That the hay crop is equally as good as was predicted in The Journal some weeks ago by the market editor is borne out in a letter received today from A. B. Hudson of Tangent, Or. Mr. Hudson believes that a large portion of the cheat hay will be threshed for feed on account of the high price of oats, which may make the hay tonnage less. Mr. Hudson writes: "Oats will be very high and I believe most of the cheat hay will be threshed, and the seed

Yakima Hops May - CATTLE WEAK, HOGS Bring 42c Pound

Yakima, June 30.—Losal dealers have received authority to pay as high as 42 cents a pound for 1919 hope. The market is strong and active under news that the English government has lifted the war restrictions from the manufacture of beer. Local buyers say that practically all the valley crops are already contracted at prices ranging about 25 cents per pound. A shipment of 54,000 pounds of hops for English consignment was made Saturday. They were purchased from the growers at about 18 cents a pound and are worth to the buyers today better than 50 cents a pound. There are still about 2000 hales in local storage, but all owned by English buyers.
