

MEMBERS OF ELKS GENEROUSLY GIVE TO SALVATIONISTS

Total of $1025 Is Contributed in Addition to $1000 Already Voted by Organization.

$40,000 MARK IS PASSED

Portland Is Still Far From Quota; Outside Counties of State Are Doing Well.

Members of the Portland Elks lodge individually jumped into the fore with quick and generous donations for the Salvation Army Home Service campaign at the regular meeting of the lodge Thursday night. W. F. McKinley offered to match $500 that lodge members present might go out and raise. Almost before the words were out of his mouth, crisp bills and checks were presented by lodge members amounting to $526. Kinney produced and $1025 was added to the $1000 already voted by the lodge as an organization.

The $40,000 mark was passed this morning, Auditor Martin said, but "we are still far from our quota."

All the churches in the city will be asked to donate one or all of their collections Sunday to the fund. A committee consisting of Dr. W. S. Kennedy, president of the Oregon State Association of Elks; W. S. Stock and J. C. Catton was appointed at the meeting of the lodge last night to call on the ministers and church officers.

Dan Powers was named a flying squadron colonel to give the Chinese residents of the city an opportunity to join with the Elks in supporting the Salvation Army.

A message received from H. G. Pike of La Grande was indicative of the spirit of the counties throughout the state. It said: "Put it down in your little book that McKelvey says Union county will go over the top big." Union county's quota is $4700. Other counties reporting "over the top" include Jefferson, with a quota of $700; Deschutes, quota $2300; Wasco, $4500; Wheeler, $700. Chat Guernsey reported that Baker county would go over.

Scout Young camp No. 2, United Spanish War Veterans, voted $50. Plans are complete for the big stunts night tomorrow, when the antlered herd will meet at 7:30 p. m. at the Armory and swoop down on the business district of the city with their fun and frolic. The Elks will take over the Oaks park Tuesday, July 1. A vaudeville show consisting of the headliners from all theatres in the city, including best attractions from the Oaks, will be staged. Twenty-five per cent of the receipts will be turned over to the Elks.

GOVERNOR SAYS TOO MUCH AGITATION IN GAME COMMISSION

Cooperation Urged by Olcott Instead of Playing of Politics.

"The sportsmen of Oregon need have no concern about whether they are going to receive a just and fair deal from me as governor in fish and game matters," Governor Olcott said in connection with the administration of the fish and game commission.

This statement was made by long distance telephone this morning by Governor Ben Olcott at Salem in an endeavor to clear up reports of the position he took at a committee conference of the fish and game commission at the state capital Thursday afternoon.

"There is coming to be a good deal of soap box oratory and agitation about fish and game matters and considerable disposition either to doubt or hamstring the governor in the effort to handle this controversy. I want to say once and for all that I'm going to give a just, honest and fair administration of fish and game affairs just so far as I am able, and that this policy extends to everything else connected with my duties as governor. People will find it possible to go on ways far from the mark by cooperating than by agitating and playing politics."

"Now, so far as my attitude toward the subject of Thursday's committee meeting is concerned, I will say this: Mr. Simpson, keeper of the state pleasure farm, reported that the present farm in Lane county is inadequate and low and unfit for its present use. He recommended securing the proposed farm in Lane county and I accepted his report for my own guidance. The whole matter comes up for settlement at the meeting of the fish and game commission in Portland next Thursday and all the facts will be considered before the matter is decided."

the members and at the same time deliver the treaty to the senate committee on foreign relations.

Latest advices reaching the president indicate that sufficient votes can be mustered to secure ratification, although the administration expects a bitter fight in the final stages.

The president has informed his colleagues that he is entirely convinced that public opinion will demand the ratification and that it will be unwilling to consent to a separation of the treaty and the League of Nations covenant.

Immediately following his address to congress, the president will commence a country-wide tour, presenting the facts to the people.

TRIAL OF KAISER DOUBTED

The American peace delegates are convinced that the ex-tyrant will never be brought to trial. This clause was inserted on an insistent demand from British sources. Americans here think that the machinery for the proposed trial will be gone through with and an international tribunal actually formed, but it is believed that such a body would hold action in abatement in view of pleas raised on the ex-tyrant's behalf that there is no such crime under international law as he is charged with.

Clemenceau will then pass it to Wilson, or possibly to Premier Lloyd George, before signing it himself. The other delegates must walk to the small table within the horseshoe table to affix their signatures.

The vote on reporting the legislation was 17 to 3. As the bill now stands, more lenient laws are provided in one section for wartime prohibition than in the constitutional prohibition section.

HERO OF BATTLE IN BELLEAU WOOD JOINS SOLDIERS' FESTIVITIES

Young Marine Smiles, Despite Loss of Leg and Long Sieges in Hospitals.

Joining quietly and pleasantly with the soldiers visiting Portland Thursday at the dinner tendered them at the Benson hotel, Bernard J. Kearney of Spokane, who lost his right leg as a result of a shrapnel wound in the battle of Belleau Wood, was a Portland guest. He left for Washington, D. C., in the evening. He will go to the naval hospital there for further treatment.

The young soldier of the sea had come to Spokane from Washington to attend the funeral of his mother, who died suddenly and before he could reach her bedside. He will remain in the hospital till he has regained his strength and then will take one of the re-education courses. He worked in a saw and door factory before the war and will not be able to go back to that.
