ODDS AND ENDS IN THE NEWS OF TRAVELERS AND HOMEFOLK

Danes Make Valley Prosperous. Danes are clearing $244,000 annually on the sale of their wool alone from sheep valued at $600,000 in Beaverhead county, Montana, asserts C. T. Magnus of Dillon, who has been in Portland attending the meeting of life insurance men. The valley is extremely prosperous, and irrigated as it is from the snow-capped peaks surrounding it, does not suffer from dry weather as does the surrounding country...

Made Long Trip. Bird J. Lewis, a retired commercial printer of La Grande, is a Portland visitor today. Mr. Lewis has devoted much of his time the past few years to engineering an automobile over the country and says that life on the road is the only life for him. Last year he accompanied by W. Lewis, he drove to New York and return. This season he covered many of the Northwest station for years and will, when completed, tap a rich timber belt and mineral section as well as open up a considerable area of agricultural land.

Hot Lake Arrivals. Hot Lake, July 18.—Arrivals at Hot Lake sanitarium Tuesday were: J. J. Adams, Pendleton, J. Flora, Portland; Dr. Fred F. Thompson, The Dalles; Mrs. and Mrs. C. K. DeWitt, Baker; Mrs. M. Phillips, La Grande; E. C. Cook and E. A. Bell, Portland; James Swain, Walla Walla; A. S. Rosenthal, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hale and son and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dowdy, Hoquiam, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Butcher, La Grande; Mrs. J. W. Boyner, Heppner.

South Dakota Crops Good. With the exception of wheat, crops in the good in South Dakota, says L. W. Fitch of Sioux City, Iowa, who is staying at the Multnomah with Mrs. Fitch. The Fitches are spending a month in the West and have come to Portland from California. Mr. Fitch is in business in Sioux City, which draws upon the fertile South Dakota prairie farms for much of its prosperity. The corn crop is especially good this year, back in Iowa, he says, and the banks are showing a prosperous tenacity. The Fitches are highly pleased with Portland.

Life Insurance Men Pleased. The life insurance men are well pleased with Portland, says F. G. Dexter, son of the vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, and many are remaining to spend their vacations here. Mr. Dexter has been in charge of most of the arrangements for the convention. He visits Portland about every six months. He is staying at the Multnomah.

Man Released on Technicality to Be Jailed Again. Henry Martin, released by federal authorities when a technicality was discovered in the complaint which held him for the alleged operation of a still in the Brentwood district, will be rearrested under a state warrant secured today by Deputy Sheriff George Hurlbut. Martin was caught at the still in a midnight raid conducted by Tom Word, department of justice operative, and Deputy Sheriff Hurlbut, and much evidence is said to be held against him. United States Commissioner Drake released Martin, H. W. Miller and Joe Mielke, all caught in a raid on the raid on Martin's home last Friday night, because the complaint against them failed to state that they had not secured a federal distillery license.

Expect to Capture Prize. J. G. Losey of Seattle declares he is going to win the grand championship in the rabbit show this year on his big buck which measures 27 inches long. Mr. Losey sells rabbits for a living and raises fancy rabbits for pleasure. He is staying at the Seward.
