

VATICAN CONTROL FEAR OF SHERMAN

Senator From Illinois Declares Catholic Vote Would Have Great Power in League.

Washington, June 20.—Fear that the vatican will be restored to temporal dominion over the world by organization of the League of Nations was expressed today by Senator Sherman of Illinois, in a speech to the senate.

Sherman, pointing out that 24 of the 40 nations which will be members of the league adhere to the Roman Catholic church, said the vatican will be able to control their votes in the league on political and economic questions.

LIBERTY ENDANGERED, SAYS
This, he intimated, may endanger religious liberty in the United States and elsewhere.

"From an early day," Sherman said, "the occupants of the vatican have believed and still believe in the inherent right of papal authority to administer civil government."

"It is with the utmost regret I fail to find recorded in the course of papal claims of later days any renunciation or disavowal of the doctrine. So far as a layman can discover, the vatican still believes it ought, and would, if the power permitted, assume to administer ecclesiastical and civil government."

"Of the original 32 member nations signatories to the proposed league, 28 are Christian nations and four are of other faiths. Of these 28 Christian nations, 17 are Catholic nations. The away over those people and their implicit faith in the infallibility of the head of this great religious organization is supreme."

LASTING POWER

"It is a power for good. Disintegrating socialism and its exponents recognize the solid rock of Roman Catholicism as a barrier in their way. The peril lies in the claim of papal power never abjured, never disavowed. There is always danger in great power in one hand with such a belief."

"Twenty-four of the 40 equal votes of the Christian nations, members of the league, are spiritually dominated by the vatican. The vatican is the most earnest advocate of the covenant of the League of Nations. With 24 out of 40 members of that league under his spiritual sway to convince him would require extended argument aside from the alleged merit of the document."

MURDER OR SUICIDE INQUEST QUERY IN DEATH OF SHIPMATE

Jury to Determine How F. J.
Sale, Found Dead in Cabin, Came to His End.

To determine whether it was possible for him to have fired three bullets into his own head, in which event the verdict will be suicide, or if he was murdered, a coroner's inquest will be held at Hoquiam, Wash., to inquire into the death of Frank J. Sale, first mate of the new wooden steamer Agrista. Word to this effect was received in Portland by Frank J. O'Connor, general agent of the Pacific Steamship company of Portland, which operates the steamer.

Sale was found dead in his cabin, with wounds as described, as the ship was proceeding from Grays Harbor to Astoria to coal at the latter port before proceeding to New York with a cargo of ties. An automatic revolver was found beside Sale's body, but experts at Grays Harbor are said to have declared that after receiving any one of the wounds Sale could not have inflicted the others on himself.
