His speech is an effort to fool people by appealing to religious prejudice. He stoops to despicable depths of trying to array religious denomination against religious denomination.

HIS SILLY SPEECH

That the pope at Rome might rule the world, and that religious liberty in the United States might be lost under the League of Nations was the hysterical argument of Sherman of Illinois in a speech in the senate yesterday.

How could the pope rule the world when he cannot rule Italy or even the city of Rome?
Once popes tried to rule the world, but it came to a wretched failure.

When Sherman sees one-man rule over the earth he sees red. He is out of his mind or his mind is out of him.

across the Cascade mountains and into Puget Sound terminals.
Stating it another way, there is a discrimination of 2682.94 tons for every ton mile of fuel used over these two roads in favor of Puget Sound terminals and interests and against the shippers and producers of the Inland Empire, and against the business men of Southwestern Washington and all other points served by the water grade.

OREGON FOR OREGON

THE organization of Oregon fruit growers is along progressive lines. It is intended once and for all to oust the California corporations from Oregon—corporations which are fattening on the Oregon growers and swallowing the profits of San Francisco stockholders.

It is pitiful to read that half the Oregon prune crop is handled by California concerns; that over 75 per cent of Oregon canned fruit goes out under California labels, and that thousands of tons of our cherries, pears and other fruits are sold as California products.

The total fruit crop of Oregon is less than 40 per cent of the fruit crop of California—but the big California corporations put up our fruit under their label only because Oregon fruit is better than their own.

That the Californians will fight to continue their strangle hold on one of our most important industries is to be expected, but directors in the new association of the type of Seymour Jones, J. O. Holt and R. C. Paulus are an assurance to the farmers and people of the state of Oregon that the domination by California of the fruit industry of this state is shortly to come to an end.

The new association proposes to extensively advertise Oregon fruits under an Oregon label so that the whole world may know of the wonderful products of this state. California is to be given a dose of her own medicine and the way will be made supremely easy for those growers who become members of the new association to market their products—under a state wide and nationally advertised brand.

Judge Derr, justice of the peace at Vancouver, evidently has his own views of justice. In dismissing a case brought by a local father who was suing for damages inflicted upon his offspring by a neighbor's dog, the judge remarked: "I am satisfied that the dog bit the boy, but probably the dog was justified."

DAYLIGHT SAVING

THE daylight saving law seems not to have many friends in congress. The senate, with but six negative votes, has ordained that the law shall become a dead letter. The house by a two to one vote fixed its death at next October.

Down in Sonora the governor has issued a proclamation to the effect that any bootlegger caught manufacturing or selling alcoholic liquor between now and September when the state is scheduled to go "wet," will be shot without trial, either civil or military.

NOT TENANTS, BUT OWNERS

FEW people pause to think that when they buy Savings Stamps they save taxes.
The war is not over yet, for the taxpayer. The government won the war on credit. Now it has got to pay the bill and it is a big one.

THE SOUNDS FALSE CLAIM

THE public service commission of Washington, in its championship of the railroad terminals and large business interests of Puget Sound, contends in opposition to the Columbia river water grade rate case that the petition of the Inland Empire Shippers' league seeks a tariff discriminatory against Puget Sound.

THE public service commission means to say, if it wishes to plead the truth, is that the existing rate is discriminatory in favor of Puget Sound's terminals and interests, and discriminatory against Southwestern Washington, Eastern Washington and the Inland Empire district.

ferences of opinion have caused misunderstanding and a lack of harmony among good roads enthusiasts.
A new view point is indicated by the returns from the recent election. All road measures carried. Cities voted for market roads and the country voted for state highways.

It is the sensible view point. A complete system of highways requires both market roads and main highways just as a railroad needs a trunk line and branches. The united vote augurs well for better roads throughout all Oregon.

And this great road system throughout the state has a signal meaning: Farms will take on a new dignity and a new development. That is the big thing in the road building.

OLD FOES FACE NEW LAND BILL

By Carl Smith, Washington Staff Correspondent of The Journal
Washington, June 21.—Representative N. J. Sinnott, chairman of the public lands committee of the house and pilot-in-chief of the Lane soldier land settlement bill in the lower branch of congress, has a new foe to contend with.

ALMOST daily, there are exorbitant advances in the price of coffee. Leading interests assert that the advance has just begun and that coffee is programmed to sell at $1 a pound and even more within a short time.

Speculators point to the very short supplies held in this country and claim that present crop prospects in South American plantations are very bad.

On the other hand, leading roaster and jobbing interests acknowledge that there is such a shortage, but assert that the stock has been purposely held short in order to be prepared for a break in price due to the sudden appearance on the market of a two years' supply held during the war in Brazil.

The roasters claim that the public is being robbed merely to swell the profits of Brazilian coffee gamblers, and that the excess money from the exorbitant prices does not go to the growers.

Some speculators lay stress on the fact that conclusion of peace would greatly increase exports to Germany and Austria, two of the largest coffee consuming nations in the world.

Meanwhile, coffee prices, even more than other prices, are availing, and consumers are holding their breath while waiting to see if their favorite beverage is to go to $1 per.

yearly bills for washable clothes and soap.
To build the aqueduct, the city contracted for a 1000 ft. concrete pipe 48 inches in diameter and a telegraph line. The road is 110 miles long and its locomotives and 115 cars are valued at $1,435,522.

School Bonds and Boards
Portland, June 19.—To the Editor of The Journal:—As a loyal and patriotic citizen of this city, and as a booster for any program or project in any way for the benefit of the community, I beg to say a few words on the coming school year.

Recently a million-dollar lot of road bonds were sold at a discount of nearly 30 percent. A similar amount was sold previously at a discount of 25 percent.

When I was a child, I remember seeing a dog named Lassie. It was a high-bred collie who had been there for a week and who was heart-broken at being kept in a pen and away from his family.

When Lassie lived with us for five or six years, she was as sensitive as she was to the tones of my voice and to the expressions of our faces that when my wife and I wanted to have any argument we had to go out into the backyard and talk to her.

When Lassie went the way of all flesh, she was followed by another collie named Wallace, who to give him the name by which we always called him, "Wally."
