AMOUNT ALLOWED SHIPPING BOARD HARDLY ENOUGH

Indications Are While Conferees Thought Amount Provided Sufficient It Will Fall Short.

DEVELOPMENTS TO DECIDE

Much Depends Upon Demand for Ships Whether Reinstatements of All Contracts Can Be Made.

Washington, July 12.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Will the amount congress has just appropriated for the shipping board enable it to complete its present program of unexpended contracts? Will it allow for any reinstatements?

Answers can be had both ways. The best ascertainable estimates indicate that while the conferees believed they were providing money enough, they probably fell short of doing so. Much depends upon future developments as to the market for ships which the board desires to sell.

Mere recital of the fact that the house recently allowed $278,000,000, that the senate increased the amount to $491,000,000 and that the conferees reached a compromise on $356,000,000, the amount finally agreed upon, does not tell the story. It is complicated by the estimated returns from unexpended balances and sale of ships.

Chairman Hurley went to the house with an estimate of $704,000,000 to supply the needs of the existing program, treating all suspensions as cancellations, and yet contending that funds probably could be found for making a limited number of reinstatements.

REASONS FOR REDUCTIONS
As a result of hearings, the shipping board officials concurred in the conclusion of the house appropriation committee that this estimate could be reduced in the sum of $213,000,000 by reason of accretions from these sources:

Unexpended balance from housing funds, $6,000,000.
Balance from transportation, $10,000,000.
Balance from ship construction in foreign yards, $4,000,000.
Balance from plant appropriation, $25,000,000.

Balance from foreign ships, regulations, etc., $118,000,000.
Estimated from sales of ships, one-fourth cash on aggregate sales of $200,000,000, $50,000,000.
In addition to this total of $213,000,000, which the shipping board conceded, the house made a cut of $121,000,000, based on the following:

An estimated additional amount of $25,000,000 to be derived from the sale of ships, increase of the aggregate amount of sales to $300,000,000.
Use of the capital stock of $50,000,000, on the theory that the business is soon to be closed up.
Use of $60,000,000 working capital.

Finally, a cut of $80,000,000 in the program of new ship construction.
The senate figures of $491,000,000 corresponded to the figures conceded by the shipping board, obtained by subtracting $213,000,000 from the original estimate of $704,000,000.

ESTIMATE HELD TOO BIG
The figures ultimately accepted represented the additional reduction proposed by the shipping board, estimated at $213,000,000 cut in the shipbuilding program.

The appropriation is, therefore, based upon the theory that all unexpended balances, capital stock and working capital, it will be possible to derive $75,000,000 from the sale of ships within the next fiscal year, or one fourth the purchase price of $300,000,000 worth of ships.

This is a larger sum from sales by $15,000,000 than the shipping board has believed it safe to estimate. Conceding that there is a big demand for "spot delivery" ships at prices equalling or exceeding the cost of construction, because it is possible just now to make earnings even upon a valuation of $900 per ton, shipping men are not sanguine that these conditions will last long. They doubt that the market can absorb ships in the amount contemplated by the congressional estimate.

On the other hand, there may be some leeway in the figures of unexpended balances and salvage of materials. Some of these balances may prove larger than stated, and by "clearing up" all the loose ends the shipping board may yet be able to make out with the program and take care of the most urgent cases of reinstatement.

Some of the divergence of ideas in the senate is shown by this colloquy: Senator Smoot of Utah: I have not any doubt that the amount the conferees have agreed on will carry the shipping board on. The appropriation now provided is not going to interfere with the completion, the maintenance or the running of a single boat.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee: It will merely mean the cancellation of contracts to the extent of $135,000,000, to the very great loss of the government and to the failure of the building of the merchant marine. That is what it does. Mr. Smoot: I will say to the senator that there will not be the cancellation of one ton of shipping.

Mr. McKellar: I am sure the senator feels that he is correct, but I am quite sure the senator is mistaken about that. Mr. Smoot: I am quite sure that I am not mistaken about it.

Water Consumption In Ohio Takes Jump

Cleveland, Ohio, July 12.—(E. N. S.)—Ohio is on the water wagon for sure. If you doubt it refer to any water works superintendent in Ohio. Reports from all of the principal cities of the state show that the water consumption has jumped tremendously since the demise of John Barleycorn.
