

ENTERTAINMENT OF SHRINERS ALREADY BEING MAPPED OUT

Realizing Chance to Advertise City and State, Prominent Men Accept Places on Committees.

CHAIRMAN ARE SELECTED

Imperial Potentate Kendrick to Be Here in November; Predicts Big Convention Crowd.

Considered by them to be the most important thing that will happen in Portland during the next few years, leading citizens of Portland are accepting places of responsibility in the plans for entertaining the imperial council of the Mystic Shrine next year.

"I believe all Oregon realizes the significance of having more than fifty thousand leading citizens of America assemble in this state," said J. A. Cranston of the General Electric company. "It is such a big opportunity to sell Oregon and Portland that it would appear that any of us can give a lot of our time to it."

"We want to show Oregon, now that we have the chance to sell it to our visitors in the way of informing them of the state, its products and opportunities. And then, we want to entertain them so splendidly that they will go away from here with the desire to come back. We are filling our job when we do that."

General Chairman W. J. Hoffman was yesterday informed that the imperial potentate of the order, W. Freeland Kendrick of Philadelphia, will visit Portland in company with other members of the imperial divan, in November of this year. In his communication Mr. Kendrick said that the crowd at Portland would break all records.

While here Al Kader Temple will put on a ceremonial in honor of Mr. Kendrick.

CHAIRMAN ARE SELECTED

The various divisions of the entertaining work are made up as follows, the names of the chairman of the committee being given:

Committee on entertaining the imperial divan and imperial—A. H. Lea, chairman.

Finance—J. R. Bowles.

Budget and auditing—Emery Olmstead.

Traffic—J. A. Vranston.

Decorations—Frank S. Grant.

Registration—Hugh J. Boyd.

Public safety, Red Cross and medical—Rufus Holman.

Hotel, housing and baggage—J. P. Jaeger.

Banquet—Julius L. Meier.

Entertainment—Charles D. Berg.

Parades—George L. Baker.

Patrols—William Davis.

Reception and guides—C. D. Brun.

Automobile—Ir. P. Powers.

Music—Ralph W. Hoyt.

Grandstands—Franklin T. Griffith.

Souvenirs—Edward J. Brown.

Concessions—Phil Metcham Jr.

Program and printing—W. J. Hoffmann.

Advisory and speakers' bureaus—George W. Stapleton.

Valley trips and seashore—John S. Beal.

Oregon exhibit and Riley lecture—Charles Hall, Marshfield, chairman.

Special courtesy—Mrs. Walter J. Holman.

Festival center—George L. Baker.

Committee for registration of sojourning nobles—Hopkin Jenkins.

Japanese Atrocities Against Koreans Are Alleged in Report

New York, July 12.—(U. P.)—Attacks on Christian Koreans by Japanese soldiers were told of here today in a report made public by the Presbyterian Church of America. In one case it is alleged, Japanese soldiers drove numbers of Koreans into a church, fired into the huddled mass and then left the remainder to perish in the flames as they fled the church.

Thirty-six of the 40 houses in one village were destroyed because the inhabitants were Christians. H. H. Underwood, a missionary, reported. Another village, two miles away, was untouched because its inhabitants were not Christians.

In police examinations persons suspected of complicity in a revolutionary movement, the report charges, were subjected to horrifying treatment. Men were beaten to death and women treated shamefully, it was alleged.

A 19-year-old Christian youth, the report said, was beaten and kicked until his body above his waist was distorted. He faints from the blows and water was thrown on him to revive him, and then the beating continued. He was said to still be in a hospital.

"See here," says the Good Judge

I want to remind you about that small chew of this good tobacco.

It tastes better because it's good tobacco. Its quality saves you part of your tobacco money. It goes further and lasts longer.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW

Put up in two styles

RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco

OREGON MAN NAMED RED CROSS MANAGER

Earl Kilpatrick, formerly director of the extension division of the University of Oregon and chairman of the Oregon child welfare commission, has been appointed manager of the Northwestern division of the American Red Cross, the largest in point of size in the United States.

The Northwestern division administers all Red Cross work for Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Alaska, and has 114 Red Cross chapters and 800,000 Red Cross members.

Information that C. D. Stimson, volunteer manager of the division since its organization, August 27, 1917, had resigned and that Mr. Kilpatrick had been appointed to take his place was confirmed by R. V. Holder, volunteer general manager of the Portland chapter, Saturday.

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

As a result of this conference, Mr. Kilpatrick declares that the American Red Cross will be heavily engaged in relief problems growing out of the great war for months and years to come.

"The actual war service of the Red Cross in cooperation with army and navy, and in caring for the families of enlisted men, is far from concluded," he writes. "These two phases of the unfinished task are being administered vigorously, while, at the same time, plans are being perfected for a great peace-time program. This program will be largely in the field of public health and will be adjustable to the needs of each chapter community, and at the same time in harmony with the great international program of the League of Red Cross Societies."

Mr. Kilpatrick has just returned to the division headquarters at Seattle, following a conference with Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the American National Red Cross, who took office when H. P. Davidson, war council chairman, and the Portland chapter, and at the same time promised Mr. Kilpatrick to be in the Northwest next month.

AMERICAN LEGION TO BE PERMANENT, SAYS MAJOR PECK

President of Portland Post No. 1 Makes Statement in Announcing Formation of Organization

FIRST CONVENTION NOV. 11

During Third Week in September Meeting of Oregon Men to Be Held to Select Delegates

Belief that the American legion is to become the permanent national organization of men who served in the world war was expressed on Saturday by Major C. R. Peck, president of Portland Post No. 1 of the American Legion, in his address to the announcement of the organization plans of the legion.

Membership is limited to men who served in the army, navy, marines and army nurse corps between April 5, 1917, and November 11, 1918, the former being the date of our entry into the war and the latter the date of the signing of the armistice.

"The national convention of the American legion has been called to meet in Minneapolis on November 11, the first anniversary of the armistice," said Mr. Peck. "During the third week of September we will hold the Oregon convention of the American legion and at that time delegates will be elected to the national convention. We will have with us at that time Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the American legion is now in temporary form of organization, but it will be made permanent at the Minneapolis meeting."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

Mr. Peck said that the American legion is taking hold of the American legion wherever its purposes and objects are understood.

"The first object of the American legion is for the formation of a patriotic society which will be for the service of the country. The second object is to help the returned soldiers and their families. The third object is to help the country in every way possible."

PREMIER ORATOR OF NEGRO RACE COMING

William Pickens, vice president of Morgan college and one of the most famous colored men in the country in educational and oratorical circles, will lecture in the Alameda high school auditorium Friday evening July 25.

Major Baker will deliver the address of welcome. Mr. Pickens will be presented by Mrs. D. Cannady, and will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cannady, 520 East Twenty-sixth street north, during his stay in Portland.

Mr. Pickens has been called the premier orator of the colored race and has been active at all the great meetings in the interest of race development. He was graduated at the head of his class from the Little Rock, Ark., public schools and Talladega college.

Upon his graduation he became professor of languages at Talladega college, later taught Greek and sociology at Wiley university, then became dean and finally vice president of Morgan college. He is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

Mr. Pickens is the author of many papers and books, "The Negro in the New Negro," and "The Heir of Slaves."

AGASSI'S DEFENDANT IN ALIENATION SUIT

George Boring, Manager of the Local General Electric Office, Is Suing James E. Bayliss.

LURED BY WEALTH, CHARGE

Husband Alleges That Promises of Money and Automobiles Weaned His Wife From Him.

For alienation of his wife's affections, George Boring, manager of the Portland office of the General Electric company, asks $100,000 in a suit filed Saturday in the circuit court against James E. Bayliss of San Francisco, Pacific coast representative of the Cadillac Motor Car company. Filed at the same time with the suit for damages was an action for divorce, in which Mr. Boring charges his wife with infidelity and names Mr. Bayliss as co-respondent.

W. A. Carter is attorney for Boring. The defendant is said to have a wife in San Francisco and a child. District Attorney Walter Evans has been drawn to the case, but according to the attorneys for Mr. Boring there is no intention at the time of attempting to secure any criminal action against Mr. Bayliss.

Mr. Bayliss is charged with representing himself to Mrs. Boring as a man of affluence and wealth and capable of purchasing automobiles, jewelry and other luxuries. The complaint states that by means of presents and promises of great wealth, Mr. Bayliss won the affections of Mrs. Boring from her husband. On these grounds Mr. Boring asks for damages amounting to $100,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Boring, according to the petition for divorce, were married in 1910 and have a child. The husband alleges that since April, 1917, his wife has been secretly meeting and corresponding with another man whom she professes to love and whom she claims returns the affection. He says that on one occasion he returned to his home to find his wife in the arms of another man and found his wife in a compromising situation. He affirms that when he begged her to desert from her intimacy with the other man she threatened to kill herself.

Mr. Boring asks for the decree of divorce and the custody of his child.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF FRAUD

Other Heirs Want Estate Administered by Widow Reopened.

Heirs of the estate of the late John F. Carthy, who died in February, 1907, leaving property valued at approximately $100,000, filed an amended petition for administration of the estate of their action asking that the order of the probate court dismissing Maggie R. McCarthy as administratrix of the estate be vacated.

Mrs. Maggie R. McCarthy, widow of John F. McCarthy, was discharged as administratrix of the estate by an order of the probate court on June 15, 1915. The heirs bringing the action are Catherine Maud York, Helen Irene Chamberlain, Rose M. Pierson and Josephine Maud York.

It is alleged in the petition that Mrs. McCarthy concealed a large number of assets in the inventory of the estate and that it was fraudulent representations concerning the amount of property left by her husband. It is averred further that the widow collected large sums in real estate and other property for her own use, and for which she made no accounting.

The heirs ask to have the estate opened up after July 1, 1919, and to account for the same to the court and also have the sums which they claim were fraudulently withheld from them paid.

WANTS DEEDS SET ASIDE

Nancy Giber Asks That Transfers of About $10,000 Property Be Voided.

Suit was filed in the circuit court Saturday by Nancy Giber against Ida E. Geiger, executrix for the estate of the late Hiram Giber, Albert Geiger, her husband, and Charles, George and Oscar Geiger, his children, to set aside approximately $10,000 worth of real estate set aside as void.

The action is brought by the widow against Giber's first wife, Mrs. Giber, who died a few days after Mr. Giber's death and while she was laboring under great mental distress and emotion. The children of her husband by her first wife presented two papers to her for her signature. She claims that they were not hers and that she signed them under duress and that they were not hers and that she signed them under duress and that they were not hers.

The total estate left by Mr. Giber was valued in the neighborhood of $18,000.

APPEAL IN TAGGART CASE

Filed on Behalf of School Board.

Objections to the findings ordering the school board to pay back salary in the case of Eugene Taggart, Portland school teacher, by Circuit Judge Robert Tucker, were filed Saturday in the circuit court by C. Moser, attorney for the school board.

Mrs. Taggart brought an action against the board for her dismissal, alleged to have been a violation of the life tenure law. Her contention was sustained by the action of Judge Tucker ordering her reinstatement and payment of back salary from the date of her dismissal last January.

The objections are in preparation for appeal to the supreme court, Mr. Moser said.

POLYGAMY IS CHARGED

Alice Skeen Alleged to Have Taken Second Spouse, Although Married.

Alice Skeen, charged with polygamy, was returned to Portland Saturday from Salem by Deputy Constable Watkins. She was arrested following the issuance of a complaint in Portland Thursday charging her with having contracted a second marriage with MacCallum on July 2 of this year, although already married.

The complaint was sworn to by C. J. Skeen, the husband. Mr. Skeen avers that Alice Skeen had been married to him for many years and that she had been living with him in Portland.

ST. JOHNS BOY AT FRENCH UNIVERSITY

Arthur C. Clark, son of Mrs. Amig Clark, 411 Third street, and a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural college, is at Toulouse university, France, taking a special course in civil engineering before he returns to America to resume his practice of that profession, according to his latest letter to his parents here.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.

Mr. Clark is a member of company P, 2nd engineers, and sailed from the United States for France in March, 1918.