VETERAN OF OREGON INDIAN WARS TRIES

Penniless and Homeless, T. R. Bewley Tries to Drown Himself in River but He Is Rescued.

Penniless, homeless and weary of life, T. R. Bewley, a veteran of Oregon's Indian wars, and a pioneer of 1845, attempted suicide by jumping into the Willamette river, at the foot of Davis street, about 8 o'clock Wednesday night. Prompt action by Grant the Shaver Transportation company, who jumped into the river and rescued the aged veteran after he had gone down the second time, saved Bewley's life. The veteran was taken in charge by the police, taken to the police station and put to bed in the city emergency

Bewley came to Oregon when 13 years old, traveling across the plains by ox eam with his parents. He settled Yamhill county, and for a number of years operated small sawmills in the valley. He served throughout the Indian campaigns as a member of infantry, and is drawing a pension helping make Oregon habitable for the

Milk Driver Is Fined $10 for Entering Quarantined District

Jacob Kahler, arrested several days ago on a charge of entering a quar-antined district, was fined $10 by Judge Rossman Wednesday morning. Kahler, it is alleged, entered a quarantined house to deliver milk and took away the empty bottles, instead of emptying the milk into some receptacle on the porch and bringing away the same bottles he had carried there, as provided for in the city ordinance.

C. K. Wilson was fined $20 for fallure to report a case of smallpox in his family, but at the request of Dr. Parrish, Judge Rossman remitted $15 of the fine. It was claimed that Wilson's family had undergone several cases of severe illness and that his doctor's bills are very heavy.
