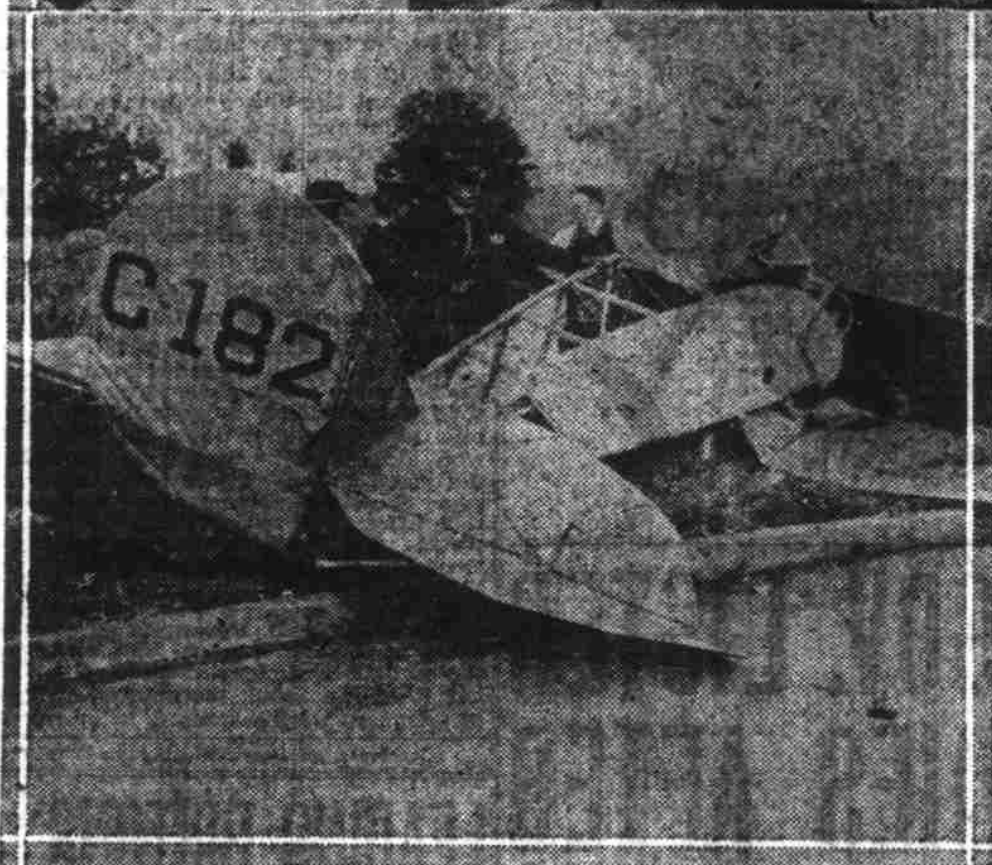

Officers of the army "flying circus" stated that they knew Hutchinson had served in the army but did not know whether he was an officer or not. According to the aviators, he was an excellent and experienced pilot and was started them by the stunts he performed during the few minutes he was in the air.

COLONEL WATSON SHOCKED

"This accident," said Colonel Watson, commander of the army flying circus, "emphasizes the necessity of government control of flying. Had Mr. Hutchinson been a pilot, under stringent government rules, he never would have attempted the feat which cost him his life. From all information available, I believe the theory of his losing control of the machine while within a few feet of the ground is the natural one. After looping the loop he finished the stunt within a few hundred feet of the earth. Government pilots never would have attempted such a foolhardy stunt, as they are required to finish all feats at least 1500 feet from the earth."

"The machine, I believe, was a good one. Of course the accident may have occurred from poor inspection, mechanical defects, or some unknown cause. The Curtiss plane is a well known ship, and we have used hundreds of them in

AIRPLANE SMASH THAT COST TWO LIVES

Wreckage at scene of disaster in which W. B. Hutchinson, late army aviator, and Sergeant John Milkowski, mechanic, were instantly killed after it had crashed nose down into cement walk opposite municipal golf links at Eastmoreland. Bottom—Tail structure of wrecked plane, supposed to have become jammed and prevented proper maneuvering.

AVIATION GETS BLACK EYE

"Such accidents give aviation a black eye, and destroy the faith of the people in aircraft. Besides the tragedy of the death of the two men, the accident has retarded the efforts of the flyers in making the navigation of the air a reality in civil life."

R. C. Barnes, president of the Oregon Aircraft Transportation company, who witnessed the accident, said it was due to the recklessness and daring with which Hutchinson was operating his machine. He said his firm owned an exact duplicate of the machine which crashed and that the "stunts" which the unfortunate victim was putting his plane through unquestionably were too severe for that type of machine.

One of the army officers declared he had warned Hutchinson to be more cautious on his plane before he attempted flight, but the owner did not heed the suggestion. "Somebody may have had a part in the accident."

TRIP INTO KOREA VERIFIES REPORTS

to the jail which were already crowded. While I was in the city I spent some time in the Beveridge hospital as patient and saw wounded men taken out by the police, one of them having been beaten to death.

Two days later the hospital was repeatedly entered and the patients cautioned, those in charge being unable to prevent it. Detectives even attempted in the night time secretly to enter my room while I was critically ill. In Seoul, Koreans were not allowed to be on the streets after dark and were not allowed to get their groups larger than three. All the prisoners were brutally and disgustingly treated. Innocent persons were being continually arrested, kept in overcrowded prisons a month or more and then, after being flogged, released without trial.

Northern Korea suffered the most from the Japanese brutalities. In the Pingyang and Sensan districts whole villages were destroyed and churches burned, many of which I saw and photographed.

In Pingyang I interviewed the governor and easily saw that he was powerless, everything being in the hands of the chief of the gendarmerie. At first I was not allowed to enter the prison, but the governor general of Korea telegraphed his permission. I found it clean and the prisoners were well fed, but the overcrowded condition of the cells caused untold suffering. In one room, 10 feet by 6, were more than 30 prisoners. The prisoners were not allowed to talk and the total normal capacity of the building was 800, but the occupants then numbered 2100. He said he had requested the government to enlarge the prison immediately as otherwise epidemics would break out as soon as hot weather came.

CHRISTIANS DRIVEN OUT

I visited an interior village to learn the truth of a report that the Christians had been driven from their homes. The local head official, not a Christian, admitted to me that the non-Christian villagers had driven the Christians into the mountains because the local military official gendarme had warned him that their presence would result in the village being shot up. He said he had the most friendly feeling for the Christians, but drove them out in self protection.

In other villages which I visited the buildings had been entirely destroyed and the places were deserted. In some places I found only a few terrorized and tearful women who did not dare to speak to a foreigner because the local gendarmes would beat and torture them if they did so. The majority of the schools throughout the country are closed, and in most places the missionaries are not allowed to hold services. Though innocent of wrongdoing they are under continual suspicion. It was impossible for them or others to use the telegraph and postoffice, the strictest censorship prevailing.

LIKE SHEEP TO SLAUGHTER

Undoubtedly an attempt is being made to undermine Christianity and make the position of the missionaries so difficult that it will be impossible for them to carry on their work.

In the course of my investigation I was deeply impressed with the pitiful condition of the Korean people. They are allowed only a limited education and attempts are being made to cause them to forget their national history and their language. There is no freedom of the press or of public meeting. The people are subject to the harshest regulations and punishments without any court of appeal. They are like sheep to the slaughter.

UNION HELLO GIRLS ARE TO JOIN STRIKE

railroad offices have refused to handle commercial business and there is constant interruption of service. Lines in use by the Western Union company, declare operators still working for the company.

Telephone operators are asking for more wages and for the privilege of collective bargaining. The present wage scale of the telephone girls is about $15 a week for day work and $18 on the night shift. The wage scale asked for is as follows:

	Day	Evening	Night
Students, 1st 3 months	$2.00	$2.15	$2.30
End of 3 months	2.50	2.65	2.80
End of 6 months	3.00	3.15	3.30
End of 9 months	3.50	3.65	3.80
End of 12 months	4.00	4.15	4.30
End of 15 months	4.50	4.65	4.80
End of 18 months	5.00	5.15	5.30
All day straight super.	4.25	4.40	4.55

OPEN MEETINGS CALLED

The girls wish to be free from discrimination against union employees which they allege is practiced by officials of the telephone companies. Open meetings of the telephone operators' union will be held Monday and Tuesday nights for all telephone operators, union or non-union, including operators on private exchanges.

Conditions in the offices of the Western Union and Postal telegraph offices in Portland are practically unchanged since Friday, according to C. H. Preston, deputy international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, in charge of the strike in the Northwest. One strikebreaker in the east side office of the Postal company has left her post and two more operators left the Western Union main office this morning and are now numbered among the strikers. Mr. Preston declared this morning.

Promptly at 6 o'clock this morning, according to Mr. Preston, the railroad telegraphers started their war on the Western Union and Postal companies. Eighty thousand telegraphers in 30,000 railroad offices are affected by the strike and will discontinue handling Western Union messages, Mr. Preston said.

"The railroad telegraphers handle Western Union business on a commission basis and are under no obligation to continue accepting this business if they wish to discontinue doing so. The Western Union officials have been endeavoring to 'sell' the public into the belief that the United States railroad administration would force railroad telegraphers to accept Western Union messages."

JULIA O'CONNOR SENDS WORD TO PACIFIC COUNCILS

Atlantic City, N. J., June 14.—(U. P.)

—Julia O'Connor, head of the telephone operators' department, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared today she had sent orders to the Pacific coast for a strike of telephone operators there effective Wednesday.

Miss O'Connor, who is delegating to the labor convention here, said this strike was called in sympathy with the electrical workers who are scheduled to strike Monday. She asserted, a "telephone operators' strike" would be called next, if no settlement is reached.

Miss O'Connor gave out the following, saying it was a copy of a strike order sent this morning to union leaders in Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Oakland and Spokane:

"This will be your instructions that a strike of the telephone workers in the employ of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company will be effective Wednesday, June 18, at 7 o'clock, Pacific time. Proceed to take action necessary to place this order in effect. Advise open meetings of all operators be held to inform them of this action. Give wide publicity.
