

DR. MORROW IS NAMED NATIONAL COMMITTEE MAN

Democratic State Central Committee Indorses Wilson and League in Convention Here.

CHAMBERLAIN IS ACCLAIMED

Arrangements Begun for Entertainment of Homer Cummings in Portland June 30 and July 1

Dr. J. W. Morrow, ratified, in fact re-elected by the Democratic State Central committee at its meeting at the Portland hotel this morning, is now the national committee man for Oregon, without a doubt. Newton McCoy, placed in nomination by Oswald West, who explained that he did so intending to vote for Dr. Morrow, but with the desire that all contenders for the office be given a chance before the committee, received one vote. That one was cast by John Wall of Washington, who had explained that as the roll had proceeded down to his county without Mr. McCoy having been voted for, he would vote for him, though he favored the election of Dr. Morrow.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Resolutions introduced by Thomas H. Crawford and Samuel L. Garland were adopted indorsing the administration of President Wilson, the League of Nations as a part of the peace treaty, and the efforts put forth by Senator Chamberlain to advance the cause of the nation throughout the war. These resolutions, as presented and adopted, were as follows:

The world combat in which the powers of autocracy sought to dominate the world has been won for universal freedom among mankind. Out of its blood and devastation, its sorrow and tears, world democracy, the right of the people to rule themselves in justice and equity one to another, has risen triumphant and dominant. Germany and her associated powers have fallen before the victorious armies of the United States and her allies. Peace is near—a peace of justice and humanity.

Through all the anxious days when the men of America were fronting the arms of the enemy on the field of France, the American nation has been led with wise statesmanship and vision, world humanity. It has occupied, and does occupy, a dominant place among the nations of the world. It has been the counselor and guide at Versailles, standing with calmness and equity, high statesmanship and world vision between the warring jealousies and racial contentions of the old world. What has been wrought there has been tempered by its wisdom for the betterment of all mankind, now and in the years to come. Because of these things, be it resolved, by the Democratic State Central Committee of the state of Ore-son, in special meeting assembled, that it hereby votes in full its indorsement of the eminent leadership, wise statesmanship and high character of the acts and administration of Woodrow Wilson; that it commends his acts and his efforts for humanity in the compelling influence he has exerted at the peace table, and be it further:

Resolved, that we voice our full indorsement of the League of Nations as an integral part of the treaty of peace, and be it further:

Resolved, that we are proud of the splendid services rendered our state and nation by United States Senator George F. Chamberlain; that his untiring efforts and fruitful work as chairman of the senate military committee in preparing and guiding through congress the great war measures which made victory possible is worthy of the highest praise; that his zeal, manifested at all times in behalf of the American soldier on the ranks, challenges the admiration of every patriotic citizen; that his constructive record in the senate is without parallel in history and places him in the ranks of the nation's leading statesmen.

COUNTIES REPRESENTED

The meeting was called to order by State Chairman Starkweather at 11 o'clock, with 27 counties represented either by their committeemen in person or by proxies. After approving the minutes of the previous meeting of June 23, 1918, at which Mr. Starkweather was elected, and also the recent meeting held in May last, when Dr. Morrow was elected national committeeman, the committee proceeded to the election of Dr. Morrow. Chairman Starkweather read a letter from Newton McCoy, in which he contended that he was legally elected, but offered to resign should the committee elect someone besides Morrow. He said, however, that if Morrow were to be elected he would contest the election before the national committee and if rejected there would go before the Wall of Washington. He also attacked Senator Chamberlain. His letter was filed without incorporation in the minutes of the meeting upon the motion of Senator Garland.

A committee was elected to assist Chairman Starkweather and Dr. Morrow in the entertainment of the national committeeman, Homer S. Cummings, on June 30 and July 1. It consisted of Chairman Starkweather, Mrs. Alexander Thompson, Mrs. Louise Weber, Oswald West, George Lovejoy, Dr. J. W. Morrow and Samuel L. Garland.
