

HAPPY BUNCH OF BOYS ARRIVES IN THIS CITY TODAY

Soldiers of 318th Engineers and Two Casual Detachments Stay Until 1 o'Clock This Afternoon

SIX HUNDRED DURING DAY

Reception Committee Is Still "Going Strong" as Ever When Day Is Ended; Dinner Novelty

In the bright lights their faces shone. They were happy. When they burst out with applause they applauded with their mouths, too, for they could hardly restrain themselves.

Who? Why, the 276 soldiers of the 318th engineers and the Camp Merritt Newport News casual detachments that arrived Monday in Portland at 8.15 a. m. and remained here till 1 a. m. Wednesday before going on to Camp Lewis. It was the last bunch that came in Monday, bringing the total arrivals for the day up past 600, and the reception committee, instead of being worn out, was just getting started.

It was all worth while, for the 318th engineers served with that hard-boiled Sixth division that didn't take anything from any Boche and it was a typical western regiment that got complimented all the way from General Pershing down to the lowest buck private in the line. It left Vancouver barracks April 22, 1918, for France. Until August 12 it worked as a construction division, and on that date marched to Brion, France, where the Sixth division was assembling. About September 1 the regiment got into action in the front lines and from then on showed what the "wild west" huskies from the Wild and Woolly West could do by way of building roads under shell fire, putting in mines, etc.

GREW MORE DARING

They kept growing more daring until November 5, when they started out from Grandpre and almost ran to meet up with the fleeing Boche. November 6, 7 and 8 were strenuous days, the order to move to the rear coming on November 9, followed almost immediately by orders to proceed to Verdun for another spell of activity. Then the armistice was signed and the regiment went back to road work and the commonplace tasks.

So Portland was specially glad to welcome them. Led by Campbell's band they marched from the Union station to the Benson hotel for dinner, and then to Cottillon hall for the monster dance given in honor of the many soldiers who were the city's guests Monday.

A novelty was introduced at dinner in the War Camp Community Service girls' chorus, which was the bright idea of Mrs. Ethel Chase Christie. With Mrs. Jane Hurns Albert leading, the chorus started the meal off in fine fashion by singing to the boys as they entered the dining-room. They were received by stunts of applause.

CAPTAIN LINDSLEY COMMANDS

Mayor Baker addressed the boys while they ate, telling them how welcome they were to the city. In the course of his remarks he mentioned that Portland was going to raise $250,000 for the Salvation Army, and the applause that followed lasted several minutes and was padded with cheers that broke out spontaneously.

use of the West to relieve the congestion of the Eastern cities.

R. D. McFadden of Omaha, national president of the Greeters, responded with a tribute to Oregon and C. Fred Brandt, first president of the Greeters, nationally organized in Denver in 1917.

NEURALGIA AND HEADACHES HAVE BEEN CORRECTED

Another Indiana Woman Is Glad to Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"My illness started from a cold," relates Mrs. A. J. Ranshaw, of No. 310 South Fourth street, Terre Haute, Indiana. "It left me with bronchial trouble and I paid little attention to it at first, but my illness kept getting worse. Gradually neuralgia developed and there was a sharp, intense pain that seemed to make me short of breath. When the pain was at its worst I became very nervous and couldn't draw a long breath without pain.

"There were also frequent headaches and I worried a great deal. My sleep did not seem to refresh me and I was always tired. Nothing helped me and one day after reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to give the remedy a trial. In a few days I was convinced that the pills were helping me and continued the treatment until the pain entirely disappeared. I no longer have headaches and feel well able to do my work. I am no longer nervous and feel better than I have in months. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. A booklet on nervous disorders will be mailed free on request.—Adv.

told how the organization had grown. Mr. Brandt's estimate became connected with the Portland hotel.

A touching tribute was paid W. A. McDonald of Columbus, Ohio, member of the national board of governors, who recently died. David Olmstead was chosen to fill the unexpired term.

Luncheon was partaken by the men at the Portland hotel and by the women visitors at the Nortonia. The afternoon the Greeters devoted to their business sessions, while the women were entertained with a theatre party at the Hippodrome by the ladies' auxiliary of the Oregon Greeters.

TREATY PARTY TONIGHT

Tonight the Shriners and Elks will entertain their delegate members, and the theatre party will be held at the casino for the other delegates and their wives.

It is estimated that about 300 Greeters are in attendance at the convention. The previous estimate of 500 fell short because of the rush of post-war business that prevented many hotel men from attending. The three delegates for the national presidency are running nip and tuck. W. Hammond Williams, president of the Greeters of San Francisco, who is with the Falson hotel, is standing on a platform of a six-day week for hotel clerks and prohibition of hotel proprietors from holding office in the Greeters' organization. "Hans" is the president of his election, as well as is Leonard Hicks of Chicago, owner of the Grant hotel, who put the box bill through the Illinois legislature, to the great benefit of the hotels. Leigh Fuller of Los Angeles, the third candidate, is working for the educational betterment of the profession through the process of evolution, the uplifting of the occupation upon a mere solid foundation.

COLORADO WANTS CONVENTION

Colorado Springs and Peoria, Ill., are working for the next convention. "It rightly belongs to Colorado Springs," says J. G. Hilliard, editor of the American Greeter of Denver, "because next year is the tenth anniversary of the Greeters' organization in Denver. As the association was first organized in Colorado, it seems fitting that it should be the seat of the celebration of its decennial anniversary."

Omaha already has its eye upon the 1921 convention and its delegates are distributing badges among the delegates to interest them in the second next meeting place.

DELEGATES JOYOUS

Among the delegates to the convention are Francis Patrick Shanley and Joseph Clarence Furness, owners of the Continental hotels in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Mrs. Francis P. Shanley has the distinction of being voted the most beautiful woman in California.

Robert E. Gould of the Rands-Newport hotel in Newport, N. H., the first national vice president of the Greeters, journeyed the farthest of any to attend the convention.

Y. S. Warriner, national secretary from Denver, arrived with his family in his automobile after a busy day on the road. Greeters almost thought they had lost their secretary, but he got here just in time.

BUSIEST HOTEL

George E. Wolf, assistant manager of the LaSalle hotel of Chicago, is also in attendance. The LaSalle is the busiest hotel in the world, insists Mr. Wolf. It is so busy that they take the register away at 8 o'clock in the morning and no one else can register. It claims the distinction of being the largest hotel west of New York with 1173 rooms. "I don't know what we will do," said Mr. Wolf, "the city would be built up any higher and we can't get the space to build out." Mr. Wolf is delighted over the Northwest and says he would not have missed the convention for $1000.

George Van Buren, of the Jovita hotel at Los Angeles, is an old time Portlander, being formerly a passenger agent on the O-W. R. & N. Mr. Van Buren never stays long in one place. "I was born on a train," he said, "and have been on a train most of the time since."

HARDEST WORKER

Harry M. Eastman, managing editor of The Hotel Bulletin of Chicago, is the laboring man of the convention. Mr. Eastman it is, who handles the transportation problems for the delegates.

J. R. Dumont, secretary of the Hotel Muehlebach at Kansas City, is also attending the convention.

Among the most active Oregon outsiders of Portland workers at the convention is third vice president of the Oregon Greeters, from the Hotel Umpqua at Roseburg.

Convention Notes

Hotels are ablaze with yellow and black today in the form of banners and badges of every sort with which they are bedecked in honor of the Greeters of America, who "blew in" this morning to hold their eighth annual convention. The Greeters like badges, and no army veteran has anything on them in the number of medals and ribbons with which their fronts are plastered.

As the Greeters' special stopped at a small station in Canada, Leonard Hicks of Chicago, who is running for president, strode on the platform, and got mistaken for a United States presidential candidate. "Do you think Wilson is going to run for a third term?" asked one native of another. "No," replied the accepted Canadian. "I don't believe he will have much chance, from what's going on in Europe."

Chicago Greeters are certain of election of Hicks, who has a hotel record beginning with bellboy and extending through all the various positions of hotel life to the ownership of the Grant hotel. Hicks is an all round athlete, with the achievement of putting through the Illinois legislature the law that permits boxing in the state. These boxing matches will bring great crowds to Illinois, say hotel folks, and incidentally swell the profits of the hotels. "I fought all the ministers in Illinois," said Hicks this morning, in speaking of the campaign, "and won out with the assistance of the army and all the real red-blooded people." Hicks is also a baseball fan, and likes to try the speed curve drive. "I think this country is wonderful," said Mr. Hicks. "The only trouble with it is that it is too far from Chicago. I have never been in Portland before, although I was in Oregon in 1898 when, while visiting in Idaho, I crossed the Snake river just to say I had been in Oregon."

The Imperial hotel greeted its Greeter guests with a big bouquet of Portland roses in each room this morning.

Four Can Be Floated

London, June 24.—(I. N. S.)—Four of the big German war vessels—Scapa Flow, the Baden, Emden, Frankfurt and Nürnberg, can be floated if pumping tugs reach them in time, according to an admiralty announcement today.

Bank Bandits Get $6000

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—(I. N. S.)—Four unmasked bandits robbed the Rouge State bank, River Rouge, of about $6000 Tuesday noon.

CASHIER CHARGED WITH FALSIFYING WITH PLACED ON TRIAL

Entire Morning in Federal Court Spent in Futile Effort to Get a Jury in Jerome B. Mann Case

SPECIAL PANEL IS CALLED

Defense Will Try to Show That Former Bank of Linnton Official Only Used Bad Judgment

INCREASE OF WAGES REQUESTED BY GRAIN HANDLERS AT DOCKS

Conference Between Max H. Houser and Union Leaders on Subject; No Strike Threat.

On a charge of falsifying a report to the comptroller of currency on the condition of the First National bank of Linnton, Jerome B. Mann, formerly a cashier in the bank, was called for trial in Federal Judge Bean's court this morning.

The entire morning was spent in a futile attempt to secure a jury. Wallace McCamant, chief counsel for Mr. Mann, excused five jurors and United States Attorney Bert Haney excused two. Defense and prosecution dismissed one man upon agreement.

NEW PANEL CALLED

The excuses exhausted the old and new jury panels and a special venire was called for by Judge Bean. Selection of the jury was continued at the afternoon session.

Jerome Mann, son of Dr. S. B. Mann, was cashier of the Linnton bank on January 6, when he is alleged to have falsified in a report of the bank's condition. The report covered certain transactions of J. A. Patton, head of the lumber concern bearing his name. The defense, according to the questions put to the jurors today, will endeavor to show that Mr. Mann was guilty of a mistake in judgment rather than fraudulent action.

BANK UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Mr. Mann is not now connected with the Linnton bank and the institution is in solvent condition, under new management and with new officers. The list of depositors is on the increase and the bank, drawing on a rich and thriving agricultural and industrial section, is facing a prosperous era.

Burglar Escapes With Loot After He Is Fired At

Carl Keller's pistol failed to stop a masked burglar early this morning when Keller was awakened by the noise the intruder made as he was leaving the Keller home, 295 Almsworth avenue. Keller told the police today that he heard the man's footsteps and saw him in the hall. When he fired, the burglar darted out the door and escaped, taking three stickpins and $6 in cash.

Victim of Practical Joke Is Still Alive

Ray Stark, 25 years old, the victim of a cruel trick last Thursday at the Columbia River Shipbuilding plant, was still alive at St. Vincent's hospital today but in a most serious condition. An air hose containing 90 pounds pressure was placed against his body, the force of the air causing serious lacerations. Stark resides at 211 West Polk street. District Attorney Deich investigated the case with the police and interviewed the man who held the hose, but as Stark admitted he started the affair in a spirit of play, no further action was taken.

License Inspector Files Complaint

Complaints alleging failure to secure a license to engage in business in the city were filed in the municipal court this morning by E. S. Hutchinson of the license bureau against Emily Newman, chiroprapist in the Broadway building, and Fred L. Kelly of the Kelly Advertising company. Judge Rossman issued warrants.

91 Casuals Are to Arrive in This City At 12:30 Wednesday

Ninety-one soldiers from Newport News, Va., in a casual detachment, will arrive Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock at the Portland Union station. These Seventy-three men from Newport News, who are from various detachments now known here. They will be in the city till 4 o'clock, when they will proceed to Camp Lewis for their discharge. They will be welcomed by the United Auxiliaries reception committee.

The 148th field artillery, which served in the same field artillery brigade as the 148th, is en route to Camp Lewis over the northern route stopping in Spokane and Walla Walla for receptions.

RESOLUTION TO STOP SALE OF SHIPS NOW BEFORE U. S. SENATE

Senator Would Have Government Keep All Except Those Unfit for Foreign Trade.

Washington, June 24.—(I. N. S.)—"That in the judgment of the United States senate it is not advisable for the United States shipping board to sell at this time any of the merchant ships of the government to foreign interests (except such as cannot be successfully employed by this country)," was set forth by a resolution introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, of Florida, ranking Democratic member of the senate commerce committee.

It was also declared in the measure that "efficient merchant ships of the government should not be sold at all at this time, except such ships as are undesirable for overseas trade and will bring a price approaching their actual cost, or in view of replacing them with better ships and in order to properly balance the (merchant marine) fleet."

Fletcher asked that the measure go over for a day or two, as he proposed to express his opposition to the Hurley plan for the sale of government constructed ships to private interests in a speech he was engaged in preparing.

Stuart Blythe Is Here on Vacation

Stuart Oakes Blythe, associate editor of the Country Gentleman, who formerly was a member of The Journal's editorial staff, is here from Philadelphia for a short vacation. Mr. Blythe left Portland more than two years ago to join the staff of the committee on public information at Washington, D. C., and subsequently was attached to the Emergency Fleet corporation's publicity department. He took his new position with the Curtis publications in January of this year.

if not the superior of any other cereal beverage you ever tasted!

Here is one of the most daring offers ever made. If we are wrong we stand to lose a fortune. If we are right, our product should receive your preference. We appoint you judge and jury. Your decision will be final. You will accept—will you not?

OUR STARTLING PROPOSAL:

Go to any dealer in soft drinks and buy two bottles of RAINIER SPECIAL. Take them home. Properly chill them. Enjoy the beverage—compare it with any other cereal beverage you ever tasted. Have others try it. Get their opinion. If they or you think you have ever tasted a cereal beverage that surpasses it, mail us the caps of the bottles, with your name and address, date of purchase, and name and address of dealer from whom purchase was made, and we will return to you, without quibble or question the sum you spent for the beverage.

A FORTUNE INVOLVED

If we were not reasonably sure of our ground, it would be the height of folly to make this offer. The six million people to whom it eventually will be made could easily take a fortune from us. Our product, however, is such a superior article that we feel we are taking no more than an ordinary business risk. Our opinion is that RAINIER SPECIAL has no equal among cereal beverages in the world today.

ACCEPT OUR OFFER AT ONCE

Our offer is so unusual that all should accept it. If RAINIER SPECIAL is found inferior, you get every penny of your money back. If superior, you are enlightened as to the proper brand of cereal beverage to demand. You win either way. You take no risk whatever. You will find RAINIER SPECIAL wherever good things to drink are sold. The large eleven-ounce bottles contain two standard six glasses of beverage. This daring offer holds good for five days only.
