Miss Bara Vamps On Her Own Account

Well Known Actress Makes Up With Some of Uncle Sam's Securities.

TO MISS THEDA BARA of moving picture vampire fame went the distinction of buying the first $1000 treasury savings certificate to be sold in New York city.

Due to treasury department regulations, Miss Bara was unable to buy these certificates as she had intended, as only one of $1000 treasury savings certificates can be sold to any one person, according to rules laid down in Washington.

These $1000 treasury savings certificates are what the "big brothers" of War Savings Stamps, Miss Bara said. "I read that when issued they would mature just like War Savings Stamps, and that money invested would pay 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly."

The new $1000 treasury savings certificate is maroon in color and when sold, is detached from a book in which the name of the purchaser is recorded on a stub.

These $1000 treasury savings certificates will be on sale at all post-offices of the first and second class, and at incorporated banks and trust companies throughout New York state and the 12 northern counties of New Jersey.

The new securities are exempt from all taxes, federal or state, excepting inheritance tax and the graduated additional income tax, known generally as surtaxes.

Centralia Has Hopes
Centralia, Wash., July 31.—It is reported that the Central theatre, which has been closed for many months, is to be refurbished and reopened to the public. The men interested in the venture, it is said, represent a syndicate operating a string of houses, of which the local theatre will be a unit.

MISS DOROTHY PHILLIPS is the star of the new photoplay feature at the Strand, entitled "Destiny," the thrilling tale of a young woman who attempted to sidetrack destiny and of what happened to her.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

The Coat Greased

COUSIN BRUIN slept so soundly that he didn't feel Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum poking around in his big fur pocket. Chatterbox, the Red Squirrel, tickled the sharp thorn in the end of Teddy Possum's tail and then Teddy stood up with his back against Cousin Bruin, and Jimmy took hold of his tail with the thorn tied in the end, and poked into that big pocket of Cousin Bruin's fur coat, and after several jabs he pulled out the piece of fat.

Once or twice the long sharp thorn pricked Cousin Bruin's skin through the lining of the pocket, but he was so fast asleep that he only stirred a little, thinking it was a fly or a bee.

And then you never saw anything so funny as the greasing of Cousin Bruin's fur coat. All those little rascals took a bit of fat and rubbed it into that thick fur and then, with pine cones, they combed out the long fur. After much hard work and a long time, Cousin Bruin looked as smooth as a seal. He looked so queer that his own mother wouldn't have known him.

But only one side of Cousin Bruin's coat was done. All of the other side also had to be greased, and he was lying on that side. "Now, Jimmy Coon, what are we to do? He will look funny with one side smooth and the other burnt and ragged from the fire."

But Jimmy didn't say a word. He just picked a handful of long grass and licked Cousin Bruin's nose and neck, but the grass was too soft and bent and didn't course him at all. Finally Cousin Bruin turned a little, and in a minute he turned completely over. Then those little rascals began to grease his other side, and then to comb his rough fur. But before they had finished, Cousin Bruin began to wake up. He opened his little black eyes and for a few minutes

So Chatterbox took a handful of sharp twigs and he began to tickle Cousin Bruin's ears.

Tomorrow Cousin Bruin as a Seal.

THE Stroller notices

THAT in these vacation days the wonder is when a lot of fellows are going to work.

That the new moon is a beauty. That one sad feature of prohibition is the weird home made concoctions one feels constrained to smack his lips over when he goes to spend an evening with the neighbors.

That a friend who has been visiting in Arroyo discovered that the main indoor sport there is following the adventures of Jiggs and reading 'The Stroller's column.

That even a safety razor becomes a dangerous weapon in the hands of the inexperienced.

That some motorists should hide their lights under a dimmer.

That we haven't noticed yet that the stockless fad has been taken up by Portland's fair ones.

That some women will treat themselves to a cherry phosphate on the assumption that they will be smart enough to pass an old transfer on the streetcar conductor.

That the painted doll who sells tickets at a movie palace down the way takes your money as though she were doing you a great favor.

That it doesn't take a baby long to learn to suck soda through a straw.

That we haven't seen any sticky fly paper around for a long time.

That in our boyhood days we used to gamble prodigious sums with ourselves as to how long it would take a fly to starve to death after it had become entangled in the sticky mess.

That those were the happy days.

That the Girl with the Green Eyes isn't wearing her engagement ring any more.

HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge of a woman's neatness, or good taste. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good shampoo. You can enjoy the very best by getting some camellia from your druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.

Portland Likes Instant Action

There has never been anything with the quick action of simple witch-hazel, camphor, hydrastis, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. One lady with inflamed and watery eyes reports her eyes are bright and clear after using Lavoptik a very short time. In another case five applications produced great benefit. We guarantee a small bottle to help ANY CASE, weak, strained or inflamed eyes. Skidmore Drug Co., 151 Third St.—Adv.

THE Majestic theatre has had an especially good run this week on "Jacques of the Silver North," a story of life as it was lived in the golden days of a few years back. Mitchell Lewis is the star.

Awning Is Burned; Glass Plate Broken

The awning in front of Morgan Wall-paper company at 230 Second street was burned entirely away Wednesday afternoon, breaking a heavy plate glass window from the heat and causing about $100 damage.
