

WILSON ADVISER OF MEXICO, PLAN OF INVESTIGATOR

Gates, California Investigator, Urges Affairs Temporarily Be Left to American President.

IGNORANCE IS DEPLORED

Sees Carranza and Other Chiefs as Anti-Saxon, and Warns of Increasing Bolshevik Menace.

Washington, July 28.—Charging that Carranza was "anti-Saxon, more than anti-American," and that he sought to drive American and British capital out of Mexico by hostile legislation or other means, William Gates of California, an archaeologist and student of Mexican affairs, who recently returned from Mexico, this afternoon urged that Mexican matters be left temporarily in the hands of President Wilson.

Gates appeared before the house rules committee, which is considering a resolution ordering a full investigation of Mexican affairs by the house foreign affairs committee.

BOLSHEVISTS MENACE

Gates expressed the belief that the gravest danger in Mexico now was from Bolshevism, fostered by German influence, and an uprising of the Yaqui Indians.

"There is no hope in General Obregon, who is anti-American, but who is dying of cancer," Gates added. German Bolshevik propaganda leaders in Mexico have been in the United States getting aid for the movement in Mexico, Gates testified, and the socialist party secretary in the United States has written Obregon asking his judgment as to the proper time for a concerted Bolshevik movement in the United States, Mexico, Cuba and Canada, he added.

PEOPLES UNINFORMED

"The American people know nothing of Mexican affairs and the Mexican people know nothing of American sentiment because of press censorship," Gates declared.

Carranza favors German, French and Spanish interests, and uses the Japanese question as a "bluff," Gates declared. During the war with Germany there were at least two German wireless stations in Mexico, operating to Spain, Gates said, adding that he had made a report on these stations to Secretary Baker.

Conditions in Yucatan were very bad, due to failure of the sisal crop and the spread of Bolshevism under Felipe Canillo, acting under General Salvador Alvarado, governor of Yucatan, Gates testified.

MEXICAN PUBLIC FRIENDLY

The great body of the Mexican people are friendly to the United States, but are held in fear of the Carranzistas, said the witness.

Gates explained that Carranza controlled the railroads, the main ports and the City of Mexico and contiguous territory, but that a short distance away various leaders were in control, there being five important factions.

"Has there been any prosecutions of bandits?" Representative Campbell asked.

"Not that I have heard of, except where Carranza authorities were offended."

BANDIT IS A FARMER

"What is a bandit?"

"Mainly farmers who take up arms to resist levies upon them by Carranza soldiers."

"How does Carranza raise money?"

"He is all-powerful. He issues a decree imposing taxes. This decree imposes a higher rate than can be collected. There is a row and the levy is reduced and paid by those taxed."

"Are there many bandits?" Representative Campbell asked.

"There are few real bandits," Gates replied, "if you exclude the Carranza soldiers. The others are revolutionary bodies. Life is safer in the territory controlled by the revolutionary leaders than in the City of Mexico. In this outside territory courts still function untroubled by soldiers there in civil administration. Conditions in Mexico have been growing worse steadily in the last three years."

"What is lacking there to the establishment of responsible government?"

"Eliminate the criminals in the government and create a stable center around which order can be built up."

"Was the American ambassador hissed in the City of Mexico?"

"Yes; what the government wants in Mexico City happens. All Carranza soldiers wore the Kaiser button. Carranza leaders urged that Mexico fight the United States to help Germany. Carranza is impossible, the enemy of Mexico, the United States and Great Britain, of all civilization. He betrayed President Wilson. He has declared these foreigners have got to quit making money out of Mexico, and he is determined to win this fight if he can. He holds that the United States is an unmitigated mass, and will do nothing to resist him. The United States cannot depend on murderers, robbers and assassins to straighten out affairs in Mexico."
